Teens Take Over Village Hall, Study Controversies

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS POLICE CHIEF L. W. Calderwood handed a gavel, symbol of justice, to Arlington high school student Bill Hein Tuesday as students "took over" village hall for a day. Hein was elected police magistrate and classmate Donna Schannmier was one of five girls elected to the village board.

High school students who took over village hall Tuesday plunged headlong into two of the thorniest problems facing the village fathers in a mock session of the board of trustees.

THE CHIEF TOPICS of discussion were sidewalks and improving the downtown business district. If the "Citizens for a Day" didn't resolve the problems in an hour, they at least gave them a thorough airing.

Village President Jerry Olson opened the debate on walks with the observation that "sidewalks cause a big problem" and his trustees—five girls and a single male—promptly gave him arguments both for and against walks.

Sample comments: "Why can't the village pay for the walks if the whole community is going to benefit?" "People don't want their lots chopped up for walks." small children are concerned."

On downtown improvement one of the trustees was somewhat harder on downtown merchants than his elder colleagues. He failed to see the need for the village's helping them. Another member pointed out realistically that the downtown is a prime source of tax income. Generally it was felt that competition from outlying shopping centers would force downtowner businessmen to spruce up store fronts.

THE STUDENTS were elected by American history classes at the school and are all juniors. The Arlington Heights Rotary club sponsored the event for the second year.

Elected officers were Olson, Virginia Holmes, Bill Hein, Pamela Buttenob, Karen Campbell, Ken Hadland, Donna Schanmier, "Sidewalks are a must where Virginia Sowinski and Sue Tabacik. Appointed officials were Jim Wilmotte, Paul Peters, Don Nordtvedt, Andrew Hayden, Bob Taggert, Barbara Rasmussen, Steve Sedlak and Barbara Bevan.

Raze Firetraps, Urges Committee

Seven Buildings Reported

A three-man citizens' committee appointed by the Arlington Heights village board this week issued a surprisingly strong report urging razing of seven buildings, terming them fire and health hazards and beyond repair.

THREE OF THE buildings are in the downtown section and the others are in residential neighborhoods. Two of the buildings are being used as residences and one, the Fix-It shop at 25 S. Dunton, for commercial purposes.

The committee was named by the board last week to study possible condemnation of two buildings at the southeast corner of Dunton and Eastman sts. in the downtown. But it expanded its investigation upon a suggestion from the board.

MEMBERS WHO signed the reports made to Mayor Carlisle were home builder William E. Trude, real estate operator Charles H. Wilson, and fire insurance examiner and plan commission member Harold E. Carlson.

No action will be taken to demolish the buildings until the owners are given an opportunity to consult with village officials. Names of the owners were not contained in the report, a letter written to Carlisle Monday and disclosed at the conclusion of the Tuesday board meeting.

The aging eyesores are widely distributed throughout the village. In addition to the three downtown, there are two on the north side and two on the far south side.

HERE IS WHAT the report said of individual buildings:

—Two buildings at 215 N. Dunton are "completely beyond repair." The residence has a "crumbling and most insecure foundation," defective chimney structure and is generally in bad physical condition. Roofing and siding are not repairable. Tenants living in the house, have done a good job of housekeeping, however, comments the report. A vacant outbuilding at the rear of the lot should also be torn down.

—A barn in the rear of 308 W. Euclid "is about to fall down without any assistance" and should be demolished as it is a fire and health hazard.

—A four-flat frame building at 802 N. Vail is in bad shape from the foundation up, according to the committee. "Floors, beams and joists are sagging in all directions" and the basement has a maze of open wiring.

—The Fix-It shop is a definite danger to other downtown structures from a safety standpoint and ought to be razed.

—Two abandoned buildings at 921 S. Walnut, one formerly used as a home, are a "breeding place for rodents" and the committee urged they be razed.

The Editor's Column

by STUART R. PADDOCK

There are several items in this week's Way Back When that are especially interesting.

Arlington Heights did so well in sale of Liberty Bonds and other war activities 50 years ago, the post office department approved a village mail delivery—"where there were sidewalks."

If the post office insisted on sidewalks a half-century ago, what has led it to eliminate that requirement today?

Arlington Heights and Palatine are just friends today. Fifty years ago there was red-blooded rivalry. Palatine, to get even with Arlington for a ball game defeat, secured revenge by hiring some ringers for the return game.

The newspaper story does not say where Palatine got the money to pay for the ringers' fees.

We happen to know that there were a number of game sports in Palatine in those days and on a sure thing like this, they did not hesitate to bet their shirts.

We do not know what builder will have commercial use for the magnificent curved solid walnut stair balustrade that is in the Hart residence at Palatine, which is soon to be torn down.

It is too beautiful to be cut up. It is on the chance that some builder may be interested, that we are making this suggestion for its disposal.

Six churches in Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights and Palatine are starting financial drives — and some of us have not yet met our tax bills.

We need churches, the same as we need schools; but if we are to meet our obligations to those two, it would help if our budget-making officials in schools and municipalities use the paring knife.

Possible Arlington Heights industrial area is bounded on the east by Mt. Prospect, on the south by Elk Grove village, on the west by Rolling Meadows and Winston Park industry plans, and on the north by new residential subdivision.

Arlington is lucky to be able to retain its present small industrial area. We understand that within two days after the plant of Emerol Mfg. co. was placed on the market, it was grabbed up by another manufacturer.

This reminds us of the "what might have been" if the Roth Mfg. Co. had not been kicked out. We are not crying over spilt milk, we are saving our tears for our tax bills — the highest in northwest Cook county.

We envy Mt. Prospect tax potential occasioned by the annexation of 240 acres that Arlington freely gave up, but we are not doing any wailing over the good fortune of that village.

Yes, we will even congratulate Rolling Meadows and Palatine when their large industrial areas at our front door are contributing tax dollars to their taxing bodies.

In the meantime, if someone in Arlington has an industrial site up their sleeve, will they please trot it out?

We're thankful we don't have to call on the firemen very often, but our No. 2 son is bubbling over with enthusiasm at the know-how, the efficiency, and the care in handling when Chief Winkelman and Arlington firemen controlled a blaze to his garage without damaging or breaking a single thing in his house. More power to them.

Garage Gutted In $3,000 Fire

The Robert Y. Paddock family, 849 S. Vail, Arlington Heights, was roused from bed at 3:30 a.m. Monday by a fire which gutted their attached garage and caused several thousand dollars damage.

Paddock, general manager of Paddock Publications, was awakened by the heat in the bedroom, which adjoins the garage. He moved a relative's auto parked in the driveway but did not try to get his own car out of the garage when he saw it filled with smoke and flames.

FRAME AND GLASS block interior of the brick garage, the car, storm windows, power mower and assorted garden tools were a complete loss.

Fourteen volunteer and four regular firemen quickly extinguished the flames and there was no damage to the interior of the home. Five pieces of equipment answered the call.

Firemen said the blaze started along the north wall, apparently in a wooden ash box into which still-hot coals from a barbecue broiler had been placed Sunday evening.

Police Searching For Salesman, 35

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of a salesman who allegedly bilked an Arlington Heights real estate operator out of $300.

Ralph Bruns of Rolling Meadows, a partner in the realty firm of Bruns and Payne, 1306 W. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights, signed a warrant on an open charge against Daniel H. Olsen, 35, whose last known address was Yorkville, Ill.

Bruns told police that he had previously purchased merchandise from Olsen, a salesman for the Arms Research and Merchandising Systems, inc., an advertising firm.

BRUNS SAID he gave Olsen an order for 24 advertising display signs on March 29 and paid him with a $300 check. Failing to receive the goods through the mail after the check was cashed, Bruns called the firm and learned it had not received the order, explained police.

Checking with Aurora police, local officers learned Olsen has a record of check fraud dating back to 1944, served two terms totaling 14 months at Vandalia state prison farm in 1948 and 1949 and was sentenced to Joliet state prison for one to four years on a bad check conviction in 1954. Police are checking further into his record with the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Final YMCA Report Dinner Is Tonight

The latest figure reached by volunteers working in the residential drive of the current Northwest Suburban YMCA building campaign is $80,000. A final report dinner is being held tonight, Thursday, at 6:30 p.m. at Charles Bruning Co. when workers, captains and division chairmen will meet to tally up-to-date results.

John R. Hickman, chairman of the drive, is confident that many good reports are in the making and that $100,000 or more is within reach. Most of the participating towns will complete their calls by tonight, but a follow-up will be continued to swell the total.

A special gifts committee will continue its efforts following this drive to raise the balance needed to start construction on the new YMCA building.

Arlington Heights in 1960

Village Planners Develop 'Neighborhood of Future'

For six months a group of men has been hard at work shaping the neighborhood of the future for Arlington Heights.

What will it look like?

Not too much different from the subdivisions developed since the first subdivision ordinance went into effect in October, 1955.

But if new revision is adopted as suggested by the village planning commission, the neighborhood of 1960 is likely to have streets that are both wider and narrower than at present and larger park and school sites, for two major changes.

IN THE AREA bordering on the village, where it has planning jurisdiction, the changes will be more striking.

In the 1.5-mile jurisdictional area beyond the limits, the proposed ordinance calls for upgrading the standards of subdivision regulations to match the level of the village.

The 1955 ordinance exempted subdivisions outside the village from village standards for improvements such as paving, curbs and gutters, sidewalks, water supply and sewer systems.

Encouraged by a 1956 Illinois Supreme court decision which gave the municipalities the power to enforce its standards outside its limits, the plan commission extended these standards to the 1.5-mile limit in the ordinance under preparation.

HOWEVER, when county requirements are higher, they will apply to new subdivisions in adjacent unincorporated areas.

While nearly all streets now being constructed are of the present standard 32-foot width, the new regulations drop this width entirely.

Instead, a number of street categories are established, with paved widths to vary from 18 to 40 feet. Primary or major arterial streets, to be designated on the official village plan, will have 40-foot-wide paving. Secondary streets, called "collector" streets, will penetrate into subdivisions. These will also be 40 feet wide.

Minor streets, however, will be only 27 feet wide, a reduction of five feet from the present width. Cul-de-sacs will have the same dimensions. Marginal access streets, paralleling arterial highways, will be 18 feet wide as at present.

LOT DIMENSIONS, another important phase of planning, remain unchanged in the new proposal. Interior lots must still have 66 feet of frontage and 132 feet of depth for a total of 8,712 square feet. Corner lots would stay at their present width of 75 feet.

Subdividers are now required to dedicate 10 per cent of their land for public uses on subdivisions of more than 90 acres and five per cent for smaller subdivisions.

The rules under study call for dedication of 10 per cent of the land area in all subdivisions. More important, a builder must dedicate a park or school site if it is shown on the official plan. He would not be able to put homes or shops on land slated for a school or park.

IF THE SCHOOL or park would need more than the 10 per cent of the subdivision, the builder would have to sell it to the public body within three years.

Where dedication of land would be impractical, the builder could pay cash instead, as he can now. A new twist is that the value of the donation in lieu of land would be set by a 3-man appraisal board.

The new text improves upon the original version in many minor respects, specifying, for example, that trees to be planted every 50 feet will be one of five hardwood varieties — hackberry, thornless honey locust, Norway maple, ironwood or columnar maple.

The rewriting of the ordinance is part of the development of a master plan for the village. Evert Kincaid and Associates, planning consultants, is in on the project and the village trustees will study and finally decide upon its adoption.

Trustees Reject Town House Plan

Arlington Heights trustees rejected a proposed 72-unit town house development Tuesday despite what was termed a "left-handed approval" of it by the village's planning consultant.

ROLLAND FRANZEN, attorney for the developer seeking a rezoning from residential to apartment zoning for the 3-acre site on Foundry rd., said planner Evert Kincaid has given it a qualified approval.

But the board, with Mayor Carlisle voting for the necessary fourth vote for a majority decision, rejected the project, 4-2. With him were Trustees Frederick Weber, Wendell Prunty and Melvin Kurz. Favoring the proposal were James Millay and John Hoover.

The ruling upheld a March decision of the zoning board of appeals.

KURTZ MOVED rejection on the grounds that Kincaid had not been specific as to what safeguards the village should exact from the builder in the event of approval.

Franzen agreed to reduce the number of units from the original 80 to 72, in order to meet the requirements suggested by Kincaid.

The town houses would have been built on the north side of Foundry rd., one lot east of Dryden pl. The lot between is zoned for apartments, moving an objector to ask "Where is the buffer zone to stop?" The question referred to the fact that the lot between had been so zoned as a buffer against the Arlington Market shopping center.

FRANZEN SAID that three or four nearby residents want the property rezoned for it would have given access to their vacant property and so raised its value.

A spokesman for Stonegate's 280 residents said they all oppose the project and another spectator said other nearby subdivisions do also.

In other actions, the board:

—Voted 5-0 to instruct its attorney to prepare an ordinance requiring sidewalks on Euclid ave., from the railway to Wilke rd., and on Elm st. and several other streets near Ridge and Arlington high schools.

—APPROVED holding of a carnival at Westgate shopping center on June 2-7 and voted to rewrite its ordinance so as to reduce fees for carnivals when sponsored by non-profit groups.

—Called for preliminary testing of water meters, said to be failing to meter all water used, to see if wholesale testing would be a paying proposition.

—Concurred with the zoning board is approving rezoning for a Commonwealth Edison power distribution center on Foundry rd. near the east village limits.

Thefts Plague Arlington Heights

Items reported stolen to Arlington Heights police during the past week ranged from a lawn sprinkler to a lamp post. In addition to mounting numbers of petty larceny cases, the police also had to contend with a renewal of vandalism in new homes under construction.

The sprinkler was taken from the yard of E. W. Stegemeyer, 214 S. Prindle last Wednesday evening and the wrought iron lamp post sign from the north side home of James Foy, 315 E. Hawthorne the next night.

OTHER THEFTS included larceny of several dollars worth of small change from an ice vending machine at Foundry and Northwest hwy., theft of $16.40 in cash from Shoreland nursery, 1516 W. Northwest hwy., three reports of stolen hub caps and two of license plates and a single missing bicycle.

The nursery case was closed when police apprehended a 10-year-old Arlington Heights boy, recovered the money and placed him under supervision for 90 days.

A SPOKESMAN for the owner of the vending machine, Arthur Gieseke, 1521 S. Belmont, said a key was used to open the cash box and that it was the fourth or fifth time it had happened within a year.

Extensive vandalism was reported in new subdivisions, with builders Leo C. Reuter and William E. Trude counting up their losses. One home suffered damages estimated at $100. Several of the homes had large windows shot out with BB guns.

Widening Bids Opened Tonight

Property owners on the north side of downtown Arlington Heights will anxiously await opening of bids on a street widening project in their area at a board of local improvements meeting tonight.

The owners will want to know if the contract price--and hence their special assessment bills--will be substantially under previous cost estimates. This was true on the south side, where the contract was awarded at a figure about 25 per cent under engineer's estimates.

FORTY PERSONS attended a board meeting Thursday to urge delays in the proposed improvements to Willow and Walnut streets on the north side.

Also on the agenda was the improvement of Miner st. from Douglas st. to Windsor dr. The $83,000 project was given final approval.

Two More Stores

A women's ready-to-wear shop and a candy store will open in the Arlington Market shopping center early in August, center officials announced this week.

The specialty shop will be operated by Ruth Miller, who also has a shop in Park Ridge, and the other tenant will be Andes candies.

Paving and parking and driveway areas was completed in the center last week.

Mother's Day Birthdays Cause Double Celebrations

Pat Mills, born 17 years ago to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mills on Mother's day, observed her birthday on Mother's day again this year. Since Mom should take it easy on her day the celebration was quiet, except for a surprise party Mom planned with 10 young friends of Pat's for Sunday night at the Mills home after the young peoples' church activities. When the birthday girl recovered from her astonishment everyone enjoyed a late supper and social evening.

The Earl Riley home at 738 S. Chestnut held family gatherings on three successive Sundays recently to accommodate and celebrate the flurry of May birthdays in the family. The Riley's daughter, Laurie, began the festivities as guest of honor May 5 at a family dinner party that included her grandmother, Mrs. Andrew Riley, her brother and family, the Richard Rileys all of Arlington Height, and her cousin and family, the Robert Cowans of Palatine.

The following Sunday another family dinner honored almost everyone present. Besides being Mother's day for three generations of Mothers Riley, it was the Dick Rileys' second wedding anniversary as well as Dick's birthday. Cousin Cowan also observed his birthday that day and with his family joined the party sharing the birthday best wishes. Last Sunday a final dinner party with the single purpose of honoring Mrs. Richard Riley on her birthday completed the Riley schedule of celebrations.

THE WALTER Stumpfs, 513 S. Highland ave. spent the Mother's Day weekend in Madison at the home of Mr. Stumpf's brother, R. F. Stumpf.

Mrs. Forrest Blose, Diana, Demaris and Bill spent the weekend in Fulton, Mo. where Diana was a guest on the campus of William Woods college. Diana registered at the college for enrollment this fall.

Nine of the 12 members of a neighborhood bridge club concluded the season's activities last Thursday with lunch at the Old Spinning Wheel in Hinsdale. The ladies, neighbors on the 800 block of S. Mitchell, enjoyed a leisurely afternoon that included a return home by way of Lombard in the full beauty of its lilac festival.

THE DON QUIGLEY and John Pearce families, former Chicago neighbors, are neighbors once again since the recent arrival of the Pearces at 905 E. Davis. Both families have moved, the Pearces briefly to Kansas City, since their residing in Chicago and they are delighted at the coincidence that brings them both to Arlington Heights within two blocks of each other. Mr. and Mrs. Pearce moved here in recent weeks from Chicago with their daughters, Barbara Ann, a high school senior, Mary Pat, a seventh-grader and Kathy, 3½ years old.

The Russell Dickinson family moved from 815 N. Dunton last Friday for a new home in Milwaukee. The Tuesday previous, Mrs. Dickinson said goodbye to nine of her neighbors at a farewell coffee at the home of Mrs. Warren Burres, 728 N. Dunton.

THE PARTY LINE was busy at the Richard Weidner home, 1131 N. Dunton, last week with a dozen friends of Mrs. Weidner enjoying a social evening last Thursday night and a birthday party enlivening the day Saturday. Guests Thursday night were Mrs. Weidner's fellow members of the Marcellus club, a social group of the St. James Catholic church. Saturday was her daughter, Janet's, day to celebrate turning sweet 16 at a birthday luncheon and afternoon party with 14 friends.

CHRISTINE GRACZYK celebrated her eighth birthday last Thursday with a few friends at a luncheon and afternoon party in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Graczyk, 718 S. Chestnut.

Rosemary Clark and Carolyn Morand are enjoying a 2-week vacation motoring to Las Vegas.

White and tangerine were the colors used for decorations May 14 when Mrs. Leonard Mitchell feted bride-to-be Mary Jo Emig of Arlington Heights at a personal bridal shower in her Palatine home. Fourteen guests, coming from Palatine, Arlington Heights, Park Ridge, Western Springs and Chicago, attended the courtesy.

After the opening of the gifts, bridal shower games and prizes completed the evening. Miss Emig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Emig, 1019 N. Highland, will marry Tom Wagner, son of the Wilbur Wagners of Mt. Prospect, June 22.

MR. AND MRS. William B. Forrest of Tulsa, former Arlington Heights residents, are currently visiting with the Vern Hagenbrings. The Forrests lived at 117 S. Walnut for seven years before moving to Tulsa 10 years ago. Their daughters, Ginger and Carol, were not able to accompany them as Ginger, now Mrs. Kelly Dowd, is a medical technician and Carol is in her first year at Oklahoma State university where she is majoring in geology.

Mrs. H. E. Miles, 102 S. Brighton place, attended the May day celebration of North Shore Country Day school last Friday. This event was held on the school's beautiful green, in the old English village tradition. The queen, Judy Cranage, was escorted by her attendants to her throne and crowned by a small kindergartner.

Each class of the school danced a group dance, or sang for the queen. It was climaxed by the senior class dancing the traditional Maypole dance. The girls of the school dressed in pastel frocks, and the boys all in white, and the flowering shrubs of the campus made a beautiful scene.

DENNIS MURPHY, 1020 Mayfair, was one of four Arlington Heights boys who attended the Cross and Anchor club picnic at Cedar Lake. The boys enjoyed horseback riding, boating, swimming and participation in games.

The Cross and Anchor club is a service club of Notre Dame high school and its members do duty at all social and athletic events such as ushering, coat checking, operating concessions and assisting in parking cars.

MR. AND MRS. Frank Heiman, 1008 Mayfair, recently returned from a trip to Dayton, Ohio, their former home town where they enjoyed visiting relatives and friends.

Lt. Kaye Shelffo, a jet pilot in the United States air force stationed in Newfoundland, came in for a weekend visit at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Shelffo, 423 Windsor.

Michael Barton, 321 Windsor, and James Heiman, 1008 Mayfair, two eighth grade students at St. James school recently enjoyed a 2-day trip to Springfield and New Salem. There was much to see in Springfield that the boys had read about in their lessons. New Salem fascinated the boys, too, because they saw replicas of buildings and stores where Abraham Lincoln lived and worked.

MRS. HARRY WICKSTROM, 527 S. Dryden, attended the Founders day tea May 15 in the home of Mrs. Albert Jenner, Kennilworth, celebrating the 107 year anniversary of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority.

Young Lorie Wickstrom, 527 S. Dryden, recently celebrated her fourth birthday with a party for 10 friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wiersema, 413 S. Carlyle, recently returned home from a month's vacation in Hollywood Beach, Fla.

MISS PATTI Sanders, daughter of Mrs. Fred Sanders of New Castle, Ind., is spending a few days visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Wiersema, 413 S. Carlyle. Miss Sanders has just finished her 6-week training period for United Airlines at Cheyenne, and will be stationed at Chicago.

Mrs. Jack Hughes, 620 S. Pine, entertained 16 friends for luncheon and bridge May 20, for the Northwest Community hospital benefit.

Mrs. Jerry Griffith, of Sapulpa, Okla. is enjoying a visit with the John Hermes family, 717 Mayfair.

MR. AND MRS. HOWARD Wittenburb, 717 S. Beverly, spent Sunday with their five children at Deer Grove Park. The boys took their dinghy along and enjoyed rowing around the lake. Bob had the pleasure of another picnic with his classmates from eighth grade of South Junior high school.

Bob Bryant, 1007 Mayfair, celebrated his 12th birthday with a weekend of camping with the boy scouts and a family dinner at home.

Miss Gretchen Walker spent the weekend with the Warren Stahnkes, 110 S. Brighton. Miss Walker and the Stahnke family visited the home and garden show at Arlington Park. They found the exhibits interesting and the children enjoyed Mary Hartline and little Oscar of TV fame.

Gambling Tax Collections Rise

April collections on the 10 per cent federal wagering tax in the 26 counties of northern Illinois totaled $52,618 compared with $50,666 in April, 1957 and $82,125 in March, 1958, District Director of Internal Revenue H. Alan Long announced Monday.

The total for 10 months of the fiscal year starting July 1, 1957, to date is $658,529 compared with $681,629 a year ago.

TELEVISION CHECK

Every once in a while at LANDWEHR TV emergency calls come in that are a waste of time. It prompts us to list a few simple things to do before you dial for a TV serviceman.

'If you get no picture or sound, check to see that the set is plugged in. Sometimes the kids pull out the plug, or you have forgotten to replace it after vacuum cleaning.'

'If the plug is in check some of the nearby lamps. You might have blown a house fuse.'

'It's even a good idea to plug a lamp in the TV outlet to make sure that it is in order.'

'If the lamp works, plug your TV in again and recheck it. If you have sound only, look at your channel selector. Maybe a youngster has moved the dial to a number that has no station on it.

Now, with no results on your set, you're ready to phone a TV man. If you haven't called us, ask your neighbor about us, chances are you will then phone CL 5-0700 for prompt and satisfactory services.

Presbyterians Seek Funds For Neighborhood Houses

With Chicago the fastest growing industrial center in America whose newcomers are mainly Protestants, $150,000 being raised for the Presbyterian Expansion Program will be devoted to long-overdue repairs, additions, and changes in the Church Extension Board's nine neighborhood houses and social service center, the largest neighborhood house program of any Protestant group in Chicago.

The other $100,000 of the $250,000 Presbyterian expansion program will be applied to the necessary early purchase of land for Presbyterian churches in new and growing suburban areas, according to general chairman Harold M. Elliott of LaGrange.

THE PRESBYTERY of Chicago Church Extension Board is the 50-year-old agency of $80,000 Presbyterians in 150 Chicago area churches which supervises social service agencies and missions locally and organizes and aids new churches.

"While ordinarily the rapid growth of suburbs would lessen the inner city population," said Elliott, "quite the opposite has taken place because the inner city is a major port of entry for tindustrial workers from the Prosestant South and from Puerto Rico. Indeed, even Puerto Rico sends groups of workers who are 20 per cent Protestant.

"The Negro population has spurted from 492,000 in 1950 to the present figure of 750,000, and by 1960 it will likely reach 900,000. Since 1948, 60,000 European refugees have come to Chicago along with an equal number of Mexicans, and 25,000 Puerto Ricans. Almost in a class by themselves are the 6,000 American Indians."

FIFTY YEARS AGO the Presbytery of Chicago responded to the immigration of new groups from Europe with its extensive Church Extension Board neighborhood house program.

"Through our neighborhood houses, in some of Chicago's most critical areas, we are serving thousands of men, women, and children who desperately need our help to help themselves," Elliott said. "The real story is forever enshrined in the hearts of those we reach each year, in the homes kept together, in the children and teen-agers led off the streets and into a sympathetic constructive atmosphere. It lives in the people it has brought to a better understanding and love for God in the neighborhood areas, which today are better places in which to live because of the broad work of our neighborhood houses." League of Women Voters Urges Reciprocal Trade

This is Trade Week, and the League of Women Voters of Arlington Heights is celebrating by asking its friends and members to send an avalanche of letters to Washington D. C. urging passage of the five year extention of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act.

The Arlington Heights League has been supporting similar U.S. trade policies for four years and under a new study item will operate workshops this year covering a re-evaluation of trade policies as they concern United States foreign relations.

The long disproved thesis that the United States can exist as an island unto itself, is once again rearing an ugly head. It is the hope of the league as it is of the 116 other organizations who testified before the ways and means committee for extension of the act, among them the U. S. chamber of commerce and the AFL, both vitally interested in U. S. prosperity, that the legislature will heed the voices of people whose only axe grinding is for the welfare of the whole country.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, in his Minnesota address last week stated, "The world cannot survive in peaceful prosperity if each nation emphasizes only its independence and neglects interdependence."

THE TREMENDOUS propaganda and economic advantages the communists take when our trade policies are tightened or even threatened were shockingly demonstrated by the attacks upon vice-president Nixon in Peru and Veneszuela and in tense relations in the small countries all over South America.

It is vital that people throughout this country make their feelings known in congress now.

Write this week to the Honorable Marguerite Stitt Church, House Office Building, Washington D. C.; the Honorable Paul Douglas, Senate Office Building, Washington D. C.

For further information call Cl. 3-5174 or Cl. 3-7504.

Begin Clearing River of Debris

The first step involved in clearing the Des Plaines river of debris is underway.

Forest preserve district crews are marking trees along the banks of the river from Riverside to a point north of Des Plaines.

Horace Ramey, chief engineer of the Metropolitan sanitary district, said this 12-mile section has been marked as the first contract stage. Later, he said, the river will be cleared up to the Lake-Cook county line, north of Wheeling.

"DREDGING IN BOTH sections will come later," he said. "The first thing to do is to clear up the log jams."

The log jams consist of driftwood and other debris snagged above each bridge along the river. They seriously interfere with the flow of storm water and cause flooding in periods of heavy rain, Ramey said.

Final plans will be drawn after all trees are marked and spots selected for burning of timber, Ramey said.

HE TERMED the debris clearing project "a good job for fall or winter rather than spring or summer when you usually have periods of high water." But he said, clearing work may start this summer.

Ramey said county, state, and federal officials have pledged cooperation in the anti-flood project. (B8

Meadows Man Loses License

Only one northwest suburban motorist was among 62 drivers who still had their drivers licenses suspended, according to an announcement made today by Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier.

None were from the area among 232 drivers who had their licenses revoked.

The lone license suspended belonged to Walter J. Braun, 3502 Meadow drive, Rolling Meadows. He lost his license for causing or contributing to an accident resulting in death or injury. (B8

CORNERSTONE OF NEW Our Saviour Lutheran church, State rd. and Olive st., Arlington Heights, was laid Sunday by Rev. John P. Petersen, Ben Carns, chairman of building committee, and Henry Gleixner, superintendent for mason contractor. More than 200 persons attended the ceremony which included placement of a box in the cornerstone containing copy of Holy Scriptures, list of charter members and present members as well as Sunday School pupils, officers and committee chairmen, and copies of daily newspapers and Arlington Heights Herald. The new United Lutheran congregation, organized in 1955, expects to be in its new $208,000 church building early this fall.

Savings and Loan Starts Building

Brief ground-breaking ceremonies Monday heralded the start of construction on the new Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association building.

Representing the community in officially welcoming the association to its new home was police magistrate William F. Neumann. With board chairman Charles H. Wilson, and association president Paul E. Collins, he took part in ceremonies which moved the first bucketful of earth from the new building site on the corner of Campbell st. and Evergreen ave. in downtown Arlington Heights.

ALSO PRESENT for the occasion were association board directors Alvin A. Popp, owner of the Arlington Heights Roller Mills; Virgil K. Horath, owner of the Horath's service station; Carl Klehm, partner of Charles Klehm and Son; and Donald F. Morton, vice president of the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association.

Completion of the two-story Williamsburg colonial structure is anticipated by late November, with occupancy by December 1, when the association will move from present quarters at 11 N. State rd., Arlington Heights.

THE NEW BUILDING will become the permanent home of the Association, whose assets in five years have risen to $8,500,000, with more than 6,500 savers.

Designed by Walter Kroeber, A.I.A., Arlington Heights architect, the building will have Williamsburg colonial decorating and furnishings. Among its features will be a safe deposit vault, meeting room for community organizations, drive-in window, private parking lot, and complete "controlled weather" air conditioning.

General contractor for the new building is O & O Construction co. Sub-contractors include Edward J. Easterly, Jr., plumbing; Active Electric co., electric; Heatmasters, heating.

American Legion Tells How It Spends Poppy Day Funds

Where does the money go?

Every time there is a tag day or a fund-raising drive, people quite naturally ask that question.

Money raised in the American Legion Poppy Day Sale—Saturday, May 24 this year—is used to help needy disabled veterans and their families in Illinois.

THE MONEY IS raised by your contributions and by your neighbors who volunteer their time as members of the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary to sell the poppies. These poppy "salesmen" and "saleswomen," who are joined by volunteers from the public, donate their time.

Part of the funds are used to take care of the everyday comforts and needs of the hospitalized veteran, for which there are no other adequate provisions. They are insurance against any hospitalized veteran having the demoralizing experience of "being forgotten."

These funds also provide resources for temporary relief work among immediate members of the disabled veteran's family, including such basic items as food, rent, or medical expenses. It gives the hospitalized veteran the morale-building assurance that his wife and children will get the care they need immediately in an emergency situation.

THE JOB OF assembling the poppies also provides the opportunity for the disabled veteran to earn money while hospitalized. The Legion pays the men for the poppies they make. For many of the veterans, it is the only chance they have to earn money for their families.

Main concern of the Service Officers of the Legion is to protect the interests and welfare of the needy disabled veteran and his dependents.

Join in those who help the veterans. Remember the red cloth poppy—flower of remembrance for American men who gave their lives in the services of their country—will be sold in the State of Illinois, Saturday, May 24. (B8

How Suburban Churches Face Dilemmas of 'Boom' Growth

ST. COLETTE CATHOLIC church, serving some 1,100 families in Rolling Meadows, now holds its services in a school gymnasium. They hope to be in their new $285,000 church and auditorium by Christmas. Pictured is Rev. James F. Halpin leading a procession of first communicants on Mother's Day. His is the task of developing a church, school, rectory, and convent on St. Colette's 40-acre plot in Rolling Meadows.

Catholics, Protestants Share Common Problems

by CHARLES HAYES

Today's suburban church — hard hit by suburbia's dazzling growth — is symbolized by the school gym, folding chair, and youth.

Faced with the dilemma of meeting the demands of booming populations, suburban churches are breathlessly attempting to keep abreast of the rapid development in northwest suburbs.

These problems, common to Protestant and Catholic alike, include a serious shortage of clergymen, a building finance headache complicated by inflated costs, and the impossible task of planning church facilities large enough to meet anticipated future growth.

Suburban churches share such problems in common with one another.

FOR EXAMPLE, Our Saviour Lutheran church in Arlington Heights and St. Colette Catholic parish in Rolling Meadows serve as excellent examples of how churches of differing theology are similar in problems of growth and development.

Both are newcomers to their communities; both hold church services in school gymnasiums; both are engaged in vigorous fund-raising drives; both are involved in ambitious building programs; and both are headed by clergymen with a realistic view toward suburbia, its people and its problems.

Our Saviour and St. Colette are somewhat unique among suburban churches since the impetus for their organization came not from the mother church, but from the residents themselves.

EARLY IN 1954, several families in Arlington Heights petitioned the Illinois Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America to establish a mission congregation in that community. That summer a mission developer from the synod began work on the new church and first services were held in Dryden school gymnasium November 20. In February, 1955, the church was formally organized with 91 adults as charter members.

The initiative for Rolling Meadows' Catholic parish also sprang from the community itself. Families petitioned the Chicago chancery office, and the new St. Colette parish was formed to include Rolling Meadows, Plum Grove, and south Palatine countryside area. First services were held July 14, 1957 in Jonas Salk school gymnasium and today the parish serves an estimated 1,100 families.

Both congregations have quickly outgrown their public school accommodations.

Our Saviour now has a total membership of 498 with "standing room only" not uncommon at Sunday morning worship. A new $208,000 building at State rd. and Olive st. in Arlington Heights will be ready early this fall.

ST. COLETTE now offers six masses each Sunday with the regular full-time priest assisted by a priest from the Viatorian Novitiate in Arlington Heights and a priest-professor from Maryknoll seminary in Glen Ellyn. Ground will be broken in July on a 40-acre plot for a $285,000 church and auditorium with occupancy scheduled by Christmas.

Both churches have received some help from the mother church: the ULC's Board of American Mission for the Lutherans, and the Chicago archdiocese for the Catholics. But in both cases, the local church must "pay its own way" for both land and building.

This presents a heavy burden in times of inflated building costs for a new church with a predominantly young congregation already saddled with fresh mortgages, multi-payments and the cost of starting families.

PASTOR OF OUR Saviour church is Rev. John P. Petersen, 31, who started as the church's first full-time minister on October 16, 1955. A graduate of Carthage college and Chicago Lutheran Theological seminary, Maywood, he was called to Arlington Heights after four-and-a-half years at Chicago's Lutheran Church of the Ascension.

"The work of establishing a congregation is the hardest thing I've ever done," smiled Rev. Petersen who quickly added, "but it's more joy than burden."

The "joy" is his congregation's willingness to help.

"I particularly notice the enthusiasm of a younger, newer congregation as compared to an older, established church," he explained. "They know when they join this church that they are going to have to put out an effort to make the church go. So they join with an attitude completely different from that of an established church where it is possible to just sing two hymns, participate in the liturgy, and go home."

He said a mission congregation faces two major problems: evangelism and stewardship. The former refers to building a congregation — "the task of bringing people into the fellowship of the Christian church." The latter refers to the giving of "time, talent, and treasure." Each is dependent upon the other for success.

REV. JAMES F. Halpin, 50, has been a priest for 25 years and recently celebrated his Silver Jubilee ordination. He was assigned to Rolling Meadows from St. Bride's church in Chicago. Previously, he had served some half dozen parishes in Elmhurst, Cicero, Rogers Park, and Chicago.

In addition to establishing church services, church organizations, and directing fund-raising activities, Rev. Halpin is faced with the task of developing parochial school facilities. Thus far he has written 170 letters to every Mother General in the United States and Canada in an effort to find a teaching order of nuns to staff the projected school. He is also waiting for a reply to his request for an assistant to help him with the growing demands of his new parish.

"The shortage of men and women in religious vocations is a serious one," explained the clergyman.

"Rolling Meadows is unusual in itself," he pointed out. "Although just barely four years old, the city already has its own parish while Wheeling had to wait more than 75 years for its own parish!"

Adding that he had "never seen anything like Rolling Meadows' phenomenal growth," he said that the problems in St. Colette parish were emphasized by the youth of the families (average age: 35).

THE DEMAND FOR Catholic church facilities in suburbia has increased sharply since World War II.

In explaining the "why" behind great numbers of Catholic families moving to suburbs, Rev. Halpin said that "before the war, Catholic families for the most part were urban rather than suburban. This was due to immigration groupings, and people banded together into ethnic or language neighborhoods. But that was two or three generations ago, and this generation has broken its ties with the old neighborhoods. They've married into other nationality or religious groups, and they enjoy unlimited job opportunities, no handicaps of language or culture, and are completely assimilated. Religion is no longer the decisive factor in where one lives. City Catholics move to the suburbs for precisely the same reasons that city Protestants do."

To illustrate his point, Rev. Halpin recalled when he was a young priest assigned as an assistant to the Elmhurst parish. "There were only 350 Catholic families in that suburb," he explained, "or about 1 out of 20 families. But today Elmhurst has three Catholic parishes, all of them needed to accommodate its Catholic population."

He said that Catholics now represent 25 per cent to 30 per cent of most suburban populations. Rolling Meadows, which is 40 per cent Catholic, is "unusual," he added.

WITH SUBURBIA'S growth in population has come also an increase in church interest and attendance.

Pastor Petersen feels such a "resurgence" in religious life is sincere.

"All snide remarks about suburbia are made by people who either wish they could be suburbanites or else are shallow thinkers," he declared. "This is particularly true of remarks about suburban religion."

He said the popular myth of "suburban religion" is based upon a "plush" church with a preacher who is good looking, always pleasant, and "never steps on toes or offends anyone's feeling of sin." Such a church is described as the place to meet the "right" people.

"This may be true in isolated cases," said the youthful minister. "But in Arlington Heights people are just as concerned about their religious life as people who live elsewhere."

And, he quipped: "I don't intend to fit into the stereotype, either!"

BOTH REV. PETERSEN and Rev. Halpin expressed concern about community problems resulting from suburbia's explosive growth — and the church's vital interest in such problems.

"Most people move to the suburbs to escape problems," said Rev. Petersen. "When confronted with juvenile delinquency, substandard housing, or other problems they also faced in the city, they try to pretend such issues don't exist in suburbia. Thus the church attempts to develop not only concern for personal salvation, but also a social concern for those around us." (B8

EARLY THIS FALL members of Our Saviour Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, will begin worshipping in a new $208,000 church building. Meeting the growing needs of a rapidly-growing suburban area is the task of Rev. John P. Petersen, shown here consulting on progress of the church construction with William Carr, General contractor, Henry Gleixner, mason superintendent, and Chris Stade, superintendent for the architect.

Rev. and Mrs. Carlson have completed several terms in China, and he is now engaged in pastoral and teaching work in the Free Church school at Hong Kong. During World War II Rev. Carlson was interned in Canton and repatriated in 1943.

Rev. and Mrs. Baker and family are scheduled to leave for Japan in August for their first term. Rev. Baker is leaving his pastorate in Burnaby, British Columbia, in order to begin this work.

MISS PONTIUS, A Moody Bible institute graduate, has been engaged in women and children's work as well as Christian teacher's training in Venezuela. She returned to the States on an emergency furlough in 1957.

Rev. Fuller is presently engaged in deputation work for the Free Church headquarters in Minneapolis and will return to Japan with his family this fall to resume teaching duties in a missionary school.

Newcomer Neighborhoods Hail Subdivision Rule

A change in the Arlington Heights subdivision specifications approved last week will be welcomed by residents of new neighborhoods.

The new provision requires builders, or their road building contractors, to maintain the surface of road bases after the bases have been laid until they are paved.

THE BASES ARE allowed to settle for about a year after they are established in order to prevent further settling after blacktopping.

In the past, holes and ruts have developed in the bases during the intervening year. From now on, according to the new specifications, the builder must furnish materials, labor and equipment to repair sections of the base which become seriously deteriorated.

Repairs are to be made within a week of the day the hazards are reported to the village manager. The maintenance requirement also includes any necessary dust laying applications.

If the village must do the work itself, the cost will be withheld from the contractor's funds held in escrow by the village.

OTHER NEW requirements call for the use of "air-entrained" concrete for curbs, sidewalks and concrete pavement, notification to the village engineer 48 hours before a contractor starts or resumes work on a project, use of one inch instead of three-quarter inch water pipes between mains and curbs and provisions for fill or embankment specifications. Another new rule will have contractors supply warning signs, lights or barricades to protect auto traffic. (A

Schools Abolish Fear of Flunking

by TOM BRENNAN

When today's bifocals-and-bridge generation recalls its schooldays, most recall that May was the month of apprehension.

For a fair number in the class, there was the possibility of being "flunked" and getting left behind by friends moving onto the next grade.

IF FAILURE brought the cruel taunts of classmates, it probably brought more stinging remarks at home, where the news usually broke like a thunderclap.

Even for the good students, there were fears as commencement day approached. They worried, without admitting it, for their friends, often to the extent of slipping a note their way during an exam.

All in all, the old-line educational philosophy, with its threatening "study and get good marks or you'll be sorry" policy on promotions, did more harm than good, most educators now feel.

Some schools have gone to the other extreme. They have a policy of universal promotions. Everybody goes on to the next grade even if they learned little more than their teacher's name during the year.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS public elementary schools follow neither one of these extremes, according to Supt. Ralph E. Clabaugh.

"We have never promoted all children automatically at the end of the year," said Clabaugh. "But the number of children retained for another year is quite small compared with some other districts."

The percentage varies from one to two per cent of the total enrollment. This year it is expected to be nearly two per cent, with the number of retentions expected to be about 50, out of some 3200 pupils in the seven schools.

If the local policy could be said to lean in one direction or the other, it probably favors promoting the child who is doing poorly in school rather than keeping him back.

THERE ARE a number of reasons for this.

Clabaugh explained that the relationship of the parents to their child is one of the most important factors to be considered. The emotional stability of the grade school boy or girl, his mental capacity, work habits, attitudes toward his fellow students and other intangibles all enter into the decision.

"A low academic achievement in the classroom is the reason the promotion question comes up," commented Clabaugh. "But these underlying factors are mor important when you think of the future of the child."

Because the school feels it "doesn't know all the answers" about Johnny or Jane and because of the effect of retention on all members of the family, a child is usually not retained without the consent of his parents.

"IN GENERAL," states a system manual for teachers, "we shall not retain children whose parents do not agree that it will be to his best interest."

Otherwise, adds the manual, "a child retained against his parents' judgment may be subjected to serious tensions in the home."

Clabaugh views the matter of promotion or retention not as the sole preserve of the school—although it has such legal authority—but as a matter of deliberation between parents and school officials.

"We have the right to promote or not," the veteran school administrator observed. "But we don't want to exercise it as if the child is here to serve the school. We want to do what is best for the child—not merely hold fast to a set of standards."

WHILE FINAL decisions are made on the basis of the individual's learning and personality traits, there are several rules which apply in all cases. Thus the school system does not promote a laggard learner in June on condition that he do well next fall because this practice "seems to place the child in a position of insecurity during the summer and in the next fall when he should have every opportunity to adjust to a new situation," according to the teachers' manual.

Also, no child is to be held back more than twice during his elementary school career and no "double promotions" are made except in very unusual cases. Nor does the school demand that promotion hinge upon special tutoring to be given during the summer.

To eliminate end-of-the-term worries for all concerned—teacher, principal, parents and child—there are several conferences during the school year between the parties. In January parents receive a letter telling them how their offspring are doing in school.

IN MARCH teachers talk over the situation personally with parents. In these consultations it sometimes comes out that it is the parent who is more anxious about Johnny's slow progress than the teacher.

In these circumstances, said Clagbaugh, the teacher might even advise the parents "to do nothing . . . some children just take longer to grow up than others." During May teacher, parents and principal confer again. If all agree that the child will benefit by repeating the year, the word "retained" is entered on the records.

But Johnny won't be embarrassed by being told of the decision in front of his classmates. He is told a few days after school is out.

The kids at the swimming pool will forget about a "flunk" quicker than the kids around a school lunch table. (A

An Ordinance

No. 58-12

AN ORDINANCE PRO-RATING THE COST OF THE CONSTRUCTION OF SANITARY SEWERS IN NORTH WALNUT STREET, 180 FEET NORTH OF OAKTON STREET, IN THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, ILLINOIS.

WHEREAS Arthur Schultz, who at the time was the owner of and interested in the lots and premises located on the East and the West sides of North Walnut Street from Oakton Street 180 feet North of Oakton Street in the Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois, has heretofore caused to be constructed, by private contract, and has paid the cost thereof, a sanitary sewer, in said North Walnut Street from and connecting with facilities in West Oakton Street and extending to 180 Feet North, which said improvements, with their appurtenances so constructed, can serve property on the East and West side of North Walnut Street between West Oakton and 180 Feet North, and described as follows:

Lots 13, 14, and 15 in Block 6 and Lots 6, 7, and 8 in Block 5, Northwest Highlands Subdivision, being a Subdivision of the East One-half (E½) of the South East One-Quarter (SE¼) (excluding two acres in the South East corner) of Section 19, Township 42 North, Range 11, East of the Third Principal Meridian;

WHEREAS said improvements so constructed are and will be of benefit to said adjoining and adjacent lots and property hereinbefore described; and

WHEREAS the said ARTHUR SCHULTZ was given permission to construct said improvements by private contract, with the understanding that the Village of Arlington Heights be not charged with any part of the cost thereof, and with the further understanding that an ordinance be passed by the Village of Arlington Heights, after the completion of said improvements, requiring the owners of any property adjacent thereto desiring to make use thereof pay the proportionate share of the cost of said improvements, to be used in reimbursement of said ARTHUR SCHULTZ, or his heirs or assigns, for the proportionate cost of the construction thereof; and,

WHEREAS the cost of such improvements per lineal foot of property, and paid for by said ARTHUR SCHULTZ, being the amount equitably chargeable to the property on the East side and the West side of said street, amounts to $3.01 per lineal front foot of such property; and,

WHEREAS the President and Board of Trustees of the Village finds said costs and charges to be reasonable and in their judgment less than the cost of such improvement if constructed by special assessment; now, therefore,

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, COUNTY OF COOK AND STATE OF ILLINOIS:

SECTION 1. That the cost of said improvements, which do not include any house connection or service pipes, is hereby determined and fixed at the rate of $3.01 per lineal foot of property adjacent thereto on the East side and West side of North Walnut Street between West Oakton and 180 Feet North, said amount being the cost of the construction of said improvements and engineering and other costs paid for the construction thereof by the said ARTHUR SCHULTZ.

SECTION 2. That no person, firm or corporation, being the owner of or party interested, nor any contractor, agent or other representative of such owner or party interested, of the above and the following described premises, to-wit:

Lots 13, 14, 15 in Block 6 and Lots 6, 7, and 8 in Block 5, Northwest Highlands Subdivision, being a Subdivision of the East One-half (E½) of the South East One-Quarter (SE¼) (excluding two acres in the South East corner) of Section 19, Township 42 North, Range 11, East of the Third Principal Meridian; shall connect to or obtain service from said improvements without first obtaining a permit from the Village of Arlington Heights to make such connection. No such permit shall be issued unless the applicant will first pay to the Village of Arlington Heights for the use of the said ARTHUR SCHULTZ, or his heirs or assigns, a sum equal to $3.01 per lineal front foot per lot of such applicant's property to be served by such improvements. Such charge and the amount so paid, shall entitle such property owner to connect to any or all of said improvements, and shall be in addition to the usual charges and fees payable to the Village for making sewer connections. Such payment shall not relieve such property owner or owners from the payment of the established sewer rentals chargeable by said Village for sewer service rendered and furnished.

SECTION 3. All moneys collected by the Village from such adjacent property owners for such connection charges, provided for in the preceding section of this ordinance, except the usual connection fees and charges made by the Village in other instances, shall, within thirty (30) days after receipt thereof by the Village, be paid to the said ARTHUR SCHULTZ, or his heirs or assigns.

SECTION 4. Any person, firm or corporation being the owner or owners of or parties interested in any of said property being capable of being served by said improvements, and any contractor, agent or representative of any such person, firm or corporation making connections with the improvements hereinbefore described, without first making application to the Village for a permit, and without first paying the fees and charges herein provided for, shall be subject to a fine of not less than ONE HUNDRED ($100.00) DOLLARS nor more than TWO HUNDRED ($200.00) DOLLARS, and upon conviction thereof the Village shall enter upon said street and remove all such connections so made within the street lines of said street.

SECTION 5. This Ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication as provided by law.

Books of Adventure Are Popular with Local Readers

Nearly everyone enjoys reading of dangerous exploits, Mrs. Charles Stadelman, librarian of Arlington Heights Memorial library, has discovered. "Some people ask for every new book on mountain climbing, others wait eagerly for the latest account of deep sea diving, while hunting and fishing experiences appeal to still others."

The library offers dozens of books about mountain climbing, deep sea diving, big game hunting, jungle and arctic exploration, sea voyages, and war exploits which will take you miles away at no greater cost than your library card—which is free to residents of Arlington Heights.

DANGEROUS VOYAGES to far places of the world are described in such recent titles as Captain Kenneth Ainslie's "Pacific Ordeal," which tells of a tug that towed four mine sweepers from Panama to Manila. Still another title, "Vengeful Sea" by Edward Snow, covers two dozen episodes illustrating man's battle against the sea.

Another group of books takes the reader "From the Heights to the Depths." Edmund Hillary's "Conquest of Everest," Cornelius Egeler's "Challenge of the Andes," and Ardiot Desio's "Victory over K-2" are accounts of mountain exploration. Underwater exploration has been the subject of several recent books. Arthur Clarke describes an underwater expedition to the Great Barrier Reef off the eastern coast of Australia in the "Reefs of Traprobane," while Helen Raitt in "Exploring the Deep Pacific" recounts her adventures while accompanying her husband on a South Seas oceanographic expedition.

"ANTARCTIC NIGHT" by Lt. Comdr. Jack Bursey tells one man's story of 24,224 hours at the bottom of the world.

Big game hunting experiences are related in John Jordan's "Elephants and Ivory." and Fitz Grangel, another adventure-lover, shares his experiences as a professional hunter in "North American Head Hunting." Other books describing real-life adventures include such titles as "Caves of Mystery," by John Douglas, the story of cave exploration in various parts of the world; "Traveller in the Wilderness," by Cid Sumner, which tells of the author's trip down the Green and Colorado Rivers on a rubber raft; "Witness to Witchcraft" by Harry Wright, which is an account of a trip through the jungles of South America, Africa and Oceania to investigate primitive methods of healing.

"Three Years Among the Comanches" by Nelson Lee, describes this Texas Ranger's adventures when captured by the Comanches. No matter what a readers particular enthusiasm may be, the library can provide him with exciting books.

We All Affect Lives of Others

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Whether we like it or not, whether we even think about it, each of us by our conduct and expression of thoughts contributes his share to the conduct and thinking of the world.

For, unless we are negative persons of little persuasion, the thoughts we express and the conduct of our lives influences others. You may say to a friend: "I don't go to church much because I just don't have time." That friend may have been attending church regularly, yet because he admires you and has confidence in your judgment, decides that "John stays home when he has something he wants to do and he is a good man; why is it wrong for me to do the same?" Thus you are responsible for your friend's staying away from church. The effect on your immediate family will be greater for they respect and trust you even more. Multiplied a million or millions of times, such conduct can contribute to national religious deterioration.

IF YOU ARE sarcastic and pugnacious, you cause others about you to repay in kind, or to ignore and avoid you. In your home, it can have a demoralizing effect on the wife and children, and chances are that some of the children will grow up with the same personality traits, contributing their share to the unhappiness of others when they grow up.

By boasting of your skill in evading the law or avoiding a ticket for speeding or reckless driving, you contribute to a general disregard for law. By overindulgence in intoxicating liquors, you bring disrespect on yourself and your family, and set a bad example for your children.

By making careless statements, you contribute to erroneous thinking and wrong action by people who have confidence in you and respect for your judgment.

Each of us is responsible for the happiness and welfare of those immediately around us, and throughout the world. We may not admit that responsibility to ourselves or others, but we can not escape it. (B12

Suburban Orthodox Church Sets Benefit Dance, May 25

The St. John Hellenic Mens and Womens club will hold the first combined church building fund benefit dinner-dance Sunday evening, May 25, at Medinah country club. Dance committee chairman is Mrs. Constantine Stamis of Mt. Prospect and toastmaster for the evening will be John Metropulos, also of Mt. Prospect.

Pete K. Ladas is president of the men's group and Mrs. Stafford Macnas of Arlington Heights is president of the women's group.

Funds raised will help construct a multi-purpose auditorium that will seat 200 worshippers when used as a nave and 150 diners when used as a fellowship hall. The structure is the first unit in a long range building program for St. John Greek Orthodox church to be located in Arlington Heights.

Eventually St. John's plan to construct a single building with permanent church worship facilities. The building now planned will become a parish hall.

All persons interested in obtaining tickets for the dinner-dance may contact Mrs. Nick Samaras at CL 5-7793. (B8

High School to Award Plaques to Car Dealers

Arlington high school will soon award four local car dealers plaques of recognition for their assistance in the driver education program. The plaques are provided by the Chicago Motor club, which has always shown a great interest in the driver education program.

J. J. Cavanagh, president of the club, praised these companies for their participation in the work. He said "These firms' contribution to improved motoring safety cannot be overemphasized. The youngsters who were given training in these cars are now safer, more competent drivers, at a cost for each student less than the expense of repairing a radiator grill."

The dealers who will receive plaques May 29 are: Bill Cook Buick, Busse Buick, George Poole Ford agency and Lattof Motors.

In 1946 when the driver education program was started at Arlington high school, the average number of students was about 40 per semester. At that time the adult program was also started. This year the enrollment was approximately 500 students in the driver education program. With the construction of Prospect high school the figure will probably jump to 800 students a year.

Combined Groups Join for Concert

ONE OF THE SOLISTS who played with the Arlington Heights elementary school orchestra at its spring concert at Miner junior high school Wednesday night was violinist John Ninneman. Band and choral groups also performed in the joint concert.

Band, orchestra and choral groups joined forces for the first time for a spring concert at Miner school last night.

Directing the orchestra made up of 43 pupils from all Arlington Heights public schools was school instrumental music director Melvin D. Kasen. He also led a 37-piece band of Miner and North school students.

MRS. HAZEL PETERSEN, vocal music director, presented the Mineraires and the Minerettes, 8-voice girl and boy groups respectively, and the Miners, the all-school girls' chorus, in separate and combined numbers.

Vocal soloists were Bob Lantz and Don Neubert and John Ninneman and Carolyn Neas were instrumental soloists. (A

'Save a Child's Life' Is Pro-Sidewalk Argument

"My personal feeling is that if I can prevent a single child in Arlington Heights from being injured or killed through the sidewalk program, then it is my duty to back the program."

These words of Melvin L. Kurtz, one of two village board members on the sidewalk committee, cut to the heart of the board's sidewalk policy.

He and James E. Millay are in charge of the highly controversial program calling for installation of sidewalks at the homeowner's expense. This cost may run from about $200 to nearly $400 per lot, depending on whether the walks are put in voluntarily or by special assessment and upon the size of the lot.

Millay agrees with his colleague in that the board only wants to protect pedestrians, principally school children, from harm.

THE BOARD has been criticized for "not having a uniform policy about where walks will go." The criticism stems from the fact that walks were installed only on north-south streets near South school last year while walks are to be installed also on east-west streets near Ridge and Arlington high schools this year.

What is their answer to opponents?

Both reply that past and current projects were requested by residents of the neighborhoods involved. The Westgate home owners group sought walks on W. Euclid ave., leading to the high school. A group of residents in the Ridge-Park area asked for construction of walks there.

"THE SIDEWALKS will go where residents request them," say the trustees. "On the south side project we didn't insist on walks for cross streets because the flow of pedestrian traffic is to the north. The traffic flow determines the need for the walks."

Millay and Kurtz say they will consider walks for any neighborhood "if we get requests." The area is then "surveyed," they said. But their surveys are admittedly not all of the same type.

Arlington Heights police took a count of youngsters walking to and from school on Euclid ave. But this was not done on the approaches to Ridge school.

Instead, said Millay, "we determined the need for walks along Elm by driving along the street at the time school was let out. We found we could not drive safely along the street at a speed of more than 10 miles an hour with the children walking in the street."

THE STREET, sidewalk and lighting committee has "surveyed" the north side area bounded by Ridge ave., State rd., Oakton st. and Euclid ave. but the two trustees said no decision has been made on whether walks will be placed in the area and there are no definite plans for the present.

As to a related criticism--that there is no overall sidewalk plan for the entire village--both men declared "we haven't had time to get into that."

HOWEVER, THEY added, there are some subdivisions in which property covenants prohibit construction of walks. These are Stonegate, Sherwood and Scarsdale, they said. The pair aren't sure if the village could overrule these covenants and force installation of walks.

What happens when a neighborhood splits on the issue of whether or not to have walks? This is the case in the north Ridge-Park area, where "pro" and "anti" forces are both strong.

In such cases, agreed the trustees, the final decision is up to the village board.

Award Show Prizes

Prizes awarded by Advance Garage builders of Arlington Heights to persons who attended the Home and Garden show at Arlington Park last weekend included two first prizes of a barbecue grill to Jack Lynch, 2909 Dove, Rolling Meadows, and Merrill Wade, 303 S. Oak, Palatine, and a second prize of an aluminum combination door to Tom Justi, 448 E. Robertson, Palatine. (A Community Concerts Plan 'Something for Everyone'

Arlington Heights Community Concerts have engaged four additional attractions — a two piano team, a violinist, a baritone-soprano duo and a small concert "pops" orchestra — to fill out its 1958-59 schedule.

The fifth concert for next season, announced two weeks ago, will bring the Columbus Boychoir to Arlington high school November 30 for a pre - Christmas presentation of excerpts from "Amahl and the Night Visitors."

THE DATES ARE not set yet for the other four concerts. They were chosen Sunday by the artist selection committee meeting at the conclusion of the subscription campaign.

Mrs. Lyle W. Ewing of Arlington Heights, campaign chairman, said that 1,000 subscriptions were sold through Tuesday noon. This is a single subscription more than at the same point last year.

SALES WILL re-open in the fall for new residents, teachers and others who missed the opportunity to subscribe, she said.

The number of season tickets sold in Arlington Heights was about the same as last year, Mrs. Ewing reported, adding that a lag in sales in Mt. Prospect was offset by sales in Barrington.

Barrington's concert series will not be held next year because of a lack of community support.

The artists engaged for next year include the Manhattan Concert orchestra, a 21-man group directed by Harry John Brown, the two-piano team of Margaret Parsons and Clifford Poole, violinist Robert Rudie and baritone Edwin Steffe and soprano Dolores Wilson.

HARRY JOHN BROWN formerly was associate conductor of the Boston Pops orchestra under Arthur Fiedler. Brown will offer music "in a lighter vein" from Broadway show tunes to the semi-classics.

The Pianists are husband and wife and teach in the music department of the University of Western Ontario when not touring. They have appeared frequently on the Canadian Broadcasting corporation and with the Toronto symphony.

VIOLIN SOLOIST Robert Rudie won the acclaim of critics for his playing at a 1957 Town Hall recital in New York and has performed at the Casals and Aspens music festivals.

Steffe has sung in everything from radio to light opera and Miss Wilson last year toured with the NBC opera company, singing the role of Violetta in "La Traviata." She was also a member of Chicago's Lyric opera company and a regular on the Voice of Firestone program. (AF

Highway Carnage Claims Three More Lives Here

DEATH ON THE HIGHWAYS. A trucker helps extricate the body of a 3-year-old boy from underneath the wheels of a gasoline truck which struck a crossing car, also killing the boy's grandparents. The three deaths last Thursday brought northwest Cook county's total to 13.

STATE POLICE aid two of four persons injured in a head-on collision on Rand rd. just south of Central rd. last Thursday. All were rushed to Resurrection hospital and formed part of the 11 persons injured on area highways last week.

Northwest Cook county's highway carnage continued at a record-shattering pace with three more fatalities during the past week.

Added to the list in the unincorporated areas of six northwest Cook county townships were 11 injuries, including six who were hospitalized.

A CHICAGO couple, Charles B. Willard, 59, and his wife, Barbara, 55, and their 3-year-old grandson, David Allen Bush, all of 3821 N. Nora ave, were killed instantly when their auto was struck by a gasoline truck on Northwest hwy. at Ela rd. last Thursday morning.

The deaths brought the number of fatalities in northwest Cook county to 13 for the first four and a half months of 1958.

This is 148 days ahead of last year's pace when 22 were killed on area highways. The 13th fatality did not occur until October 10 last year.

According to state police, Willard was apparently making a U-turn onto Northwest hwy. from a parking lot at Charlotte's restaurant.

A parked delivery truck obscured the vision of both drivers. Police said the truck driver, Ralph K. Fishburn, 505 S. Owen drive, Madison, Wis., tried desperately to miss the auto which cut across his path. Witnesses told police the empty gasoline truck was going about 45 m.p.h.

FOUR PERSONS were rushed to Resurrection hospital also last Thursday following a head-on collision on Rand rd. just south of Central rd.

Taken to Resurrection were Hjordis Busk, 50, of 925 Tomawandee lane, Park Ridge; Raymond E. Bilka, 17, of 5946 W. Grand ave., Chicago; Anna Wunschel, 52, of 1199 S. Northwest hwy., Barrington; and Donna Ruth Yates, 17, of 1724 W. Greenleaf, Chicago.

State police requested that the Bilka car traveling southeast was on the wrong side of the road when it hit a northwest bound auto driven by Busk. Damage to the Busk car was placed at $600 and to the Bilka auto at $450.

A West Chicago man, LaVester Byrd, 34, of 1113 Oak st., was seriously injured last Thursday when his car crashed into an embrankment at Dundee and Sutton rds. south of Barrington. He was taken to Sherman hospital, Elgin.

STATE POLICE reported Byrd was driving west and apparently went through a stop sign at Illinois 59, crashing into the embankment on the southwest corner.

Jack Kinbea, 54, Route 2, Antioch, was taken to Resurrection hospital Wednesday, May 14, when his auto shot across Milwaukee ave. at Hintz rd. and landed in a ditch.

Kinbea was attempting to avoid an auto driven by Harry J. Connelly, 71, Route 1, McHenry, which had pulled onto Milwaukee ave. in front of him. Damage to the Kinbea car was estimated at $500 by Cook county deputies.

A tractor driver and a motorist were injured Tuesday, May 13, when a tractor driven by Harman Withaeger, 62, Route 2, Palatine, made a left turn into a farm on Rohlwing rd. a block south of Golf rd. and was struck by an auto driven by Richard J. Weber, 40, of 332 Phillips ave., Glen Ellyn.

Withaeger was taken to a local doctor by a passing motorist. Weber was to have seen his own doctor.

Damage to the Weber auto was estimated at $1,000 and to the tractor at $250. Withaeger was issued a ticket by state police for failure to signal a left turn.

LORRAINE KINGDOM, 47, of 388 Cornell, Des Plaines, was to have seen her own doctor after a car driven by Marvin M. Kingdom, also of Des Plaines, collided with one driven by William M. Jackson, 44, of 955 Prairie ave., Des Plaines, at Wolf and Central rds. Friday.

Kingdom's southbound car was struck in the rear by the Jackson auto when Kingdom stopped for a stop sign. Both cars received $500 in damages. Jackson was given a ticket for driving too fast for conditions.

Barbara Conlin, 23, of 5801 S. Francisco, Chicago, was to have seen her own doctor following a collision at Rand and Hicks rds. Sunday.

ACCORDING to state police, a car driven by Elmore W. Whitman, 31, of 133 Illinois blvd., Villa Park, swerved to avoid hitting an unlighted and unprotected traffic light island and was struck in the rear by a car driven by Leonard Bergl, 33, of 5356 W. Washington st., which skidded sideways into the Whitman auto.

Kathleen Netwig, 40, of 126 S. Lewis ave., Lombard, also was to have seen her own physician following a 2-car collision Saturday at River rd. and Euclid.

County deputies said a car driven by Jim R. Schipper, 19, of 1007 N. Kaspar, Arlington Hts., headed east on Euclid pulled into the intersection and was struck by a northbound car driven by Robert C. Netwig, 42, of the Lombard address.

Damage to the Netwig car was placed at $250 and to the Schipper auto at $450. (B-8

Industry To Leave Arlington

The Emerol Manufacturing co., which makes motor lubricants at its plant at 1717 E. Davis st. in Arlington Heights, this week is transferring operations to its parent Port Chester, N.Y., plant.

J. B. Roberts, manager of the local plant since it located here in 1952, said the firm's operations will be consolidated in an enlarged plant at Port Chester. At the same time the firm will start production on a fully automated basis.

THE ARLINGTON plant has employed up to a dozen persons but the number is now eight, Roberts said. He said he and perhaps another employee will transfer to the new location.

The brick building contains 22,000 square feet and stands on a six-acre site west of the Arlington Heights sewage treatment plant.

The chief product of the firm is Marvel Mystery Oil, a motor lubricant. Future plans call for location of a warehouse for this product in the Chicago area but a site has not been announced.

Roberts said a sales contract has been signed for the local Emerol facilities but that the purchaser is not ready to announce his plans.

Jim Conway, CBS Television Star of "In Town Tonight," meets Mrs. Robert Jarchow

"Just imagine, this whole meal was cooked to a turn while I shopped!"

"Electric cooking is so automatic, it's like having someone else do the cooking for you!" says Mrs. Robert Jarchow, of Northbrook, Illinois, a leader in the Northbrook Service Club, school organizations, and civic and charitable groups.

JIM CONWAY: Mm-m-m-m. A rib roast, baked potatoes, broccoli. What's for dessert?

MRS. JARCHOW: Baked Cherry Delight, Jim. A whole meal ready for me to take out of the oven and serve . . . and all I did was set the controls before I went shopping. That's how easy automatic electric cooking is!

JIM CONWAY: I know, Mrs. Jarchow, and the nicest thing: anyone can have it just that easy with a modern electric range . . . 'cause there's no doubt about it, they're completely automatic and foolproof. As you say, you just set the dials and the electric range takes over . . . food comes out cooked exactly the way you want it, when you want it. Electric cooking is economical, too . . . only 7¢ a day for the average family.

MRS. JARCHOW: And another thing I like about it, Jim . . . it saves time: gives me a lot more time to be with Bob and the youngsters . . . and extra time for volunteer work. I have a lot more energy left at the end of the day, too. Now that I've experienced electric cooking, Jim, I wouldn't put up with any other kind!

JIM CONWAY: I'll bet your husband wouldn't either . . . not when you put meals like this on the table!

Every day, more modern women

EXTRA VALUE TRIM MEANS

Better Meat Buys at Jewel!

And Only Jewel Cuts Meat the E.V.T. Way!

Jewel Food Stores

United States Gov't Graded "Choice"

Next time you pick up a package of meat in a Jewel Market, notice the three letters E. V. T. on the label. They stand for EXTRA VALUE TRIM—the exclusive Jewel way of giving you a better cut of meat for less money. Perhaps you already know E. V. T. means removing all excess fat and bone before weighing, but did you know E. V. T. also means . . .

Jewel cuts only the first 5 ribs in a side of beef for standing rib roasts . . . the 6th and 7th ribs are for pot roast (removing the blade and selling it for boneless rolled roast is not the Jewel way).

Removing the tails from Porterhouse steaks is the newest addition to E. V. T. (Since the tail isn't as tender, it's ground and sold as hamburger.)

As you can see, Jewel's E. T. V. policy applies to all cuts of meats. No wonder that more and more homemakers are joining the swing to Jewel for the best buys in meats!

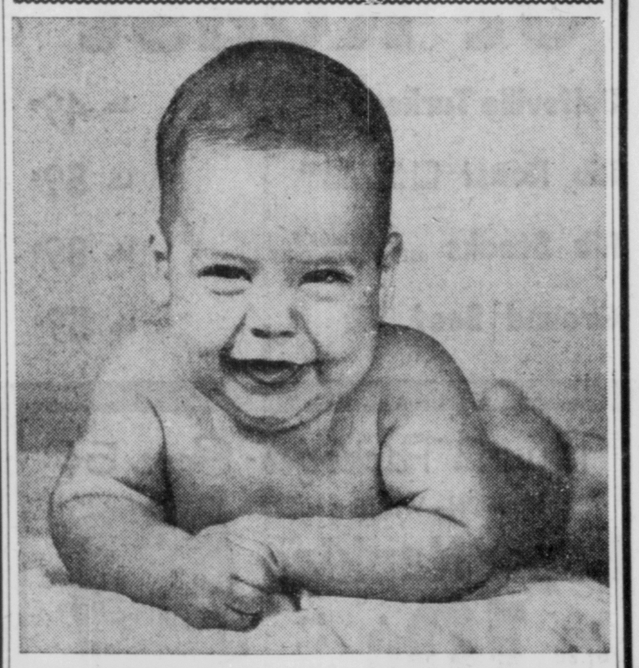
Picture Patter



THIS PICTURE represents several of the best techniques of baby picture making—the subject is certainly happy, rested and well-fed; the background is free of clutter; the "costume" is natural and flattering; and it is a good close-up view.

Baby Picture-Taking Tips

by FRED GAREISS

In a recent interview, one of the top baby photographers whose pictures appear on the covers of some of the leading magazines outlined a few very basic rules for working with tiny subjects.

These rules seemed to us to make so much sense that we thought we'd share them with the young parents—and doting grandparents — among our readers.

Here they are:

1) A happy, rested, well-fed baby is the best subject—and will make the best picture.
2) Remember, patience is a "must" when you snap a baby.
3) A simple, uncluttered background is necessary to show off Baby to his best advantage.
4) Baby's clothes should be simple—even a diaper makes a flattering costume!
5) Close-ups are often the most effective shots of Baby.
6) Keep it natural — the only prop you need is a rattle or a cuddly toy.
7) Experiment with "bouncing" flash or flood lights from the ceiling for a soft over-all lighting effect.
8) A last-minute look through the viewfinder before snapping is always a wise precaution.

Don't you agree that if simple rules like these work for a famous professional photographer, they should help you get better baby pictures, too? Remember, Maytime is picture time—which makes it a fine time to snap the baby at your house!

Engraving Plant Breaks Ground In Industrial Park

FINAL DETAILS of the contract for the new building to be built for Acme Gravure Services, Inc., in Northwestern Industrial Park in Rolling Meadows, were decided by these six men in architect Ralph Stoetzel's office, where the construction contract was signed. Standing, left to right: James H. McFarland, Ralph Stoetzel, Russell Packard; seated: Walter L. West, Joseph T. Carp, and Walter H. Haase. Haase is president of Acme and West is one of his assistants. Joseph Carp is the contractor. McFarland and Packard are attorneys; the former representing Carp, and the latter representing Acme.

Ground was broken Friday for a new gravure engraving and plate manufacturing plant in Northwestern Industrial Park in Rolling Meadows, for Acme Gravure Services, inc., it was announced by Walter H. Haase, President of Acme.

The company will be leaving its present quarters at 1501 W. Congress, Chicago, in about three months and will move into Northwestern Industrial Park, where the new building is to be constructed on Industrial ave. just east of Hicks rd.

THE COMPANY manufactures gravure plates and cylinders which are used for color reproduction of packages and other types of printing. Acme will be the first industrial plant to move into Northwestern Industrial Park, a newly created 205-acre development, in the northwest part of Rolling Meadows, west of Arlington Park Jockey club.

THE PARK itself includes 205 acres of fully improved land and parcels are available in a variety of sizes, with the smallest set at 2 acres. The layout of the park follows the most contemporary concept of industrial development planning, including requirements for set-backs, off-street parking and for meeting a specified building code.

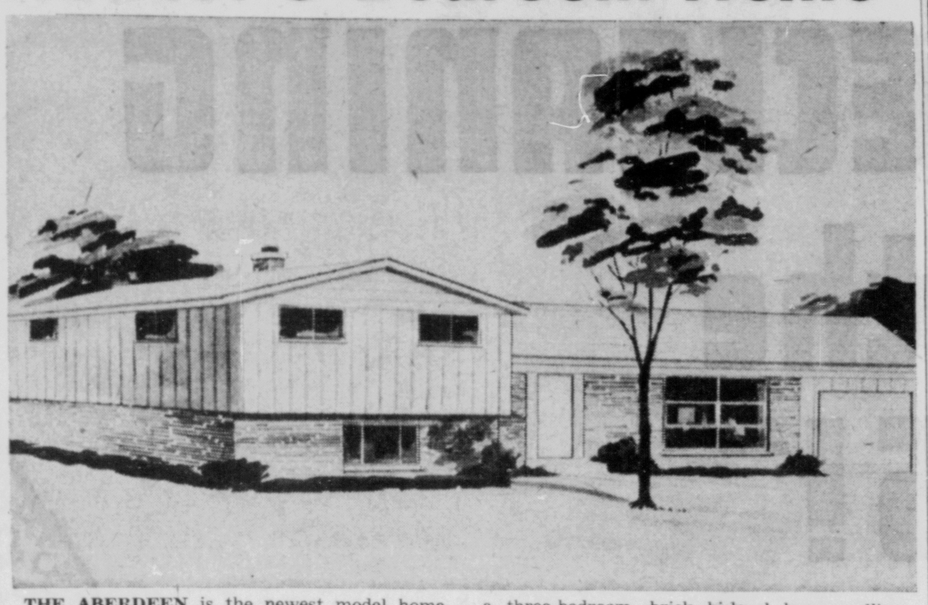
DESIGNED BY Chicago architect Ralph Stoetzel, Acme's new building will be 158' x 145' and the site development plan will provide parking space for 60 cars in addition to a driveway to a shipping and receiving area. Stoetzel stated that the building will have a concrete slab foundation and floor, a steel frame, brick masonry walls with concrete block back-up, and an insulated gypsum roof.

Of particular interest from the architectural point of view is the transfer area which requires 'air-lock' doors and constant temperature and humidity controls for the application of sensitive gravure tissue to plates and cylinders.

ALUMINUM SASH and trim will be used at the main entrance. The loading dock is equipped with a leveling device to simplify the loading of metal cylinders.

The building is expected to be completed near the end of August, according to William A. Dean of Northwestern Industrial Park, Inc., and Acme is expected to be operating from the new plant by the first of September. Joseph T. Carp, inc. is contractor for the new structure. (BB

Glen Tyan Manor Displays Newest 3-Bedroom Home



THE ABERDEEN is the newest model home in the Glen-Tyan subdivision in Palatine. It is a three-bedroom, brick bi-level home, selling for $22,900.

R. Houston Jr. and Sons, developer of Glen-Tyan Manor, an 82 home subdivision in the heart of Palatine, announces the completion of a new 3-bedroom brick bi-level model home.

The new model, called the Aberdeen, sells for $22,900 complete on lots of minimum 70' frontage. Other features of the new home include enclosed garage, extra sidewall and ceiling insulation, screens and storm windows. A spacious kitchen is equipped with built-in oven and range, Mengel kitchen cabinets and formica counter tops. Space is provided for a recreation room and plumbing for an additional bathroom is roughed in.

Sensing a trend, the builders have provided a separate dining room in the plans.

Glen-Tyan Manor is located near Plum Grove and Hellen rds. in Palatine. The community, which is now approximately 50 per cent complete, is within two blocks of a public school, near a high school, a Catholic school, churches, shopping centers, recreation centers and the Northwestern railway station. Despite its proximity to the heart of Palatine, the subdivision encounters no through auto traffic.

Late in 1956 ground was broken for the 30 acres that was to become Glen-Tyan Manor.

The subdivision offers home buyers their choice of model homes displayed at the project; variations of the model homes; and custom-built homes which the company will erect on Glen-Tyan lots. (BB

The luck of the Irish was with Mrs. Tom Merritt this week. She spun the wheel of fortune at a local store and won a bag of groceries.

The Triangle club met at the home of Mrs. James Salisbury with Mrs. Nick Molitar as cohostess. Mrs. Harold Burton and Mrs. Nancy Johnson were welcomed to the club by a large turnout of old members. It was agreed to donate the balance of money needed to purchase the additional swings for the park. Games and refreshments concluded the evening.

Jerry House celebrated his fourth birthday Saturday with a cowboy party. Helping him celebrate were Peter Salisbery, Greg Combs, Chuckie Sailer, Christie and Mary Alice O'Geary, Billy Marchetti and Pam and Sherry House.

RECENTLY moved into Wedgewood are the Richard Hustads. Penny and Dick, who are from Minneapolis, have a daughter, Wendy, 3½. Dick, an art director, has done many oil paintings of his family as well as some used in exhibits.

Mrs. Ken Reed had a clothing demonstration at her home Friday evening. Attending were Mrs. James Salisbury, Mrs. Frank Bedo, Mrs. Nick Molitar, Mrs. Joe Heckenback, Mrs. Eugene Melvin, Mrs. James Deal and Mrs. William Taft of Wedgewood and Mrs. Norman Hartmann, Mrs. Ronald Rathael, Mrs. Lex Young and Miss Marilyn Remus.

Mt. Prospect district of Camp Fire Girls held its grand council fire Sunday afternoon in the girl's gym of the Arlington high school. The Camp Fire Girls, in answer to the wohelo call, took their places in the council fire circle. Following the presentation of colors, the girls and their guests repeated the pledge of allegiance to the flag and sang the first stanza of "America."

Charlene Ziel, Jacqueline De Wilde and Janet Graham were flag bearers of the American, Camp Fire and Blue Bird flags. Explanation of the Camp Fire flag was given by Mary Ellen Lock. Mrs. Roland Becker, district chairman, conducted the ceremony.

The wohelo candles were placed in a huge circle of fresh greens with potted geraniums surrounding the candles. Lighting the fires were Maripat Sullivan, work; Janet Skarr, health; and Susan Thurow, love.

The fly-up ceremony brought 55 Blue Birds into the Camp Fire circle. Mothers were asked to join the girls, and each mother removed the Blue Bird cap and vestee so a wohelo tie could be placed on the new Camp Fire Girl. The girls received the fly-up certificate and the Blue Bird honor, the first to be placed on the ceremonial bolero. Holding high lighted white candles, the girls repeated the Camp Fire law. Each took her place in the council fire circle.

Q. When a woman is paying her first call on a new neighbor, how long should she remain?

A. From 15 to 20 minutes should be long enough. Usually a woman who has just moved into a new home has plenty to do, and she might resent too lengthy a visit.

Q. When a hostess passes cigarettes after a meal, isn't it permissible for a guest to smoke his own if he prefers to do so?

A. No; the guest should accept the cigarette proffered by his hostess.

Q. How many vegetables is it necessary to serve at a dinner?

A. Two vegetables are sufficient.

State's Attorney Files Suit Against Trailer Park

State's Attorney's office has charged Elk Grove Mobile Homes Park, Inc. is operating without a 1958 permit and also is parking house trailers illegally on land zoned for farming.

Suit was filed Monday in Circuit court for an injunction to close the trailer park, located on 10 acres along the south side of Higgins rd., west of Salt Creek, until all violations are stopped.

ASSISTANT STATE'S Attorney Richard V. Houpt identified the defendant's registered agent as Lewis Gauger, 2328 Mannheim rd., Melrose Park.

About 50 occupied house trailers are on the property illegally, the suit charged. The privately owned property adjoins Busse Woods, controlled by the forest preserve district.

A recommendation from Daniel Ryan, county board president, to purchase the 10-acres and add the land to Busse Woods preserve, is pending before a real estate advisory committee. Ryan threw his support behind this move, initiated by Paddock Publications and the mayors of Rolling Meadows, Arlington Heights, and Elk Grove Village.

Houpt said all of the property involved in the suit against Elk Grove Mobile Homes Park is classified as a farming district except the northerly 200 feet which is zoned B-2 buisness, tavern and amusement district. Trailer parks are not permitted in farming zones, Houpt said.

THE SUIT SEEKS an injunction restraining the defendants from operating a trailer park or tourist camp on any portion of the premises zoned "F" farming district. The injunction the county wants also would restrain the defendants from constructing trailer sites and structures of any kind without first obtaining permits from the county building and zoning bureau and also from the county health department.

The suit charged the trailer court firm has not applied for a 1958 permit, although notified it lacks one. (B8

Ridge Park–Sherwood

FROM SHERWOOD

The young set who went to the Saramba party at Prospect high school Saturday night came home filled with enthusiasm. Decorations were in the cabaret style, with individual tables covered with red and white checked tablecloths. The floor show was something the Sherwood youngsters won't forget for a long time. Billy Burfeind was a hit as master of ceremonies and the take-offs on the Eberle brothers and Elvis Presley were "the most." Mr. and Mrs. D. F. House and her cousin and his wife, the Chester Zimmerans helped chaperone the evening-something they wouldn't mind doing again, they said, because they enjoyed themselves so much.

ROB HOUSE and Terry Conner are proud of the power driven buckboards they have put together. They made the chassis from wagon wheels and lumber and put a power mower motor on the back. The boys have had a lot of fun with their project.

The bridge tournament that has been in full swing all winter terminated last Saturday night with a dinner at Dick's Corral. Twenty-eight couples from Sherwood were there to see prizes awarded to the winners. Several cocktail parties were held in various homes before dinner.

Several Sherwood and Ridge Park folks were at the cub scout picnic Sunday when pack 67 and 167 gathered together at Deer Grove for the last affair for the summer. Because many of them gave of their time and efforts, the picnic was a "whopping" success.

FROM RIDGE PARK

Karen Koeneman's mother, Lee, had a surprise in store for her last week when she went to a Girl Scout luncheon at Old Orchard and was presented with a 10-year service pin. Those who made up Lee's party were Mrs. Roy Kamin of Arlington Acres, Mrs. Roy Kamin Sr. of Houston, Texas, Mrs. Barnthouse, Mrs. Bernice Carlson, Mrs. Rudd and Mrs. Rosemary Whitson.

The John Durgoms had a wonderful day Sunday at a picnic given by Walt Williamson and Miss Gayle Manners on one of the islands on Rock river near Rockton. In order to get to the island the group was transported on Mr. Williamson's river cruiser which proved to be popular with the children for the entire day. There was plenty to do: baseball, boating, exploring the island and plenty of picnic food. After a day of peace and quiet, with no TV, telephones or doorbells, the Durgom family is finding it hard to settle down again.

SUSAN GROH, whose parents are the William Grohs, 912 N. Chicago, was delighted with the sailor style chemise her Grandmother and Grandfather Mauritzen brought her for her 10th birthday May 19. The family celebrated the occasion with a dinner that evening. Susan is a fourth grader at St. James school.

Newcomers to Arlington Heights are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wos, who have moved to 915 N. Chicago ave. from Galewood in Chicago. They have two children: Gregory, 11, and Nancy, 6, both students at St. James.

The welcome mat is also out to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kamin, formerly of Carpentersville, who now live at 737 N. Kennicott. There are three children in the family, Margie, 9, Bonnie, 5, and Gale, 3. Margie and Bonnie attend Ridge school.

The plastic party at Rita Wall's house May 12 was quite a success. Twenty-five friends and neighbors came to see the clever demonstration, with games and prizes to perk things up. After the ladies placed their orders, Rita served refreshments.

Friday night the Al Kluesings, Herman Koenemans and the Harry Schuldts gambled away hundreds of dollars (all play money) at Las Vegas Night, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Wheeling.

THE LEONARD Garashas, 809 Harvard, found it hard to leave New Salem park after having camped there over the weekend. They left Arlington Heights Thursday morning, in time to pitch their tent between showers that evening. The next morning they went into Springfield and visited the capitol, Lincoln's tomb and his home. The rest of the day was spent at Lincoln's village, which the Garasha boys enjoyed.

Mr. Garasha's eighth grade class came down by Greyhound bus Friday for their field trip and he and his family took them through the village before dinner at the hotel in Petersburg. To top off the weekend, Mr. Garasha's parents joined them Friday afternoon and his sister and her family came down that night, so they were able to spend Saturday together.

WHEN JOHN MEYERS, son of the H. Burt Meyers of 716 N. Ridge, went to Wrigley field with the patrol boys last Tuesday he didn't know he was going to see Stan Musial make his 3,000th hit and that he was going to get Stan's autograph on a baseball. He also has Stan's autograph on a program and on his notebook. The biggest thrill of all was when a newspaper photographer took Johnny's picture with Stan autographing his ball.

The Jerry Mockenhaupts had Al Johnson from Denver as their guest for the day Sunday.

Because Dickie Sorenson, son of the Richard Sorensens, 943 N. Kaspar, had a tonsillectomy May 9 in Belmont hospital, he had to postpone his birthday party. Dickie was 10 the end of April and the family celebrated at the time, but he has a party coming. He went back to school May 19.

There was a lot of excitement at the B. F. Battaglia house Sunday. Young James Francis was christened in St. James church and Mrs. Edward McGrath and Mr. John McNamara were proxy godparents for James McAdara of Camden, N. J., and Mrs. William Battaglia of Frenchtown, Pa. After the ceremony the Battaglias held open house.

THE LYLE HUNTLEYS, 819 N. Kaspar, had a birthday celebration at their house May 14. Tracey was one. Her great aunt, Mrs. R. S. Stephenson, came out from Chicago to see Tracey blow out the candle on her cake. She did too, and immediately Tracey put her fist in the cake. Pictures were taken, which should make a nice addition to the family's collection.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Psota and Mr. and Mrs. William Rudy were among first nighters of the Moiseyev Russian ballet Friday night. As such, they saw Carl Sandburg, Adlai Stevenson and the Russian ambassador. The two couples started the evening with dinner at the Imperial house. (A

Quiet Housewife Is First Lady School Board Prexy

Most housewives with children in school are content to attend PTA meetings and hear others tell them how the schools are run.

Not so Mrs. James G. Rice, who lives at 1551 N. George st., just north of Arlington Heights.

FIVE YEARS AGO she decided the board of education of Wilson school district, partly in and partly out of Arlington Heights, needed "a woman's viewpoint." So she ran and was elected to the school board.

That was when the board was increased from three to seven members in 1953. She has been a member ever since, longer than any other current member, and last month became the district's and the northwest area's first woman school board president.

MRS. RICE, known to her friends as Dorothy, is a quietly efficient woman who sandwiches many hours of "schoolwork" into her daily routine.

Modest to the extreme, she said she "probably talks less at board meetings than any other member" and claims she accepted the position only because "someone was needed who could be contacted at home during the day and because I would receive so much help from the very able board members."

But when questioned on school affairs, she displays a firm grasp of such technical matters as construction trends, real estate assessments and school law. She acquired all this specialized knowledge "by having the Illinois school code as my companion" during her first years on the board, she smiled.

The pleasant president served a 1-year term to start her amateur's career in education, was re-elected to a 3-year term in 1954 and again in 1957.

HER FIVE YEARS on the board have been a period of transition for the school district, she said. A few years back, in 1949 to be exact, the school was a 1-room country school with about 20 pupils.

When the Rices moved to the suburbs in 1949 and enrolled their oldest boy Dennis in the first grade, the school had only 26 children when school opened. A month later it numbered 38 and the one large room was divided by a curtained partition.

But subdivisions began sprouting on flat prairies in the sizable district and it wasn't long until additions to the facilities were needed. The school now has nine classrooms, including two first grades, with a total enrollment of 288 plus 54 in a privately-operated kindergarten.

TWO SUBDIVISIONS are now rising in the district, Lynnwood and Hasbrock, and their students will flock into the school next fall.

"This year things went along smoothly but we're worried about next year," commented the president. "We've a whole summer of building ahead of us and so many houses could be built."

There is no bonding power available to finance construction of more classrooms but a teacher's room, a library a multi-purpose room and a room now used by the kindergarten could be converted to classroom use if necessary.

While the seriousness of the pupil squeeze next year is still unknown, another problem is now being ironed out. A board committee is seeking to annex the school site to the village of Arlington Heights. This will allow the school to connect its sewer to the village main and relieve a troublesome health menace.

WILSON SCHOOL district had one of the liveliest school board-subdivider battles in the area in the summer of 1956. All summer long residents picketed a model home advising home shoppers to investigate the school situation before buying. It ended with the builder agreeing to donate funds for school construction.

What with her husband in the building trades, doesn't that lead to some arguments over the breakfast table?

No, replied Mrs. Rice with a laugh. Her husband is a carpenter, not a home builder, and he does mostly remodeling jobs. But she said another woman member was married to a builder and contended along with most builders that they shouldn't be forced to shoulder the burden of school construction. She was a lone voice in board discussions on the topic.

SCHOOL PROBLEMS have changed along with the district since she joined the board five years ago. No longer can a whole neighborhood argue over a trivial school problem because the 8-party telephone lines are a thing of the past.

But as Wilson school passes from a country school to a suburban school, Mrs. Rice will continue to stress the need for a woman on the school board.

After all, she concluded, "Many things that come up at board meetings have to do with the children's welfare. And where children are concerned, there are things men just don't think of."

This Week with PTA

Every child received a license application and 623 children purchased their licenses at school. This was the first time licenses were sold at schools and it proved a very successful innovation. (A

Zoners OK Distribution Station Plea

A request for a zoning variation to permit construction of an electrical distribution station on Foundry rd. was approved by the Arlington Heights zoning board Monday.

There were no objections from residents of the area. The request was for a variation for a lot on the north side of Foundry (Kensington) rd., about 500 feet east of Donald ave. The property is several hundred feet west of the northwest corner of the Prospect high school property. There are no homes within a block of the property.

R. J. SEITZ, district superintendent for Public Service co., said the proposed station would serve an area within a radius of one mile. It would be the fourth such station in the village limits.

The variation is from a residential use to a comemrcial use although the site is now used for farming. A proposal to locate the station 1500 feet west brought objections last year.

The station will consist of a transformer placed on a concrete pad and located on a landscaped lot 132 by 66 feet. Seitz said it probably will be constructed this year.

The variation will now go to the village board for final approval. (AF

Sales Ahead Of Last Year

April real estate sales by Baird and Warner, for the sixth consecutive month, were well ahead of the same period last year, reports Stewart B. Matthews, vice president and general sales manager.

The company sold 103 properties in April for $3,093,007, compared with 88 sales for $2,502,312 in April of 1957. This represents an increase of 17.04 per cent in number and 23.6 per cent in volume.

At the end of four months in 1958, Baird and Warner has made 355 sales for $12,897,047. This is a 13.9 per cent increase in volume over the 358 sales made in 1957 in the same period for $11,319,116.

"Activity has been excellent in all types of property," Matthews said, "with prices holding firm."

He attributed the active April market to an easing of credit restrictions. (BB

Rules Outlined

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier this week reminded station wagon owners they may license those vehicles as passenger cars, provided they are not used to carry more than seven persons nor have been remodeled for the primary purpose of carrying freight.

Station wagons used to carry more than seven persons or remodeled to carry freight must be licensed as second division vehicles, Carpentier said.

In a recent opinion, Attorney General Latham Castle held that second division vehicles, as defined by law, would not include station wagons unless one of the two conditions concerning number of passengers carried or remodeling for freight use is present, Carpentier pointed out. (BB

Students Need Social Security

If you plan to take a job this summer you'll need a social security account card, Julius Berman, northwest district manager of the social security administration, reminded students today.

Your employer will ask to see your card when you start on the job because he must copy the name and social security account number into his records exactly as shown on the card. He needs this information for the quarterly social security report he is required to make of your earnings.

If you already have a social security card, be sure to take it with you when you go on a job this summer. If you have lost your card, go to the social security office and get a duplicate card before starting on a job this year. If you have never had a card, you should get one from your social security office before you report for work in a job covered by the social security law.

"We've found from experience," said Berman, "that many youngsters don't recall their mothers' maiden name. This information is requested on the application form and students can avoid inconvenience by having the name available." (BB

Avionics Firm Buys 50 Acres At Barrington

Chicago Aerial Industries has purchased a fifty acre plant site in Barrington. The new site will eventually replace existing facilities and provide for the company's expansion needs.

CAI is a leading developer and manufacturer of target location, reconnaissance and sensing systems and equipments for aircraft and missiles. The company has enlarged its present quarters five times since 1951 and sales are 400 per cent greater than in 1951.

No dates or plans for construction have been announced but CAI is contemplating making the new facility considerably larger than its present one. The new plant is expected to provide modern production facilities for highly technical missile and aircraft products in addition to enlarged research and engineering facilities. (BB

Small Car Buying Mood Increases

Is the "Volkswagen mood" a fad, or an actual revolt by the American car buyer? Sales indicate it is still pretty much of a fad, as combined sales of all economy cars represent only some three and one half per cent of the total U. S. car sales. The demand has not yet been great enough to push Detroit into the small car business.

Nevertheless, sales of small, economy cars are making spectacular gains in the U. S. market, according to Changing Times magazine. Americans will buy 300,000 foreign made midgets this year and 75,000 American built cars, the magazine predicts.

Those planning to turn in a big American car on a small economy car should be aware of a few things.

The old car will probably have to be sold by the owner. A big percentage of foreign car sales are "clean deals," meaning no cash trade-ins. It may be possible to make a deal if the old car is an older, less expensive model, and the economy does not have a waiting list.

The price of the economy car is fairly well fixed with little bargaining room for the dealer. Small autos do not ordinarily have a price pack, which is the extra profit many dealers in American cars add on to the suggested retail price to allow more bargaining room.

The price of the economy car will often include several options such as radio, turn signals, and heater, though some models carry lists of optional equipment as long as those that go with American makes.

Generally, service and parts are readily available for the more popular foreign makes, although some imports as yet are confined to east and west coast areas, with little sales penetration inland.

There won't be much chance of an import going out of date next year, since stability of model design is one of the appealing features of Eruopean cars. (BB

RENT this Carrier ROOM AIR CONDITIONER

FOR RENT $7.50 PER MONTH

Nobody Understands Me Any More!

POLK'S HORSE-SENSE FACTS FOR ANYONE THINKING ABOUT BUYING A ROOM AIR CONDITIONER:

Time was when "hp" meant horsepower, and was a term generally applied to the pulling power of an engine.

In the case of room air conditioners, the reference to "1 hp," "1½ hp," or "2 hp" units has lost all relation to cooling capacity, which can be accurately rated in BTU's.

A "BTU" is a unit of physical measurement of the energy required to alter the temperature of a specific quantity of water—or, in the case of air conitioners, room air.

Some room air conditioners that are rated as "1 hp" units can vary in actual cooling capacity as much as from 6300 BTU's per hour to 14,000 BTU's per hour. Therefore we at Polk Bros. are convinced that the "horsepower" size label when applied to room air conditioners has become confusing.

In conformance to the official standards of the Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Institute and in order to provide our customers with the most accurate information about the rated cooling capacity (performance!) Polk Bros. will tag all the national brand room air conditioners in our stores with BTU per hour rating, in addition to regular horsepower capacity.

It's just plain horse sense to insist on knowing the performance capabilities of the room air conditioner you buy!

Set Load Limits for County Roads

(CNS)—Cook county has the authority to impose load limits on its 600 miles of secondary roads, according to a legal opinion from State's Attorney Adamowski.

An ordinance to put weight limitations on the roads is being drafted for the county board by William J. Mortimer, county highway superintendent.

THE ORDINANCE is aimed especially at big trucks that are damaging roads not designed to take pounding from heavy loads.

Mortimer said the load limit project is expected to be completed this summer.

"We're taking each road by itself which means we'll have to present a resolution for each road," Mortimer said. (B8

Honor Top Northwestern Engineering Senior

Donald A. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Miller, 223 S. Albert st., Mt. Prospect, received the coveted Eshbach award May 16, during the annual meeting of the Northwestern University Engineering Alumni association.

Miller, a senior in the electrical engineering department of the Northwestern University Technological institute, was selected on the basis of scholastic leadership and participation in extra-curricular activities.

The award, presented annually to the institute's outstanding senior, is named in honor of the late Dean Ovid W. Eshbach, who died March 4. The first Eshbach award was presented in 1948, to Robert B. Banks, who is now chairman of the Institute's department of civil engineering.

Miller, 27, is a native of Chicago and a graduate of Palatine high school. He served in the air force for four years prior to entering the technological institute in 1954.

Currently serving as editor of the Northwestern Engineer, student quarterly magazine, he has been president of Tau Beta Pi, national honorary engineering fraternity, and has held positions in the student organizations Eta Kappa Nu, an electrical engineering honorary and in the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and Institute of Radio Engineers.

Miller will continue his studies in electrical engineering under a National Science Foundation predoctoral fellowship awarded earlier this year. He plans to remain at Northwestern for this study.

Eshbach was dean of the institute from its founding in 1939 until 1953. He was active in teaching of engineering until his death.

Forest, Palatine, was selected as a member of the Queen's court for the Class Day exercises at Blackburn college in Carlinville May 10. Each year at Blackburn outstanding freshman women students are invited to serve as attendants to the Queen on Class Day, one of the major social events of the year. To be invited by the Queen and her two principal attendants to be a member of the royal court is one of the highest non-academic honors at Blackburn.

Class day festivities, with traditions dating back to 1881, are one of the highlights of the year. In addition to the crowning of the Queen and the presentation of her court, the activities include reading of the senior class poem, history, will and prophecy. A gift to the college from the graduating class is also presented, and various campus music groups entertain. (CC

THE CHURCH HAS A BIRTHDAY

We usually say that the birthday of the Church is Pentecost Sunday, fifty days after Easter. What has the church accomplished through the long centuries? She has successfully fought slavery and dueling. Monogamous marriage has been established in many countries. The church founded the first hospital, and many more since. She is the mother of our greatest universities. Freedom and democracy are her children.

Arlington Little League Opens with 38 Games

Good Pitching, Plucky Hitting In 6 Leagues, 42 Teams to Play

Some good pitching and plucky hitting feature the opening of Arlington Heights' Little Leagues last week. Action began in 6 leagues, majors, intermediate, and junior.

Scheduled to start the end of this month are the Pony and Babe Ruth leagues for older boys.

In all, some 38 games were played. Most decisive victory was that of the Angels in the South Side Junior league, a 12-1 win over the Beavers. Tightest battle was the Braves' 2-1 edging of the Cards in the National League.

HITTING HERO was the Buckeyes' Phil Bin, who pounded 2 home runs in a 6-5 win against the Oaks in a South Side Junior league contest. Jim Loughman paced the moundsmen with 14 strikeouts as he limited his opponents to 2 hits while pitching for the Badgers in a North Side Junior league game.

Rated "slugfest of the week" was the Dons-Huskies battle in the South Side Intermediate. The 2 teams shared 17 hits as the Dons won 12-10. There were no shutouts and no extra inning games.

National League

Two runs in the fifth inning gave the Braves a 2-1 decision over the Cards. Korlath held the Birds to only one hit while his mates managed 3 off of Guilfoil. Neither team made an error in the pitchers' battle.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

ARLINGTON GOLFERS once again proved masters of West Suburban league circles when the varsity counted its fifth title and the frosh-sophs their fourth. Varsity linksmen copped the WSC honor in '51, '52, '55 and '56. Yearlings won their share in '54, '56 and '57. Final setup on golf in the West Suburban league, with Heights taking six of a possible eight medals in the varsity, and six of a possible eight ribbons in the frosh-soph division:

VARSITY					FROSH-SOPHS
Pres Cup	School	Duals	Tourney	Total Pts.	Pres Cup	School	Duals	Tourney	Ttl. Pts.
1	Arlington	1	1	2	1	Arlington	3-T	1	5
2	Hinsdale	2-T	2	5	2	LaGrange	1	5	6
3	LaGrange	2-T	3	6	3	Maine	3-T	3	7

7	R-B	7-T	6-T	14	7	Glenbard	7	7	14
8	Glenbard	7-T	8	15½	8	Downers	8	8	16

Interesting note: frosh-soph teams that finished 3-4-5-6 in duals, won the tourney placing 1-2-3-4, as LaGrange saw its title hopes smashed in a short burst of temper and disqualification.

Moehling and Lindstrom, Arlington varsity golfers who failed to quality for team competition in the state finals, shot well enough in the state as individuals to have moved the Cardinals up to third instead of ninth. Payoff is still on action when needed, not big IF"s, however.

Heights golfers will entertain the state champs, Joliet Catholic, at Old Orchard Monday.

No. 1 Joliet Catholic golfer, by the way, also failed to qualify for the team competition by not shooting well enough in the district, then was medalist in the state final. Ed Moehling of Arlington, second medalist in the state final, had the same sad tale.

SIXTEEN TROPHIES—that's the record of spring sports teams at Arlington where athletic director Wally Grace is holding the awards, trying not to break them before having them presented to the student body in a special assembly Wednesday of next week. Latest awards copped by Heights were varsity and frosh-soph golf titles Monday of this week, following the district golf championship of last week.

Track squad won all the others, including 880 relay and 440 frosh-soph relay awards in the Palatine Relays. Title award for the Lake Shore varsity meet at Waukegan is another.

Included in the loot are nine Hinsdale Relay trophies. There's the team title award—two traveling trophies for shot put and discus which Cardinals retired this time. There are also six more traveling trophies that the Heights runners hope to retire in the future. Then there's the third place trophy from the state track meet.

THE NAMES of three boys will be engraved on that state track meet award. There'll be Bob Mors, first in the 440; Bob Lockwood, second in low hurdles and third in high hurdles; and Jack Weber, fifth in the shot put. Behind that trophy and the engraving are a few dramatic moments in the final minutes of the state meet when Heights had a good chance to finish second, then placed third just ¾ of a point out of second. With just two events to go Arlington had 13 points for second, New Trier had 8¾ for third.

LeRoy Jackson was expected to beat Zach Ford of New Trier in the 220, giving New Trier four points, ¼ behind Arlington.

Jackson pulled up lame, however, with leg cramps that were verified by Card athletic director Wally Grace, and Zach Ford won this event for five points, putting New Trier ahead of the locals by ¾ of a point. Cardinals still had a chance to take over second, though, in the final event, the mile relay.

The local mile relay foursome was one of the six finalists, and had but to place fifth to cinch second spot.

The relay squad failed to better its time. Two other schools did better theirs and Heights was still in sixth with no points and third place in the final standings. Side note: Jack Weber's fifth place shot put toss was just ¼ inch away from fourth. If he had heaved the weight ⅝" more, once again Arlington would have second place. Cardinals placed fifth in the state last year, with the third place finish this time their best on record.

ARLINGTON SCORED another record when Thurston Brown and Keith Butterfield won their first three doubles matches in the state meet, then lost to state champ Hinsdale in the semi-finals. This pair, who usually played singles for Coach Ken Schaller, led Arlington to its best season in tennis history.

On the other side of the ledger for Heights this past week were the two losses suffered by the freshmen baseball teams bowing to Palatine.

Arlington trimmed the young Pirates earlier on the Palatine diamonds, but Palatine won the two games on the Heights diamonds. Arlington JV baseball squad, by the way, dropped its only game of the year to Niles, 8-2.

Dick Youngberg, outstanding golf product of Glenbrook high, has been forced out of play at U. of Michigan because of an appendectomy.

We've often been amused by glaring sports errors in the metropolitan press, but were dumbfounded Tuesday to see that one paper had Arlington tied for the North Suburban league baseball lead with Crystal Lake and Zion-Benton . . . Arlington bowler Ruth Hertel gained another headline over the weekend when her 622 in the singles of the WIBC tourney on the west coast stood up and she was acclaimed singles champ.

Arlington Golfers Win Both WSC Championships

Arlington high school golfers won the conference championships of both varsity and frosh-soph divisions at Arrowhead country club Monday, shooting a 4-man total of 310 in the varsity and a 3-man mark of 253 in the frosh-soph half.

Varsity victory was a strong possibility, but the frosh-soph title was a surprise. Young Cardinals had hoped to place second or third, but a disqualification of a La Grange boy vaulted the locals into the title.

ED MOEHLING led the way in the conference tourney with 73. Three boys tied for second medalist, each with 77. Arlington's Al Kruse won second place medal in a sudden death, Parker of Hinsdale placed third and Tewksburry of La Grange fourth.

Team scores for Arlington varsity, coached by Ed Spacapan, were Moehling 73, Al Kruse 77, Dave Ebert 80, Bob Sbarbaro 80 and Rick Lindstrom 80. Latter three played for two medals, with Lindstrom losing out.

Team scores of the WSC includes sum of position finishes in both duals and conference tournament. Cardinals placed first in both, cinching the title. Hinsdale finished second with tie for second in duals, and second in the tourney, 6 strokes behind the locals.

Tourney scores:

Arlington	310	Downers	328
Hinsdale	316	R-B	332
La Grange	321	York	332
Maine	327	Glenbard	340

BOB McDOWELL was low man for the frosh-sophs in taking the conference tournament Monday, tying for medalist with Verhoven of Riverside-Brookfield. Verhoven won the actual medal in a playoff. Ralph Ibbotson won third place medal with 81, with Morrell of Maine and Urhig of York tying for fourth.

La Grange had won the duals competition undefeated, followed by Hinsdale in second and Arlington, Maine and York tied for third. An unsportsmanlike act by Milligan of La Grange on the 17th green disqualified him, dropping his team from first to fifth, and costing the young Lions the title.

YOUNG CARDINALS had definitely cinched second place. Conference coaches voted to disqualify Milligan, who had come in with an 83, for stabbing the flag pole into the green, damaging the turf, and interfering with the play of other golfers.

This meant the championship for Arlington. Coach Ozzie Aldrich had entered just four boys in the tourney. First three counted for team, with Bob McDowell shooting 80, Ralph Ibbotson 81, Roger Haenggi 92 and Al Feige 96.

Tourney scores:

Arlington	253	La Grange	271
R-B	257	Hinsdale	272
Maine	259	Glenbard	279
York	262	Downers	296

Heights Golfers Ninth in State

Arlington's golf team finished ninth in the state meet last weekend, 18 strokes behind state champ Joliet Catholic. The Joliet champions will oppose Arlington at Old Orchard country club Monday, May 26, in the final golf match of the year for Heights.

Ed Moehling, one of the Cardinals' top golfers who failed to qualify for the state team event in the district, but made it as an individual, was second medalist at Champaign with rounds of 75 and 78.

ED WON the sudden death playoff for second place medal after a six-way tie at 153. Other Arlington golfers shooting as individuals, not as part of the team, were Rick Lindstrom with 84-79:163; and Walter Borman with 85-82:167.

The four-man team, plus alternate, of Coach Ed Spacapan, included Dave Ebert with 80-79:159; Bob Sbarbara 82-82:164; Al Kruse 81-83:164; John Double 82-83:165; (team 652); and Dwight Pate 87-84:171. (Sp

Card Netmen End Best Year

Arlington doubles team of Thurston Brown and Keith Butterfield gave a good account of themselves in the State tennis meet. Seeded eighth in a field of 32 teams, the Arlington boys beat Sullivan of Chicago, Oak Park and Decatur in the three rounds on Friday.

With the field reduced to four teams Arlington faced the Hinsdale team of Leary and Thorne on Saturday morning. After dropping the first set 6-2, Arlington led 5-3 in the second set, but eventually lost 7-5. Thorne and Leary went on to a victory in the finals to become State Doubles champions. Their six points and Marty Riessen's five gave Hinsdale 11 points and the coveted State title.

ON TUESDAY in the West Suburban Conference tennis meet Arlington's varsity won all five first round matches. In the second round, however, only Keith Butterfield, second singles, and Jim Erickson, third singles, came through to qualify for Wednesday's finals. The seven points won on the first day assured Arlington of a second place finish in the league—the highest in the school's history.

On the Frosh-Soph level Ron Barnes, Steve Scheffer, and the doubles team of Ken Moudry and Wayne Meyer won first round victories. Only Steve Scheffer made it to the finals. The points won should assure Coach Farris' boys of a fourth place finish in the league.

Boosters Battle Dolton At Recreation Sunday

Sunday afternoon, classy Cavillini Villa Nova of Dolton, Illinois will make what might be, its only 1958 Arlington appearance against Black's Boosters in Recreation Park at 2:30.

The contest between the two clubs, both 1-1 in the Greater Chicago Semi-pro Baseball League, will launch the third week of league competition.

Cavilini's, after a 5-4 opening day win over the Chicago Vets May 11th, were bombed and completely indoctrinated into the Greater Chicago League, absorbing a 14-3 loss from the surprising Kolski Boosters last Sunday.

Black's, scheduled to meet the same club June 22 also at Arlington, but undecided because of the possibility of participating in the Aurora District the same day, handed Kenny Construction 6 unearned runs in Chicago Heights to give the new entrant their second straight victory 8-3.

Villa Nova, managed by Bill Woosnam, will bring to town an impressive two year ('56-'57) record of 94 wins and 26 losses, compiled mostly while playing out of Chicago's other major semi-pro league, The Greater Midwest, and free lancing.

Woosnam will field practically the same squad this year as he did last when the Arlington Heights Redwings and Dick Bokelmann whipped them for the Chicago District championship and the right to play in the state finals 7-5.

In addition to their lofty record, Villa Nova will boast a starting nine composed almost entirely of former minor leaguers, typical of the caliber of play in the Greater Chicago League. Righthander Lyle Button, with 3 years minor league experience, will probably oppose Bokelmann.

Jock Robertson, a P. K. Wrigley employee with the old Los Angeles Angels for 3 years, will start in one of the garden positions.

Umps, Scorers Needed in Heights Litttle League

Arlington Heights Little League has hundreds of boys eager to play ball. Good managers, coaches, fine equipment and uniforms have been supplied; but the program is in serious difficulty because of the lack of umpires.

Baseball season extends from May 17 to July 30. Even occasional assistance from men and high school upper classmen would be most welcome, in order to keep the baseball program functioning.

ANYONE WILLING to help even for a few games is asked to contact Howard Jarvis at CL 5-5446.

Official scorers are also needed. Anyone who can help with the scoring is asked to call John Garrity at CL 5-2388.

YMCA Industrial Softball League Seeks One Team

With the opening practice game scheduled for May 27 at 5:30 p.m., the Northwest Suburban YMCA industrial softball league still has room for one more team in the 6-team league.

Games are played each Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. at the Maine high school softball diamonds, with the first game slated for June 3. The league continues through August.

Teams now entered are Charles Bruning Co. of Mt. Prospect, General Telephone Directory Co. of Des Plaines, Universal Oil Co. of Des Plaines, Arlington Milk Co. of Arlington Heights and Fastex Division of Illinois Tool of Des Plaines.

Entry is open to teams of individual companies, and rosters are open to as many names as desired, the only stipulation being that the employees must be on the payroll. Those interested may receive further information by calling Cliff Lothery at the 'Y' office, Va 4-4156. (Sp

4-Run First Means Win For Card Soph

A big 4 run first inning brought a 6-3 victory to Arlington's frosh-soph baseballers Monday afternoon at Hinsdale.

The young Cards, paced by Jim Blake's 3 hits in 4 at bats, collected 6 hits and their fifth victory in 10 starts this season. Phil Gustafson did the pitching for the locals, limiting the Red Devils to 5 hits while striking out 10.

AFTER GENE Dahlquist was hit with a pitched ball to begin the contest, Blake socked a fly ball which the right fielder lost in the sun, resulting in a home run.

Another hit batsman, errors, and Bob Leekley single accounted for 2 more runs before the first inning was over.

BLAKE'S SINGLE and 3 walks produced a single tally in the fourth inning. The final counter came in the sixth on Blake's single, an error, and Gustafson's base hit.

Hinsdale scored single runs in the second, fourth, and sixth innings, but never got a full-fledged rally going. (Sp

Friday, May 23—Arlington Hts.

Monday, May 26—North Chicago.

Although the varsity track team lost to Elmwood Park 70-47 and the Sophs also losing 80-62, the thinclads are continuing to show marked improvement. Having very little experience, this being their first year of competition, they are continuing to gain points with each track meet they have entered.

THE ONLY BRIGHT spot in last week's sport calendar was the Notre Dame golf team which was victorious in their matches against New Trier 8½ to 6½ and St. Procopious of Lisle 12½ to 2½. Mike Sweeney of Arlington Hts. shot in the low eighties scoring 3 points for his team in each game. (Sp

Fastest 220 Man Failed To Report for Title Run

by BILL BECKMAN

The 64th annual Illinois state track meet is now history. However, a few comments on the meet might be of interest.

Bloom successfully defended its championship and from the looks of things will turn the trick again in 1959. Many of the boys gaining points for the Trojans were underclassmen and will be back next year.

The high wind on Saturday played an important part in some of the slow times. Contrast the time of LeRoy Jackson, a :09.8 in the 100-yard dash semi-finals and the :10.3 in the finals Saturday.

SAM HARRIS of East St. Louis Lincoln qualified for the semi-finals in the 220 with a :21.2. This was the fastest time recorded in the state this year. However, Harris failed to qualify for the finals as he was reporting to the officials lining up the 880 yard relay team he missed his heat in the 220.

Not to take anything away from state mile champion Frank Ballinger of Mooseheart, but some observers wonder if the outcome of the mile might have been a little different if Mark Mullin of Mt. Carroll would have run a little smarter race.

MULLIN RAN the entire first ¾ of a mile in the second lane as he attempted to pass an unknown boy in red who was setting the pace. The unknown pace maker faded in the final lap and Mullin took over. However, he could not withstand the final kick of Ballinger and lost the race by just a couple of steps.

The most confident competitor in the stadium was Evanston's Jim Ashmore. Every hurdle race is just another warmup to Ashmore. It is rumored the Evanston ace will attend Compton Junior college in California.

WE DOUBT if the state meet has ever seen a more picturesque runner than Arlington's Bob Mors the quarter mile champion. Of course, we might be slightly prejudiced.

6'7" Bob Sharpenter of Marmion Military academy found that in previous meets when he warmed up too much his distance in the discus was cut down. So Sharpenter, with no warmup at all, broke the state record with a terrific throw of 169'8". This broke the existing state record by some 7 feet.

Big Joe Connelly of Heyworth was easily the class of the shot putters as he hoisted the iron ball 57'3⅛", the second best throw ever recorded in the state meet.

A GOOD MANY of the competitors were members of the 1957 all-state football team: LeRoy Jackson Bloom, Frank Johnson, New Trier, Larry Ferguson, Madison, Willie Terry, East St. Louis, Jim Pappas, Oak Park, Jack Weber, Arlington Heights, Steve Thomas, Urbana, and Ed O'Bradovich, Proviso.

All in all this was one of the finest meets in the 65-year history.

Frosh 9 Loses to Palatine

Arlington high school freshman 'A' baseball squad dropped two games this past week, bowing to Palatine, 8-2, and losing to Glenbard, 6-5. The Palatine win was revenge for a previous whipping administered at the hands of Coach Frank Bohac's charges.

Card yearlings gained first blood in the second when Empkie singled, stole second, went to third on an infield out and stole home on a passed ball.

PALATINE TOOK the lead in the third with four runs. Helms walked, Rose and Phillips singled, loading the bases. Hicks singled, scoring Helms and Rose. Wolf then singled, with two more runs coming in with the help of a couple of poor throws.

Young Pirates added another tally in the fourth when O'Reilly and Peterson singled. Phillips singled, stole second and scored when Wolf singled in the fifth for Palatine.

ARLINGTON came through with its second and final run in the fifth when Voigt reached first on an error, stole second and scored on a double by Starol.

Palatine tallied its final runs in the seventh. Phillips reached first on an error, stole second and scored when Hicks singled. Wolf singled, scoring Hicks.

On the mound for the winners was Helms, with Beckway twirling for Arlington.

GLENBARD tallied three times the opening frame against Heights freshmen Tuesday. Arlington came back with a run in the second when Zaden singled, went to second when Quackenbush singled, and scored when both Thorne and Anderson walked.

Young Bards came right back in their half to tally three more on three walks and a single. Heights started shortening the margin in the third on walks to Froyd, Empkie and Quackenbush, and a single by Zadel.

VOIGT SINGLED to start things in the fourth, stole second and third, and scored on Beckway's sacrifice to center.

Arlington scored its final run in the seventh when Beckway doubled, held while Froyd walked, then scored when Zadel was safe on an error. (Sp

Black's Boosters Boot Ball, 8-3

by RANDY THOMAS

Arlington Heights, the community reputed to be the city of friendly neighbors, left no doubt in the minds of Chicago Heights baseball fans and members of their favorite team, Kenny Construction, as to why they claim that title.

Black's Boosters, the friendly community's Semi-pro representative, displayed an abundance of generosity in giving Kenny six unearned runs last Sunday and presenting the Chicago Heights team an 8-3 gift.

Not only did Black's lose from a monetary standpoint, but more important they gave away what could have been their second straight win, 3-2.

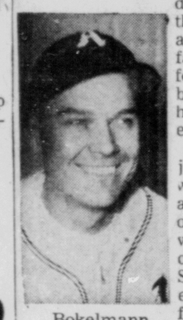
SATURDAY afternoon at Recreation Park Black's will face their non-league opponent, Lake Forest, at 3:00 as a tune-up for Sunday's home affair with Cavillini Villa Nova. John Sujack will be bidding for victory number two. Last year the two clubs split a pair of games.

Dick Bokelmann, the starter and loser for Arlington last Sunday, allowed all the Kenny runs and though no fault of his own found himself behind 8-2 when he departed after six innings.



Bokelmann

The Boosters jumped right on winner Tom Ryan, who shut out Skokie a week earlier 5-0 on 1 hit, as Ed Scheppes walked to open the first. The next two batters flied deep to center and when Tony Esposito singled sharply through the middle, it appeared as though a field day was in the making. However, Bill Sutherland tapped to the mound retiring the side.

Black's got a run in the second without a hit on two walks, an error and a sacrifice fly to take a short-lived 1 run lead.

KENNY TIED it legitimately with a 350 foot homerun over the rightfield fence by third baseman Joe Rivich in their half. Two more hits and a wild pick-off attempt by catcher Ed Meinken provided the first of six unearned markers and a 2-1 Kenny advantage, which they never relinquished.

After Bokelmann retired his 9th consecutive batsman for one out in the fifth, the Boosters demonstrated their "give-away policy" which paid off for five cheap runs. Local 3rd baseman Dick Lloyd fumbled and threw late on an easy chance which would have been out number two. Ryan singled to left, but then Ron Ashley dropped Bokelmann's throw of a tap toward third which he fielded in time for what should have been the third out.

WITH BASES loaded and only one ball hit through the infield, Lloyd fielded another weak tip and threw wildly to the plate, trying for a force, two runs scoring. Another came across on a wild pitch and a couple of more hits added the fourth and fifth before order was restored. The Arlington hurler pitched one more gopher ball to backstop Roger White who pounded a high fast ball over the right-center field fence for their eighth run in the sixth.

The Boosters scored two more single tallies in the sixth and ninth on Ashley's triple, an infield out and Scheppes' double and Lou Schairers' second hit of the day.

Arlington stranded 11 runners again, bringing the total for two games to 22. They put at least one man on in every frame and had Ryan on the ropes as early as the first inning, but couldn't marshall their forces.

The one bright sidelight of Sunday's game was the effective two inning relief stint of lefty Bob Miller. Miller struck out four in facing eight men while exhibiting good control and a live fastball.

Card 9 Shells La Grange, R-B; Bombed at Hinsdale

Hinsdale's Red Devils spoiled a week of perfect baseball for Arlington's Cardinals when they bombed the locals 15-10 Monday afternoon. The Cards whipped LaGrange, 9-5, and Riverside-Brookfield, 9-1, but failed against the Devils.

THE VICTORY at LaGrange was the second of the season over the Lions. John Oberg went the distance for the locals, although touched for 9 hits.

He got fine support at the plate, especially from second baseman Al Hutchinson, who had 3 hits in 4 trips. Jim Peery and Al Sanders contributed 2 hits apiece to the victory.

ARLINGTON GOT off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning when Dennis Thill walked, Hutchinson singled, an error was committed, and Peery singled. After LaGrange had tied the score in the bottom of the first, the Birds bounced back with another pair in the third.

Hutchinson's single started things. Lee Magnuson's single, a hit batsman, and Peery's single brought in the markers. Walks to Zimmerman and Peery and a single by Sanders produced a single run in the fifth.

BEFORE THE locals could relax with the 5-2 lead, LaGrange tallied 2 runs in the bottom of the fifth on 2 singles and a triple.

The Cards iced the contest in the sixth when singles by Hutchinson and Peery and a double by Dick Nickelsen spurred a 4 run uprising. Oberg fanned the side in the seventh after relinquishing a single run in the sixth.

THREE BIG innings spelled defeat for the Cards at Hinsdale. The winners scored 4 times in the first, 6 times in the fourth, and 4 times in the sixth. They added one in the second as a teaser.

Arlington also had some big innings—4 in the third and 6 in the fifth—but failed to catch the Devils.

OBERG'S WILDNESS got him into trouble in the first inning as he walked 3 and gave up one single. George Bork replaced him on the mound in the second, and Dave Soenksen came on later in the contest.

Arlington outhit the winners 13-9. They placed 5 of these hits in the thirid when they tallied 4 times. Hutchinson, Nickelsen, Magnuson, Peery and Wille had successive singles.

ARLINGTON batted around in the fifth, and Ralph Wille performed the difficult feat of collecting 2 hits in the same inning. Dennis Thill had the stanza's only other safety.

Magnuson and Wille had 3 hits apiece for the day, and Thill and Nickelsen each added 2 blows to the cause.

OBERG WAS his natural self again on Tuesday afternoon, allowing the R-B Bulldogs only 3 hits. He lost a shutout in the fifth inning when 2 errors produced an unearned run for the losers.

Arlington had on its hitting clothes as the Birds socked 13 hits, paced by Jim Peery's 3 singles in 4 times at bat. Magnuson and Wille each had a single and a double, Nickelsen and Hutchinson had 2 singles apiece, and Thill had a leadoff triple to his credit.

The Cards scored twice in the first, 4 times in the third, once in the fifth, and twice in the seventh. The game was a replay of an earlier contest which ended in a 4-4 tie. (Sp

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

SATURDAY the first annual Tri-County Conference track and field meet will be held at Palatine's Ost Field. The Palatine team has taken the Northwest Conference the past 10 years in a row but are likely to have to take second place behind North Chicago this season. North Chicago won both the football and basketball championships and appear to have a good chance of a complete sweep in major sports. They whipped the Pirates in a dual meet last Wednesday by a 40-point margin and the week before won the Lake County title. In baseball North Chicago beat Palatine and is tied for first place with the return game with the Pirates scheduled for the last game of the season at Palatine May 29. In late years Palatine has had its strongest teams in spring sports but they will have to rise to the occasion in these next two weeks if they are going to salvage at least one of the conference championships in major sports.

North Chicago's colored contingent is more in evidence in track than in baseball with Fred Scott in hurdles and the jumps and Jimmy Jones in the dashes two of the outstanding athletes in Lake County. These two boys should be good for 24 points between them next Saturday afternoon. On top of this, North Chicago has good boys in the field events where Palatine is weak and has a miler who has beaten Palatine's Dan Kusek twice since Kusek won the Palatine Relays mile.

A LOT OF PEOPLE look upon track as a sport in which a lot of drudgery exists and wonder what fun boys get out of running, jumping, and throwing. We used to wonder about this years ago when we played on the college baseball team and saw the track boys sweating through calisthenics and jogging endless laps on the track. Spectators seemed to have the same opinion with good crowds appearing for baseball games and a handful to watch the unsung hero who won the mile or the pole vault. Since then our opinion has changed a lot about track. By chance we had to coach track at Palatine High for many years and learned to like it better than any other sport because of the type of boys it developed.

We have come to look upon baseball as a recreational type of sport in high school but track as the real body builder and molder of character. This past week we read an article on the subject, "What is a Trackman?", which we think is so well written and tells the story so well that we have taken the liberty of quoting it from "The Coach" a trade paper published by the Lowe and Campbell Sporting Goods Company. This article is written by Brother Marshal of C.F.X. Xaverian Brothers, Baltimore, Maryland.

BETWEEN the innocence of boyhood and the dignity of manhood we find an intrepid creature called the trackman. Trackmen come in assorted weights, heights, shapes, jersey colors and insignia, but all have the same burning drive: to compete every second of every event with every ounce of power and determination in their makeup.

Trackmen are found everywhere; running, coasting, driving, jumping, vaulting, hurdling, putting, throwing, doing calesthenics, passing competitors or breasting a tape. Teammates bump them, opponents push or spike them, students ignore them, officials disqualify them, kid brothers wonder at them, coaches criticize them, girls can't see them, alumni neglect them, mothers worry over them, and fathers can't understand why they aren't out for football or basketball.

When your team is behind in a meet, a trackman is incompetent, lazy, uncoordinated, breaking training, quitting, careless and stupid. Just when your team is about to win a meet, he drops a baton, pulls a muscle, develops a stitch, gets spiked, falls down, makes a too wide turn, steps out of a circle, hits a hurdle, knocks off a bar, or forgets to show up for the finals.

A trackman is a composite creature. He eats like a college squad, sleeps like one, and runs like a grammar school tyro. To opponents he has the speed of a gazelle, the jumping ability of a kangaroo, the strength of an ox, the endurance of a camel, and the ability of Greg Bell, Tom Courtney, Parry O'Brien, Bobby Morrow, Jesse Owens, Charley Dumas and Charlie Jenkins—all in one.

TO HIS OWN COACH (for press purposes) he has the fleetness of a snail, the endurance of a sloth and the agility of an elephant. He's held together by adhesive tape and sponge rubber, mounted on broken spikes, and has as much chance of competing in the big meet as has his great granduncle.

To the alumnus who knows track, a trackman is someone who will never run as fast, jump as far, throw as adeptly, hurdle as gracefully or score as many points or generate the same amount of spirit as did the runners of his own yesteryear.

A trackman likes days off, trips away from home, getting out of school early for a meet, light practice sessions, short runs, medals, records, scholarships and the quiet satisfaction that comes from being part of a winning relay team.

A trackman is a wonderful character. He can be criticized, but not discouraged. He can be beaten, but can't be made to quit. You can get him out of a race, but you can't get him out of track. He can be dead on his feet, but he will finish the race. He can be injured, but he'll complete the event he is in. He may not be Olympic material, but he is an example of the American way of life. He is judged, not for his religion, not for his racial strain, not for his social standing, not for his finances, but by the democratic yardstick of how well he jumps, throws, runs, competes or sacrifices individual honor for the benefit of the team.

He is a hard-working, untiring, determined kid doing the best he can for his school all by himself without the adulation of a crowd. And when you leave a stadium, or an arena, or read in your morning newspaper that your team did not win and you feel upset that your school is not top dog, he can make you feel almighty ashamed with just four sincerely spoken words—"We did our best"—(With apologies to Alan Beck, "What Is a Boy," and Charley Loftus, "What Is a Football Player.")

ROD MAPIER of Barrington, running for Carleton College, broke a 20-year-old 440 yard record in the Midwest Conference track meet last Saturday. Napier ran the quarter in :49.2 and also placed second in the broad jump and ran on the winning mile relay team. ..... Also to Ed Moehling for his individual second in the state golf meet. Arlington was also tenth in golf and seventh in state tennis.

Des Plaines 9 Cops 3rd Straight, Dumps O'Hare

Due to unforseen circumstances the Des Plaines Merchants game with the Glenview Naval air station had to be cancelled, and a game was quickly arranged with O'Hare air base to fill the opening.

The first two innings looked like a repeat performance of last weeks game when try-out pitcher Loren Johnson had little success in retiring the O'Hare team in the first inning until three runs had crossed the plate on four walks, a stolen base and an infield out.

Bob Hamilton of Palatine relieved Johnson in the second inning after he had walked the first batter, and allowed two more runs while pitching five complete innings. Harold Fendius finished the game, allowing only one more O'Hare run in the seventh inning.

ALTHOUGH O'HARE scored six runs—mostly due to the nine walks they received, Des Plaines pitchers struck out 14 and gave up only six hits to compensate, somewhat, for their wildness.

The Merchants, however, combined twelve base hits with numerous errors by O'Hare to run up a total of 15 runs, scoring eight in a hectic second inning. Fred Meuret and Len Casassimo led the attack with three for four, and two for four, respectively. John Kilroy had the big blows of the day, a 370 foot home run and following up with a triple, driving in three Des Plaines' runs.

NEXT WEEK the Merchants face the Chicago firemen. This will be the strongest opponent Des Plaines has faced thus far. The firemen's team consists of almost all ex-minor league ball layers now working for the Chicago fire department. Up to this point the firemen have defeated Cole-Lenzis 14-8 but last week lost to a very strong Elgin team, Milbrandt's drug store, 5-1.

Palatine Scores In 5 Innings To Top Barrington

Palatine scored in 5 different innings as they outscored Barrington 13-3 last Thursday in a non-league game. Bill Coates, junior lefty, hurled his first start of the season for the Pirates and allowed but 5 hits and shut them out until he had a 13-0 lead in the sixth frame.

Leon Biedrzycki hit 3 singles and a home run in 5 trips to the plate to lead a 12 hit attack on four Barrington pitchers. Dick Wisner and Gerry Segebrecht also hit homers.

Suburban Drivers Lead Chicagoans In O'Hare Races

Suburban area drivers continue to dominate the leading spots in the new-late model stock car races every Saturday and Sunday nights at O'Hare Stadium, Mannheim rd., just south of Irving Park rd. Gates open nightly at 6 with the first race at 8:30 p.m.

Although the impressive string of wins put together since the start of the 1958 season at O'Hare were brought to a close for Fred Lorenzen of Elmhurst Saturday night, other speedsters from the west of Chicago area moved into the spotlight rather than anyone from the large Chicago contingent.

SATURDAY'S MAIN event went to Red Swanberg of Meadowdale with Arnie Gardner of Geneva second. Lorenzen finished fourth and Kenny Paulsen of Stone Park was fifth. All will be back in action in efforts to continue the suburban supremacy this coming Saturday and Sunday.

O'Hare has now also added Wednesday nights to the stock car racing schedule with the daredevil Cadets presenting full programs of their own amazing type of competition. They also appear as added attractions with the new car-late models on the weekends. (Sp

Notre Dame Deals Fenton 4th Loss

Notre Dame of Niles averaged an earlier defeat at the hands of the Fenton Bisons as they dealt the Bensenville boys their fourth loss of the season, a 12-2 thumping, in a non-conference game played at Fenton Thursday afternoon.

Absorbing his first loss of the season was soph Ken Spiroff who wasn't as effective as usual and was chased from the mound in the fifth inning. Pitching a fine game for Notre Dame was another sophomore, Calamari. He gave up just four hits and was never in serious trouble.

Notre Dame racked up 15 hits off Spiroff and Jim Meneguin, who came on in the fifth inning, and scored in every inning but the third and sixth. (Sp

Wagner Leads Roselle Golf

Joe Wagner topped off his nineteenth wedding anniversary with the best nine hole score of his career, ending with a 31 net and tops so far this year in the Roselle twilight golf league.

Glen Rolff again led the way with a 36 low gross but Lee Buchholz took his share of the limelight with two birdies and an eagle on successive holes. The eagle coming of fa 100 approach shot into the cup on the 520 yard 5th hole.

Pal. Golfers Hand Elgin First Loss

Palatine high golfers handed Elgin their first defeat in 12 matches last Wednesday at Inverness by a score of 10½ to 4½. David Huske and John Hernandez of Elgin failed to win after taking 11 opponents in a row.

Elgin, just the previous Friday, had taken second in the state district, qualifying their team for the state tourney.

John Campbell, swinging in the number 3 spot, was again Palatine's best golfer with a 78 over the tricky Inverness layout. Geoffrey John had an 81 and his brother Pete took an 82. Howland scored 84 and Miller 85 for the Pirates.

Pete John (P) beat Dave Huske (E) 2-1.

Kamps Leads Old Orchard Scratch

With Marv Kamps shooting 36 and Avery Harris 37, Kamps Signs moved back into familiar territory by taking over first place in the scratch league. Having won the title last year, it looks as if they are going to be the team to beat again.

Lohr's Pharmacy, led by Dave Borgardt and Paul Ellingson, each shooting 36, took over second place by picking up 6½ points against Arlington Pharmacy. Shelby Stewart Jr. had a 36 for the losers, but still lost his match to Dan Musser who shot 37. No justice!

Ryan Bros. Captures Twilight Golf Lead

Ryan Bros. Realty team scored seven points against the Mt. Prospect State Bank team to take first place Monday, May 12. Van Driel's Drug team knocked off Busse Biermann hardware to move into second, and Mel & Paul's drive-in moved up from sixth place to take over third.

The teams seem to be pretty evenly matched this year if the standings after the first three nights of competition are any indication of the way things will go the rest of the season.

Six points is all that separates the first eight teams and a good night of scoring by any one of them could put them in a commanding position.

Cold weather seems to be more to the liking of birdie shooters, because none were scored Monday night when the weather was ideal for golf.

L&Oehler Lead Arlington Loop

Third week of play for the Arlington Heights Twilight Golf league resulted in a considerable number of changes. Foremost were the team position changes. Less discussed were the changes in individual scores as fewer birdies were recorded. Perhaps the team members early season good golf is being supplanted by their mid-season normal golf.

Lauterburg and Oehler regained first position by virtue of losing their match by a closer margin than last week's first place team, Dunteman's Dairy. Second division teams were pleased with the decline of the teams with the big clubs.

Black's Memorial blasted Fergus Ford 10 to 2 for the big win. Second high match was New Emerald Cleaners and Dyers with a 9½ to 2½ victory over Dahl-Olsen, Inc.

Art Franzen's low net 31 heralds his first match play for the season, and looks like good timing. The Arlington National Bank team should be a team to watch next week with Art back in the lineup. Birds were claimed by team members Bill Barrett, Don McGowan, Ralph Panek, and alternate Orvil Williams.

Senne's, Webber's Pace Rob Roy Ladies League

A bright warm day greeted the Rob Roy Ladies Golf league as they teed off for the opening round of play Thursday, May 15. A sudden drop in temperature sent the golfers shivering around the last few holes.

Even the clubs must have been cold, for although several pars were carded, no one was able to manage a birdie. Captain Evelyn Myers of Des Plaines Liquor was the only player to sink an approach shot.

Captain Thelma Geach chalked up a 39 net to pace Senne's Grocery into first place when they clobbered Keefer's Pharmacy for 6½ points. Webber's Paint Store had Magdalene Campbell's 40 net to spur them on to a tie with Senne's as they shook 6½ points from Spieglers. Prairie Lee Paint Store settled into third place as a result of a 5½ point win, in spite of Betty Gainey's 37 net for O'Hare Stadium.

Town and Country moved into a fourth place tie when Lorraine Baird carded a 37 net to help them gather 5 points from Arlington Pharmacy. Heights Liquor's Jane Hansen garnered a point for her 39 net, but the team was still taken for five points by Morava Stationery. Hagenbring's and Des Plaines Liquor battled to a draw to put them each exactly in the center of the standings.

Helen Lee of Hagenbring's had a 40 net for an extra point, but Des Plaines Liquor managed to win team gross and net while only 2 players won matches.

Winner of the short hole event was Thelma Geach with a 12, followed by Ella Redman, Louise Kaunzinger, Dorothy Wahl, and Marie Glaser. (Sp

As predicted, this will be a close race, for most, if not all of this season. The rest of the teams are capable at most any time to start their move toward the top.

Arlington's Annual Language Banquet Is Colorful Affair

ARLINGTON HIGH'S CAFETERIA recently was the scene of the Pan-Language banquet, sponsored by students taking foreign languages at the school. A large crowd of colorfully costumed linguists took part in the festivities. Singing and speaking was done in the foreign language, always a highlight of the annual event.

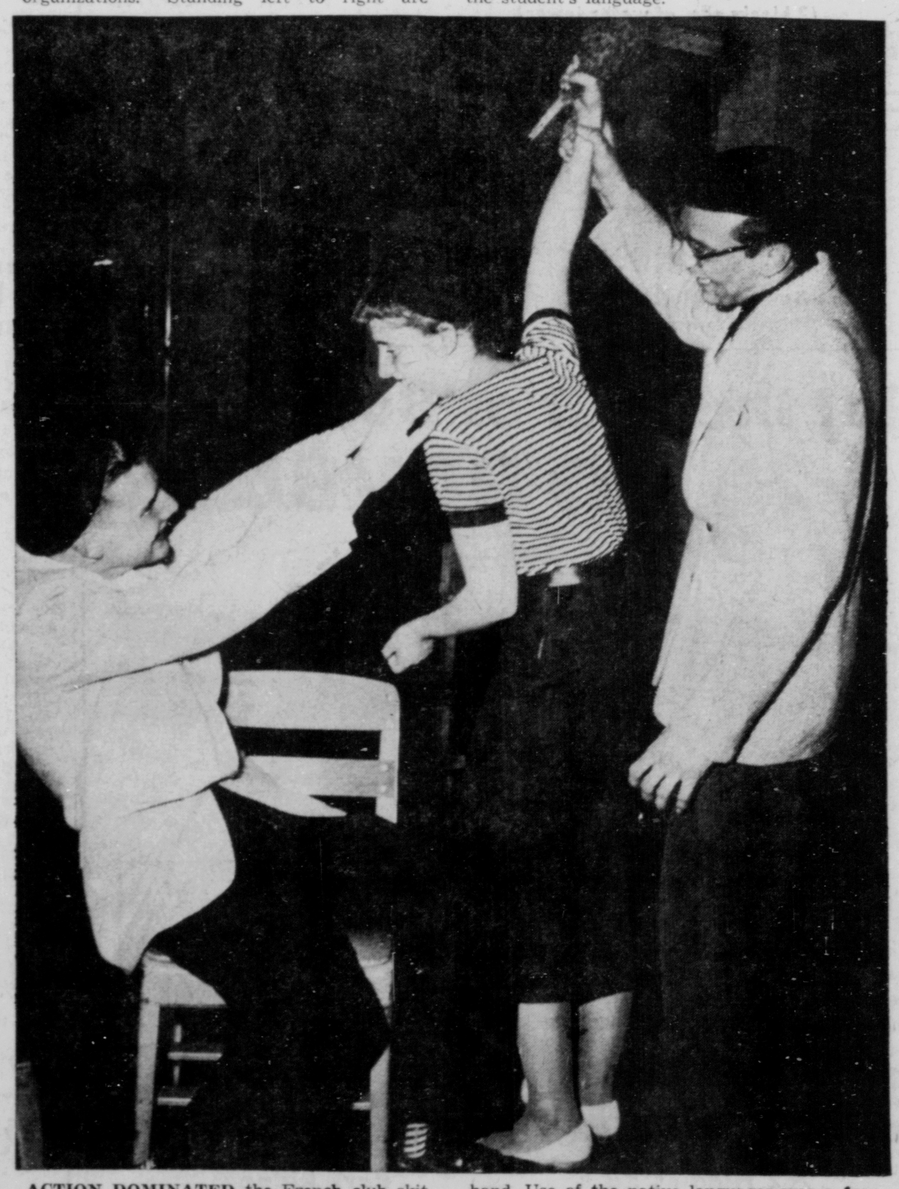
PASSING THE TRADITIONAL stein is Richard Schmidt. Accepting are German club members Pat Loechl and Bonnie Quigley. "Ya, das iss der tempting stein."

PLANNING THE ANNUAL affair were members of the Pan-Language council, which is made up of students in Arlington's 4 linguistic organizations. Standing left to right are Yvonne Craig, Carl Popp, Bill Sannwald, Dennis Grant; seated are Jane Owen, Mary Hutchinson, and Babs Rasmussen. Costumes tell you the student's language.



ACTION DOMINATED the French club skit. Bernie Lalor, seated, wards off attack by Leigh Sandvig as Carl Popp lends a helping hand. Use of the native languages was a feature of the banquet.

Palatine Couple Wed May 3, Now in Texas

A Palatine couple was united in marriage May 3 in the town's First Methodist church by Rev. Harold Olson. Miss Marilyn Frette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Helleik Frette, 840 W. Brooks ide, became the bride of Richard Abrahamson, son of the Richard Abrahamsons, 348 Oak st., in a 1:30 p.m. ceremony before an altar decorated with baskets of white carnations, gladioli and pompons.

Organist was Andre Butenschoen, and soloist Robert Eppley sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Oh Perfect Love."

Coming down the aisle on the arm of her father the bride was gowned in white embroidered tulle over bridal satin with a fitted bodice, long sleeves and panelled skirt falling to the floor in rows of tulle. A crown of orange blossoms held the bride's silk illusion fingertip veil in place. Her bouquet was of lilies of the valley and a white orchid trimmed with ivy.

Maid of honor, Miss June Burden, of Phoenix, Ariz., was attired in powder blue eyelet embroidery over taffeta with a taffeta cummerbund tied in a large bow at the back and a picture hat to match. The bridesmaids, Miss Joann Abrahamson and Miss Lynn Lommen, both of Palatine, wore dresses and hats identical to that of the maid of honor. They all carried bouquets of blue and white daisies.

Mrs. Frette, mother of the bride, wore a silk eyelet organza sheath with scooped neckline and large bow at the side and had a brown cymbidium orchid corsage. Mrs. Abrahamson, the bridegroom's mother, wore an aqua lace sheath with scooped neckline and a corsage of white cymbidium orchids.

Charles James III of Madison, Wis., was best man, and Roland Burman, Andy Anderson, Jim Rose and Jim Riggs were ushers. Ring bearer was Donald Burman, 3.

A reception following the wedding was held at Griers supper club for 250 guests.

The young couple then left for a seashore resort at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., for their honeymoon and will be at home at Lakeland air base in Texas after May 22.

The bride was graduated from Palatine township high school and attended the University of Illinois. The bridegroom also attended Palatine high school and the University of Illinois and is a lieutenant in the United States air force. (Bak Studio

Bonita LaMar Is Wed In Rockford Church

St. Patrick church in Rockford was the scene of the April 19 wedding of Miss Bonita Lou LaMar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard LaMar, formerly of Roselle, and Eugene C. Donka, son of the Frank Donkas of Aurora. The 11 a. m. nuptials were followed by a reception in the Rockford YMCA lodge. The bride's father is the former police chief of Roselle.

Preceding the bride down the aisle were her attendants, Doris Marsicano of Delavan, Wis., aunt of the bride, and Carmella Weiss of Keeneyville. They wore identical princess style gowns of baby blue dacron batiste and carried colonial bouquets of pink rose buds. The flower girl, Nicolette Marsicano, the bride's cousin, was also dressed in baby blue.

The bride was attired in an imported chantilly lace gown with long fitted sleeves and full skirt. A peplum edged with a pleated tulle ruffle hung from the fitted bodice. The bride's fingertip veil was held in place with a crown of apple blossoms and seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis and pink rose buds centered with an orchid.

The bridegroom's brother, Edward, was best man, and his brother, Frank, was usher, assisted by Ronald LaMar, the bride's brother, and Jack Johnson, cousin of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. LaMar wore a champagne lace gown, and the bridegroom's mother was attired in navy blue.

Both the bride and bridegroom attended Northern Illinois university, Eugene graduating in January. He also served two years in the armed forces in Korea.

The newlyweds will be at home at 713 Fourth ave., Aurora.

White snapdragons, calla lilies and shaggy daisies were used to decorate the church.

The bride wore a princess style peau de soie gown fashioned with beaded yoke. Her veil, of Spanish lace, was a mantilla and had been sent from Spain by Dr. Nils Tuveson, stepfather of the bridegroom's mother. Baby white orchids were carried as a bouquet by the bride as her father led her to the altar.

Quite Contrary by Mary

It Doesn't Pay to Be Smart

I just won a $45,000 bet and I'm sort of sorry I did. It isn't that I don't like money. Money is one of my most favorite things in the whole world. As they say, "Money won't buy happiness," but I would just as soon have some and be a little moody once in a while.

Of certainly course, this bet was theoretical. Never let it be said I would ever bet more than a nickel unless I was more than positive that I was on the winning team. But, this bet was with the man in my life and I should have my tongue cut out or else should take more to heart the old adage that silence is golden.

Heaven only knows that I am a far cry from mechanical. I have stated before that while I may lift the hood of the car when it is feeling unwell, it is only a gesture and means nothing. It makes me feel busy and useful and I always have the vague hope that the car will take pity on me and start to percolate just out of kindness.

So, our car developed a nasty little wail which manifested itself when the steering wheel was forced into something other than going perfectly straight. The straight and narrow may be just dandy for everything and everybody else but not for a steering wheel. By the very nature of its name, it must twist and turn or it just doesn't make sense.

I said to Father, quote, the power steering is on the fritz, unquote. Father said to me, quote, it is the motor, unquote. I said, quote, it is the power steering, unquote and then made my offer of the $45,000 to back up my belief. It was accepted and there the matter dropped.

Until the garage man said to Father, quote, it is the power steering, unquote. So, the man in the family, big soul that he is, called me up and offered to make out a check to me. I hemmed and hawed and allowed as how I was just guessing, ("I KNEW it was the power steering,") and offered to let him pay off on the easy payment plan.

But, the whole thing boils down to where the European women have the right idea. It just doesn't pay to be so cockeyed smart. The man in my life hasn't said a decent word to me since. But, gee whiz, how did I know it was the power steering? It could have been the valves or the carburetor or the bearings or the manifold, whatever these things might be.

But, it was the power steering and by tomorrow I may have lost my happy home. Anyway, life is hardly worth living and I'm sorry Mr. Power invented his steering.

Just Around The Corner From Patty McArdle

An Answer to Delinquency

Dear Peg:

As I sat considering which way to vote on a proposed 6 million dollar second high school in our community, I couldn't help thinking of the article about child delinquency I had just read. And, again, later in the day when I had a chance to scan the newspaper and learned how much money it took to build a sputnik and what the price tag on an atom bomb is, I was haunted by this article which gave a frightening picture of the direct relationship between our national teacher shortage and our national upsurge of child delinquency. And I wondered if these child delinquents would grow into adult delinquents whose expensive playthings would include suptniks and atom bombs.

"Roots of Child Delinquency" by A. N. Spanel, Chairman of International Latex Corporation, is presented as a public service by that corporation. "The sun won't shine so brightly for America's children in the years to come, unless attention is given to the plight of our schools. Part of our trouble traces back to the neglect and shameful indifference of the recent war periods. Thousands of skilled teachers left the profession for better paying jobs in government and war industries. Even today the turnover and loss of skilled teachers is at least 50% higher than normal expectations. More than that, we are not meeting the need for additional teachers for increasing enrollments due to high birth rates of the 1940's and 1950's. These conditions if they persist, will harm America's children beyond calculation.

"There is a present demand of 175,000 new teachers in the elmentary schools. Less than 35,000 teacher graduates are prepared each year to enter these positions. Already employed in the schools are 72,000 teachers with sub-standard certificates.

"Teachers are still quitting the profession because they are underpaid. One-teacher in seven today receives less than $2500 a year. They are victims of our shortsightedness. The high cost of living has wiped out their savings. Jobs outside the schools offer better pay. The teachers are taking them. They will continue to do so until the American people decide to pay teachers a living wage. The nation cannot afford to continue short-changing its teachers. American wages for all others have been raised substantially in recent years. The national income has increased 319 per cent over 1939, yet teachers' incomes have been raised only about 165 per cent. It's as crazy as it is shameful.

"In the meantime American children are being robbed of a fair start in life. Four and a half million children of school age are not in school at all . . . idle children are roaming the streets. There is a rising tide of juvenile delinquency. America cannot afford to waste its children. They are Americans. Right now we are denying America's children . . . and America itself. The situation is completely out of hand, and what has developed into a serious problem is now becoming a national catastrophe.

"And you can do something about it even if you did no more than to write to the mayor of your town, to the councilmen or aldermen around him, with copies of such letters mailed to the superintendent of the schools. To do less is to remain silent and to remain silent means to every political figure, in nearly every community, the continued toleration of an intolerable situation."

And, I would add this thought: is it the high-fashion classroom and the Olympic-size swimming pool that makes the good citizens of tomorrow?

My love,
Patty

Among the 22 dinner guests at the Krause home honoring Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Schmidt, here from Largo, Fla. for the occasion; their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lange of South Bend, Mrs. Schmidt's brother, Joseph Petri of Nakoma, N. D., her sister, Mrs. Eva Stockinger and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Eiter of Chicago and Mr. Schmidt's sister and family, the William Schwolows of Palatine.

Another son, Elmer and his family, who also reside in California, were unable to be here, and their grandson, Robert Lange, sent his congratulations from Frankfort, Germany where he is stationed with the army.

After two weeks here at the home of their daughter, the Schmidts are now spending a week in Palatine with the Schwolows and plan a stay in Chicago with relatives there for another week. Their tentative plans include a visit in South Bend before they return to California.

New Chemise Should Fit Hips Snugly

A chemise won't look like a "sack" unless you make it fit like one.

Everyone knows that the chemise has a loose-fitting waist. But many women go wrong in thinking that this looseness also applies to the hips.

Helen Zwolanek, University of Illinois textiles and clothing specialist, points out that chemises should fit snugly in the hips.

IN OTHER WORDS, where previously a dress was snug in the waist and a bit loose in the hips, now there is looseness in the waist and snugness in the hips. When fullness is left in both waist and hips, the chemise turns into a "sack."

Miss Zwolanek says that, since the chemise is made with a straighter skirt, it needs to be shorter for easier walking.

Not a Setting Star

The North Star does not rise and set, because it is directly over the Earth's axis and rotation does not affect its position as seen from the Earth.

Modern Etiquette

Q. Does a woman introduce her husband to another woman as "Mr. Spencer"?

A. No. The proper form would be: "Mrs. Tanner, may I introduce my husband?" A woman does not use "Mr." when referring to or introducing her husband.

Q. I have heard now that it is all right to break a few crackers into one's soup. Is this correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Is it correct to write "Second" after a name, or "2nd"?

A. It is in better taste to write "2nd."

Q. I have noticed more and more women shaking hands when acknowledging introductions. Is this really considered proper?

A. There is never anything wrong about a sincere handshake. It is optional with a woman whether or not she shakes hands, but certainly she indicates more pleasure over a meeting when she does offer her hand.

Q. When you have been asked to pass a dish at the table, and you were just about to partake of that dish yourself, is it all right to help yourself first?

A. No; this would be very crude and ill-bred, unless, of course, the other person insists that you do so.

50 Years Ago

Palatine — Mr. John Bergmann celebrated his 90th birthday May 10. Nearly 75 relatives and friends came down to the old homestead for the afternoon and it was a jolly party that surrounded the old gentleman. He is still spry and healthy and there was not one of the guests, who enjoyed himself more than the one in whose honor they were gathered together.

Few men have the privilege to live to such a grand old age with their helpmate still with him. Sixty-seven years ago they were married and for 54 years they have lived in Palatine, rearing a most estimable family of children and given the job of having their children, grand children and great grand children around them.

Photographer Kramer took a group picture of the party, that will be a reminder of the happy occasion.

THE FIRST COAT of cement was placed on Ben Wenegar's new residence Wednesday. This is the first building of its kind in Palatine. It is conveniently and artistically arranged inside and the exterior, especially the porch has made a hit with everybody. Ben has as pretty a residence as any in Palatine.

Alderman E. Prellberg celebrated his 69th birthday with a family reunion May 17. This is the first time the entire family have been together in 15 years. After the birthday dinner L. C. Kramer took a family picture. This is one of Palatine's oldest and largest families and the old gentleman has reason to feel proud of his eight sons and three daughters.

Miss Josie M. Comfort died in Chicago May 18, of heart failure. Funeral was held at the residence of her father, W. R. Comfort, Rev. Geo. Young officiating. The deceased was born in Palatine December 8, 1877. She was one of six children.

An English Sunday school was started Sunday at Roselle public school house. Prof. Fischer preached and a fine Wheaton quartette sang.

Mr. Hans Ghels, aged 78 years, died Tuesday morning.

Hanover — Herman Heine (mason) had a blind pig, but after election was concluded there was no local use for blind pigs in a wet town like Hanover, so he took it to the market at Niles and sold it.

Our village was quiet last Sunday. Cause: no ball game so the Elgin rough crowd staid away.

ARLINGTON Athletics defeated Palatine in a game of ball May 10, at Arlington Heights, in an 11 inning game, by a score of 4 to 3 without the assistance of hired help to do so and this of course set Palatine out for revenge in which case they fell back on surrounding towns to help them, besides picking one player originally from Arlington Heights, but now residing in Chicago, who would prefer to play against the home team at most any time. Last Sunday's results were that the Arlington Athletics were defeated in a somewhat one sided game, due to the fact mentioned above, that outside players of better standing were run in against them.

Arlington Athletics have the reputation of winning their own games and do not want or necessarily need hired players who are paid to win the games for them. Talking of home teams — why Palatine cannot put up one that would have it on Arlington Heights and they know it, and those in the game last Sunday, are not all of the best Arlington can put up.

It may do Palatine some good to win a game, but it does the Arlington Athletics just as much good to lose their own game without the assistance of hired help, who after the game, whether they won or lost, are looking for the manager to extend them a glad hand—ful. We do not like to be imposed upon and want nothing more than a square deal, such as Palatine got at Arlington Heights, May 10.

Miss Daisy May Paddock has signed a contract to teach the first school south of Arlington Heights, District 56, Elk Grove, at $50 per month.

Miss Lucy Shepard is engaged —to teach the Wilson school, district 24, next season which will be her 21st year in the same school—a good record.

It has been suggested that teams be kept off Dunton Boulevard and that thoroughfare be devoted to canal purposes for which it at present appears better adapted.

WE HATE to criticize our village board (Arlington Heights) but people all say that the saloon license money ($2,500) should all be used to improve the streets which are in such terrible condition. Let the other necessary expenses be paid by general tax or special assessment. Cut down some of the high salaries and use the money judiciously, where it will do more good for the people.

Arlington Heights Dramatic Club has organized and elected the following officers: President, Alex Lips; Secretary Miss Gertrude Peter; Treasurer, Miss Anna Mors; Director, Mr. J. B. Collins. The first three comprise the board of directors, who manage their affairs jointly. They will present their first drama—(3 acts)—"Enlisted for the War or The Home Guard." Two nights Saturday, May 30, and Tuesday June 2. Proceeds to pay expense of Decoration Day.

WHEELING CENTER — Fred Clausing tried his automobile last week, but was afraid of the bad roads, so he hitched two cows to it. When he came back from town, he only had one hitched up, but it went fine, so when the roads get better he will give his best girl a ride.

The Wheeling Presbyterian church has new stained glass windows.

Miss Laura Miller, for five years the popular clerk at Schminke's store, underwent a successful surgical operation May 16.

Ed Forke, the commercial traveler for a Chicago wholesale house visited his folks here over Sunday. He had just returned from a successful trip through the south. He reports business good and prospects bright.

J. A. Schminke has bought the John Mehling homestead and plans to make it his future home. Some day an electric railroad will be built out this way, then all the property along or near the Avenue will boom in value.

As a reward to Arlington Heights for making its quotas in war activities, Uncle Sam is going to give her citizens free mail delivery service after the middle of June. Orders provide for a regular and one auxiliary carrier. The former will work 8 hours handling the entire north side. The other carrier will only spend four hours a day, devoting his attention to the south side. The service will extend to all sections of the corporation having continuous cement walks.

The stock of the Ernst Malzahn and Wm. Graue hardware store, Arlington Heights, is being offered the public at big bargains this week and next. They have decided to quit business.

WAR SAVINGS and Red Cross funds were given a big boost at Arlington Heights, May 18. The occasion was the dedication and raising of the Wheeling township Liberty Loan honor flag. The speech by J. D. Clark served an introduction to the Red Cross drive, which is the main war activity of this week.

Palatine — Mayor Taylor handed us a bunch of good news Monday morning. It was a letter stating that a car load of road oil had left Oklahoma consigned to Palatine. Do not raise your hopes too high, ladies, as that car only holds 10,000 gallons and the bill of lading reads, "subject to the orders of the Federal Government."

If only Palatine ladies could be assured of an ice man, we would be all ready for the summer.

Captain Dollinger says we have to find an alibi for not giving the Training Corps dance the attention it deserved last week.

Capt.! We do not have to waste our time inventing a good excuse, because that office cat was at fault. Ever since she ate the paste out of Bockelmann's ad two months ago, we have kept her away from the copy hook, but the smell of that "Liberty Cake" was too much and she jumped through the office devil's legs and consumed the cake, dance and all, before the linotype operator got a chance to take a bite.

Fortunately the $150 made by the boys, was safe in the bank and it escaped the cat's greediness. Thus, there is no damage done except to the type forms that the cat insisted upon dancing over and pying.

Have you seen the widened dam thru Moeller's lake? The commissioners sure did some job widening that narrow turn pike. There's no more danger sliding off the south bank and being eaten by turtles.

The best road from Wheeling to Arlington Heights is down Milwaukee avenue to Henry Grandt's corner, then west to Wm. Schoenbeck's, thence south to the cemetery road.

Mr. George Schneberger of Arlington Heights and Miss Frances Montgomery of Skidmore, Mo. were married at the home of the bride May 16. They will reside in the bungalow corner of Pine and Fredericks. This marriage was the consumation of a courtship that began during their college days at Northwestern.

Cupid aimed his arrow and claimed two of Arlington Heights popular young people last week as his happy victims. Mr. Martin Fehlman is a skilled mechanic now in the employ of the government near Troy, N. Y. Miss Anna Mors became his bride Sunday with only the immediate relatives to witness the ceremony.

Wheeling — Samuel Blackford, Lloyd Stryker and Art Meyer are to leave us next Monday to join the colors.

LABORERS armed with pick and shovel began work Monday of razing the building used as the Suburban annex to the old C. & N.W. Chicago station, in preparation for the building of the colossal merchandise mart, by the corporation organized by Marshall Field & Co. Thousands of suburban residents remember the red brick building, of recent years a freight depot, as the point of daily arrival and departure before the new station on W. Madison was built. The Wells street station was erected in 1903 as an annex to the regular station, especially for suburban passengers.

The main station, to which the structure now being demolished was an annex, was built in 1880-81. Visitors to Chicago from the west and northwest in the gay '90's got their first glimpse of the city after passing through its oak doors. It was the fifth depot to replace the one-story wooden affair built by the Galena and Chicago Union railroad.

A strong, healthy young male elephant is worth about a thousand dollars in Pakistan.

High Taxpayer

North Carolina is responsible for the payment of higher Federal taxes than most other states, because of the Federal tax stamp on each package of cigarettes manufactured in that state.

Lesson in English

by W. L. GORDON

OFTEN MISUSED

It is better to use "underhand" instead of "underhanded," often heard. "He is an underhand baseball pitcher," or, "He is accused of underhand dealings with the enemy."

Do not say, "I am not going to buy anything at all." Omit the final two words; they are superfluous.

The use of "success" to mean the person or thing that is successful is colloquial; as, "He is a success," and, "Her book is a success." Avoid this.

Do not say, "Page twenty is all the farther I have read." Say, "Page twenty is AS FAR AS I have read."

Do not say, "It is not as large as you claimed." Say, "It is not SO large as you claimed." "So" should follow a negative.

Do not say, "The house was surrounded on all sides by water." Since "surround" means to enclose on all sides, you should eliminate "on all sides" from the sentence.

OFTEN MISPRONOUNCED

Gruyere (cheese). Preferred pronunciation is groo-yaar, accent on second syllable.

Avid. Pronounce the "a" as in "at," and not as in "ate."

Paprika. Pronounce paa-pree-kah, accent on second syllable.

OFTEN MISSPELLED

Nauseate; observe the five vowels. Portiere; observe the "iere," which is pronounced as "yare." Accede (to yield); exceed (to surpass). Annual (yearly); annular (ring-shaped). Inoculate; only one "n" and one "c". Peremptory (decisive or final); preemptory (of or pertaining to the act of establishing a prior right to purchase or of appropriating beforehand).

WORD STUDY

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Immanence; inherence; an indwelling. (Accent first syllable). "She was conscious of the immanence of God."

Soporific; causing sleep. (Accent third syllable). "The sedative had soporific effects on the patient."

Voracious; greedy in eating; ravenous; gluttonous. "Anne has a voracious appetite."

Mediate (verb); to interpose between parties in order to effect a reconciliation. "An attempt was made to mediate between the workers and the manager of the company."

Accusatory; pertaining to an accusation. "All the statements concerning the person were accusatory."

Family Agrees On Tasty Muffins

It's no wonder that the family sees eye to eye on this baked sepcialty—Bacon-Apple Muffins. Touched with just the right amount of bacon bits and applesauce, these breakfast and after-school muffins seem to disappear in short order.

Delicious flavor, of course, is accented only by the desirability of the baked product itself. Lard is used in this culinary baking adventure as well as in many others. Reba Staggs, home economist and meat expert, comments on the various baked products using lard — muffins, tender and light; pie crusts, flaky and tender; cakes, delicate textured and moist. If you're already using lard as a shortening, you're probably convinced of its merits . . . if not familiar with lard and its shortening ability, just give it a chance to prove itself.

Bacon-Apple Muffins

¼ teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
6 slices bacon
4 to 6 tablespoons bacon drippings.
1 egg, beaten
1/3 cup milk
¾ cup applesauce

Grease 12 medium-size muffin pans. Sift together flour, soda, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Cook bacon until lightly browned, drain and save drippings. Cut bacon into small pieces. Mix together egg, milk, applesauce, bacon drippings and pieces of bacon. Add liquid to dry ingredients and stir only until dry ingredients are moistened. Fill muffin pans 2/3 full. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 18 to 20 minutes. Yield: 12 muffins. (SH

Cookies Children Can Make

On days when children are at home and the weather does not permit much outside activity, help them make cookies. An easy recipe and a little guidance will open up a whole new area of interest for them. The results can be fun, too, for cookie baking may lead to an impromptu party.

A recipe that is just right for such a baking spree for children is Banana Walnut Specials. The ingredients are only four; plain cookie mix, a banana, allspice and walnuts.

Look for the new transparent package in which Diamond Walnuts are now being marketed. After much research, saran was selected as the packaging material because of its fine protective qualities. Walnuts will keep well and are guaranteed fresh in the new package.

Also, the packages are marked in ½, ¾, 1¼ and 2½ cup amounts. This helps the homemaker to select recipe amounts from the grocer's shelf. If the package of walnuts is only partly used, carefully fold back the edges of the saran and refrigerate. This will help keep the shelled walnuts fresh until used.

Here is the recipe for Banana Walnut Specials.

Banana Nut Specials

1 13½ ounce package plain cookie mix
¾ cup mashed banana (about 1)
½ teaspoon allspice
½ cup chopped Diamond Walnuts (purchase package marked ½ cup for convenience)

Empty the package of cookie mix into a medium sized bowl. Take one banana (yellow flecked with brown) and mash a little at a time in a glass measuring cup until the amount reaches ¾ cup. Add this to the cookie mix. Carefully measure out ½ teaspoon of allspice (cinnamon may be used if you like) and place in the bowl. Take ½ cup package Diamond Walnuts and empty package into mix. Mix together. Drop by teaspoonsful on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) for 12 to 15 minutes.

Speed Cleanup In Wood Dale

Wood Dale to many people is not the best place to live in suburbia. The north Du Page village has only a few paved streets, no central water supply and sanitation is handled with septic tanks, although a disposal plant and sewers are now under construction.

Despite such inadequacies, Wood Dale deserves some praise for its early bid in a cleanup move that has begun to shake north Du Page as the result of an April 8 diphtheria fatality that was found to have occurred in a shack-like home just north of Wood Dale.

Municipal leaders from Wood Dale, Itasca, Addison and Roselle will meet tonight (May 22) with county officials to — it's hoped — formally initiate a drive to rid the area of such spots as the diphtheria house and virtually countless other places of filth and decay.

Wood Dale's forward move actually began before the diphtheria case was unearthed and its own drive to clean up has since gained rapidly in momentum and strong purpose. Such action should set the example for all the other towns.

Wood Dale's council vigorously supported by Chief of Police Adolph Sofka and his men, began by selecting the places within the corporate limits that could serve no other purpose than as eyesores, fire traps and worse.

Sofka went about finding the owners and was happy to discover in several cases that they were glad to give their permission for destruction. Each place was put to the torch, and Wood Dale firemen were provided with a ready-made drill session.

Another of these shack owners only needed to get his tax bill to find that the property had been written into the books as improved due to the presence of a building. He openly issued his own order to the village in the same vein. "Burn it down," he exclaimed. It was.

A small building at the rear of property owned by a prominent Wood Dale civic leader recently fell into the path of the village's cleanup, too. Neighbors couldn't stand it any longer and protested to community leaders.

The building, which doubtless could have been made into a pleasant little summer spot at one time, has for months apparently been the family's garbage dump. It was found loaded with bottles, cans and all sorts of junk that had now begun spilling out the windows.

The yard around it had suffered an equal fate to make the premises generally behind the house one, big trash heap. The garage nearby was found to be in sad condition too, with at least one wall falling into pieces.

In this case the owner has been hauled into Wood Dale court. He was fined $25, but $20 was suspended with the stipulation that he make amends and clean things up within two weeks. We hope the owner comes through; if he doesn't, we will report it in print.

Wood Dale last Thursday was scheduled to take the biggest and most permanent step in making sure the cleanup becomes something that can be enforced for months and years to come. Involved is an ordinance requiring all properties to maintain a definite degree of appearance.

Owners, in effect, will be directed as to what they should do and in cases where they fail or show no interest the village will move in accordingly. Cleaning up will be undertaken to any degree necessary.

The owners will then be charged. If they fail to pay their bill, they will find a lien placed on the property. This is the sort of measure that should be put into effect in all areas of decay, uncleanliness and shanties.

There are, of course, other communities whose leaders feel they have no such problems. For the record, however, we went on a tour recently with a Du Page health department sanitarian and visited places needing improvement in ALL areas of north Du Page county.

We commend once more the attitude and progress of Wood Dale leaders. This community may not have the most expensive and finest homes, but the attitude and action expressed to date put it right up at the top in the NORTH Du PAGE CLEANUP CAMPAIGN.

'Equal Justice Through Modern Courts'

Attorney Answers Foe Of Judicial Amendment

(Gerald M. Chapman of Arlington Heights, an attorney, has written a rebuttal to a Fence Post letter written in opposition to the proposed judicial amendment to be voted upon this fall.)

Mr. Charles A. Braun (Fence Post, May 8) attacks the program for judicial reform by singling out one feature of it: the treatment of the present police magistrates and justices of the peace, and ignoring the changed functions of the officials designated as "magistrates" who would replace them under the proposed constitutional amendment.

He does not recognize that the proposed provisions concerning "magistrates" are a part of an integrated program to streamline our courts. At the present time, we have a multiplicity of autonomous courts, each regulating its own practice and procedure.

The proposed amendment vests the entire judicial power in one integrated system of courts with final administrative control vested in the Supreme court of Illinois.

THUS, IT PROVIDES efficent and economical administration of justice by permitting maximum use of judicial personnel on an integrated basis to dispose of litigation.

With particular attention to the justices of the peace and police magistrates, under the present system any case tried by a justice of the peace or police magistrate can be completely retried in either the Circuit or Superior court of Cook county or the Criminal court on the appeal of either party. There the court rehears the evidence as though the case had never been tried before.

If either party feels the matter is of sufficient importance and is aggrieved by the outcome before the justice of the peace, the entire proceeding before him can be rendered a waste of time by the taking of such an appeal.

UNDER THE proposed system, the judgement of the "magistrate" would be the judgement of the Circuit court of Cook county, appealable to the Appellate court only on the written stenographic transcript of the evidence heard by the magistrate.

Thus (1) it would be important that the "magistrate" know how to conduct a trial so that error is not committed, and (2) the proposed amendment would actually reduce the work load on the Circuit court.

With respect to Mr. Braun's specific points:

(1) Admittedly, many present justices and magistrates hold office as an honor. However, to many it is a lucrative operation. To those who are engaged in such an operation because of the fees, the plaintiff is entitled to extra consideration in a civil case because he determines where the case is filed (thus determining which J. P. gets the fee) and, in a criminal case, the justice collects no fee unless there is a finding of "guilty." Under the proposed system, the "magistrate" receives a salary only. Therefore, these considerations cannot enter into the decision of matters before him.

(2) WITH RESPECT to the backlog of cases, the answer lies in the relative value of the matters tried. The average jury case in a court of record takes a number of days to try, involving much more complex questions of law and fact. Moreover, there are many less judges available than there are justices of the peace and police magistrates. Actually, a great majority of the matters handled by justices of the peace and police magistrates are demault judgments or guilty pleas. In any event, the amendment will not effect this situation since enough magistrates can be provided to keep this class of cases on a current basis. Under the amendment, there will be the same number of magistrates initially as there are presently justices of the peace and police magistrates.

(3) The proposed amendment permits the office of magistrate to be a part-time job; it does not limit the times at which magistrate's court can be held. Thus, the same hearing hours can be provided as under the present system.

(4) Under the proposed amendment, the magistrates will not be appointed by a political machine. They will be appointed by the circuit judges who, in turn, will be elected by the people. If citizens are not sufficiently interested to see that good judges are elected, this is another matter. The one thing which cannot be legislated against is citizen indifference.

HOWEVER, THERE is no guarantee as to the competence of a justice of the peace or police magistrate to try a case in a manner which would pass our courts of review under the present system. With the proposed system attempting to finally dispose of most of the matters handled by them at the magistrate level by limiting the reviewability of their decisions, such control is necessary to insure such competence since the mistakes which might be made cannot be corrected by a trained trial judge rehearing the evidence.

(5) With respect to increased expense, the proposed amendment does not do away with the fees for trials in magistrates' courts. Such fees and costs would still be taxed but would accrue to a general fund for defraying the expenses of the courts, not to the "magistrate" personally. With respect to the cost of administering the proposed systetm generally, space precludes answering Mr. Braun's generalized statements.

However, among the organizations endorsing the proposed judicial amendment are the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, the Civic Federation of Chicago, Illinois Manufacturers association, Illinois State chamber of commerce, and the Union League club — none of whom are noted for sponsorship of proposals which needlessly waste the taxpayers' money.

American Tourists Abroad Can Now 'Meet the People'

by BILL DILLINGHAM

Are you going abroad this summer? If so, watch out. Europeans are complaining more and more Americans are touring Europe without seeing or understanding a thing.

One of the main criticisms of the American tourists is that they rush through every capital of Europe, than return home with no idea of what "life" is like on the continent. This deeply offends local patriots.

TO COUNTERACT this weakness in the touring American's itinerary, many governments have recently established a kind of meet-the-people program. It is now possible for any tourist to get himself invited to a native home for dinner and an evening with the host's family.

In Germany it is called "Meet The Germans," in Holland "Meet The Dutch," and so forth. The visitor to Holland, for example, merely goes to the tourist department of that country and gets the name of a family that wishes to invite an American for a quiet evening at home. Physicians, if they wish, can ask to go to a physician's family. Or a bricklayer, as another example, can choose one of his trade.

The tourist department withdraws an address from a file, phones to the local family selected, confirms matters, then instructs the American on how to reach his host's house.

This single evening in a European's home is said to be more educational to the tourist than all of his visits to the historical monuments combined.

This idea of bringing tourists into local homes originated in Denmark. The "Meet The Danes" program started just after the last war, initiated as a means of thanking English and American soldiers for liberating the country. But it assumed a different purpose after a short time.

NORWAY, SWEDEN, Germany, Holland and Japan have now created equal services. France, Italy, Switzerland and Belgium are expected to follow suit rather soon.

Twenty-four hours notice is all that is needed in most countries to arrange such an invitation. American tourists are welcomed to try several different families if they wish.

"Our real culture," explained a Norwegian volunteer host, "is not found entirely in statues and monuments, but with our families in our homes."

Juvenile Problems

I wish the editorial on juvenile problems had gone one step farther, and I wonder if the police departments don't, too. Agreed, we need more juvenile officers and perhaps Family Service can help if the people who need it will work with it, but juvenile delinquency remains a grass roots problem no matter how many police we have.

It isn't only the police who have, with some justification perhaps, "mollycoddled" these young people. Everyone has. How many parents do you know who put teeth into their home rules? They threaten their children with dire results from the time the baby creeps until he is grown, yet it's a rare parent who ever carries out a single threat or ever intended to when he made it. The child learns early. Rules can be broken if you're not afraid to try it. In fact, they can be broken over and over again. Only rarely does the boom get lowered.

The same thing is true in school. The child gets sent to (believe it or not) "my friend the principal." We'd have died of fright on the way to his office—although he never laid a hand on anyone. We had a mighty respect for the teacher who had the authority to send us there. She also had another weapon which we viewed with no humor. The right to give a zero for work not done and not well done. No one in our school was ever passed on probation. You passed or you didn't. If more than one or two failed in a room, the school board wanted to know why the teacher couldn't teach and steps were taken. Our teachers were strict and demanding and I, personally, had only one I disliked. Today you get warnings, innumerable conference's with the children's teachers, and probations. You have to be almost a moron to rate an honest zero. The children catch on fast.

Even team sports which we once thought gave our children ideas of good sportsmanship and a knowledge of how to work with others are no longer free of taint. It is perfectly possible for a team to win a basketball game, for example, by causing the other team to commit enough fouls. The free throws aren't really earned honestly, but they are "free" throws. If there is humor in getting what you strive for at the expense of someone else, I fail to see it.

Our churches contribute, too, to the child. Unpleasant things are not taught in church school sessions so the children will not be upset by something they don't understand. And sin is a word which only our grandparents used. No child comes in contact with it for fear he will become insecure and develop inhibitions.

Which leads me to my conclusion. Unless everyone of us develops from early age the inhibitions which prevent us from doing the socially unacceptable things, all the police and juvenile authorities money can buy won't prevent juvenile problems. The police can perhaps curb what we have, but only the early training and prolonged insistence upon obedience, respect for private property both at home and in public, and an understanding that we all pay the consequences for not abiding by the rules or laws will prevent further delinquencies. It must start and continue at home and be reinforced by the schools, churches and governments.

Helpful Policeman

I would like to thank the Roselle policeman for the loan of his coat and cooperation last Thursday evening when I left my car for a few minutes to run into Snyder's drugstore. I left my 19-month-old daughter alone in the car, and she promptly locked the door. Inside was my jacket and car keys.

Shivering from the cold and the fright of having been so negligent and what the outcome could be, the officer kindly loaned me his coat which helped a great deal.

After 45 minutes of effort, Rod Sommers and Paul Resh and their friends succeeded in prying the lock and the window and gained entry. Lucky thing they were there and knew what to do, having had the same type of experience before themselves.

Anyway, I was greatly relieved and promised myself to be more careful in the future.

Hurrah for the aldermen in Arlington Heights!

We like that part "we should start to think about saving money instead of spending more" as one of them lashed out at "creeping increases in spending which are hard to detect."

We agree. We know our real estate taxes have gone up 48% in just two years.

We commend the aldermen on their thinking.

We also wish they would consider these points when talking about new sidewalks.

1—Do sidewalks still have the utility of years ago, now that many families have two cars, almost every boy and half the school age girls have bikes, and very few adults ever go for a walk?

2—Does the National Safety Council or school system consider walks a necessity in today's living?

3—Isn't it true most near accidents to children happen when the kids dart out between cars, and not at sidewalk or street intersections?

4—What percentage of homes being constructed over the nation are being built without walks?

5—How many homes in Arlington Heights do not have walks, what would be the total cost for cement and re-landscaping, and is it really worth hundreds of thousands of dollars in Arlington alone when even the aldermen are thinking in terms of saving money, not spending it?

6—And lastly, when even the school board and park board do not see a need for walks, possibly because of the cost, doesn't the same reasoning hold true everywhere?

Opposes Incorporation

Prospect Heights represents a property valuation of $30,000,000 and the assessed value is $10,000,000. This is a rare plumb to get control of politically and would be an endless source to milk.

Incorporation is not a new issue with Prospect Heights. The same line, threats and rumors were spread in the past. Each time we were doomed if we did not incorporate to protect and intelligently govern ourselves. The people of Prospect Heights refused to incorporate and have grown into an attractive and desirable community This fact cannot be denied even by the Incorporationists.

Ours is a community free of political local boss rule, ruling for the benefit of favored groups and personal aims. Most of us moved into this community from incorporated areas to get away from just such abuses.

Incorporation is not something that must be rushed into now or lose forever. Prospect Heights can incorporate anytime the people so desire. However, if you incorporate you can never turn away from it.

The Incorporationists say "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." Wonder if they ever heard that "If the cure is worse than the evil there is no sense in taking the cure."

A real good point to remember is that you cannot have as little city government as is necessary. Once you incorporate you place your future in the hands of either amateur or professional politicians or both and you will get as much city government as they desire.

Take a good long look at the Incorporationists' proposed budget, all $63,560.00. Remembering that this money represents all collected by proposed city taxes, if any additional monies are needed additional taxes would have to be levied. Perhaps at that time some of the so-called repugnant taxes would not be so repugnant to the city fathers.

Picture, if you can, proper and ample police protection on the proposed budget. This protection would be at best no better than we now have without the $20,000 cost!

A VOTE AGAINST INCORPORATION IS A VOTE AGAINST HIGHER TAXES!

A VOTE AGAINST INCORPORATION IS A VOTE AGAINST BOSS RULE!

Brazen Disrespect

Recently you called attention to the need for cleanup action at the corner of Marion st., and Morse ave., in "that slum and gutter-type sector northwest of Roselle."

I am sure you will find most of the residents here anxious to participate in such action. It would help to know to what authoritative agency can we appeal to enforce the governing codes.

We who live here are well aware of the low estate to which we have been brought. The disrespect with which the community and property is regarded is well illustrated by the enclosed pictures of residential property used as a dumping site with impunity and brazen disrespect for laws, decency and neighboring property. It is obvious this site is a health hazard, which we have tried to prevent, but following your lead we are today going to try the Cook county health department.

Paddock Publications are to be commended for focusing attention on these areas in need of cleanup. It is another worthy cause and typical of your constant service to the community.

Individual Problems

As we consider the problem of juvenile delinquency in our rapidly growing communities, there will be many factors which we must remember. This is a plea that at all times we remember the importance of the individual.

Each of these confused young persons is an individual—different from all other individuals—and we in the United States cherish and value the individual. If we are to help these lawbreakers to become law-abiding citizens, making a contribution to orderly society, and not to become an increasing burden to society, we must recognize the individual problems and find the most effective means of helping each one.

'Heart Warming'

Just read the editorial which appeared in Paddock Publications April 10, concerhing the building fund drive of the Northwest Suburban YMCA.

It's certainly heart warming to know that your newspapers are 100 per cent behind the YMCA in your area. With this type of public spiritedness, present plans for the raising of $378,000 certainly seem closer to completion.

Of course this help offered by Paddock Publications is nothing new. You have been "headlining" news of the "Y" for as long as I can remember.

A Right to Know

Subject: Sidewalks?

In recent weeks there has been a great deal of controversy on the subject of "sidewalks" in Arlington Heights.

I feel now is the time for the village board to come forward with a statement that will inform the property owners on just what their stand is on the "sidewalk issue," and what their long-range plans are. As property owners and taxpayers, we have a right to this information.

1958 Crop Outlook Given For Wheat, Eggs, Milk

by L. H. SIMERL

Of course, most 1958 crops are not yet harvested. Some aren't even planted. But crop prospects generally are good — very good — according to official USDA reports.

Some of the crops in the southern states are important exceptions. Cotton and corn planting are late, and in many areas much replanting must be done because of excessive rains.

PASTURE AND HAY. It looks like another big year for livestock feed. Pasture conditions nationally on May 1 were 4 percentage points better than last year — and the best since 1921. Hay prospects were 2 percentage points better than a year before — and the best since 1922. Compared with last spring the most improvement is in the range country of the Great Plains and the Rocky Mountains.

In Illinois pasture conditions were 4 percentage points below last year, and hay prospects were one percentage point below.

WHEAT. Conditions on May 1 pointed to a winter wheat crop of 1,010 million bushels, or 43 per cent more than last year. The prospective national average yield is 24.0 bushels an acre, well above the previous record of 22.4 bushels set only last year. Illinois has prospects for an average yield of 29.0 bushels an acre compared with only 21.0 in 1957. Kansas, which harvested only 100 million bushels in 1957, now has a prospect for 218 million bushels.

No official estimate of the spring wheat crop is available, but it could easily be 250 million bushels. This would make a total production of one and one-fourth billion bushels. Add a carry-over of 880 million bushels of old wheat, and the supply for the 1958-59 year will be 2.1 billion bushels.

Use and export probably will take about 1.0 billion bushels, leaving 1.1 billion for carryover on July 1, 1959. This amount would exceed the previous record carryover of 1956 by some 60 million bushels.

This supply situation puts heavy pressure on prices. Price support for the 1958 crop will average $1.78 a bushel, down from $2 in 1957 and 1956. Prices are expected to sag 20 to 30 cents below the support level at harvest time.

EGG PRODUCTION. Farm flocks laid 5½ billion eggs in April. This was three per cent less than one year before, and the smallest April lay since 1941. Egg production since January 1 has been four per cent less than it was last year. Prices recently were seven cents a dozen higher than at the same time in 1957.

Production of egg-type chicks this year apparently was only about seven per cent above 1957, and was 10 to 12 per cent below either 1956 or 1955. Production of replacement chicks does not appear to be excessive, considering the large number of older hens that should be replaced.

MILK PRODUCTION. Farmers have reduced their cow herds by three per cent in the past year but get three per cent more milk per cow. Milk production in April totaled 11.4 billion pounds, the same as a year ago, but eight per cent above the 10-year average for the month. Illinois is not holding its share of the nation's milk market. Illinois milk production in April was seven per cent below April of the year before and one per cent less than the 10-year average. Unemployment is slowing sales, and purchases for price support are about the same as they were a year ago. (Fm

NEW TRANQUILIZER FOR ANIMALS

At one time or another all farmers and pet owners have faced the problem of having to handle a vicious or unruly animal. Mechanical means of restraining sick or unmanageable animals without hurting them have always caused difficulties for the animal and owner. Now the problem has been reduced tremendously by the use of a new tranquilizer called Trilafon, available through your veterinarian, which is effective in large and small animals.

Trilafon quiets the unruly animal without causing the discomfort or injury which is usually caused by physical or mechanical restraining procedures. Often the owner and attending veterinarian suffer bites or injuries in attempting to calm and treat sick or injured animals.

With this potent new tranquilizer, the veterinarian can make a more careful and complete examination without the danger of injury to himself or the animal.

In large animals the new drug is helpful in quieting them so that hooves may be trimmed, dehorning can be done, bandages changed, dental work and other types of minor surgery and examinations can be carried out with ease.

The tranquilizer is used very effectively in calming first-calf heifers who are being milked for the first time, thereby speeding up the time it normally takes to condition nervous young matrons to the milking machine.

For the pet owner, the new drug will quiet the vicious, excited or noisy pet under many conditions, including office examination and general behavior around the house.

Persons who have handled animals injured in accidents will appreciate the powerful calming activity of the new drug.

In addition to its calming and "chemical restraining" properties, Trilafon is an excellent drug to prevent vomiting. It has also been found helpful in treating stomach upsets during worming procedures and in other cases where small animals cannot retain food or medication.

Consult your veterinarian when you have an unruly or unmanageable animal. He will advise you as to the best use of a tranquilizer in each case.

Lamb Market Days Set for June 5, 7

Two special lamb marketing days offer Illinois 4-H lamb project members a good chance to benefit from a favorable market when they sell their project lambs this spring.

4-H Lamb Marketing day at the National Stockyards, East St. Louis, Ill., will be Thursday, June 5. The Tri-State Lamb Marketing Day will be Saturday, June 7, at the Evansville, Ind., stockyards.

Both days are planned as practical marketing days when 4-H project lambs offered for sale will be given special attention and often bring top prices. However, 4-H'ers who do not take lambs for sale can also benefit from the educational part of the day's program.

E. S. Matteson, extension livestock specialist from the University of Missouri, and M. F. Ruston, head of the sheep department of the Producers Livestock Marketing Association, National Stockyards, will grade all the lambs during the morning at East St. Louis.

The specialists will demonstrate handling and mouthing sheep, inspecting udders, grading market lambs and preparing ewes for lambing to the 4-H'ers, leaders and parents who attend. Matteson will also show the group how to select ewes for 1958 projects. (Fm

Weeds Result Of Poor Lawns

Weeds are the result of and not the cause of a poor lawn. The best way to keep them from getting established is to fertilize twice a year, never mow shorter than 1½ inches, and to water to a six inch depth.

These treatments will produce a thick, healthy turf which will prevent light from getting down to the weed seedlings.

If weeds do appear in the lawn it is best to get rid of them while they are still small. Once they get a good start, it doesn't take them long to crowd out the desirable grasses. When large weeds are removed, they leave bare areas that allow more weeds to grow.

Weeds can be removed from small lawns with a knife or weed digger. Chemical weed killers can be used in larger lawns. 2,4-D will kill broadleaved weeds such as dandelion and plantain. Repeated applications may be necessary on large plants.

Crab grass can be controlled in established lawns with lead arsenate, 25 pounds per 1,000 square feet, or 1½ pounds of actual Chlordane per 1,000 square feet. Chlordane also kills many soil insects which attack grass.

Tomatoes Easy to Grow; Thrive Most Anywhere

At least a few tomato plants are a must in every home garden. Tomatoes are easy to grow and will thrive under a wide range of conditions if they receive proper care, says Carl F. Mees, farm adviser. If you want high-quality, large tomatoes from your garden, these pointers will help you:

First select a well-drained fertile soil. If you are uncertain about what nutrients the soil needs for tomato production, have it soil tested. Send the soil sample to Cook County Soil Laboratory, 131st & Bell rd., Lockport. There is a $1 charge for each sample.

When selecting tomato plants, choose short, stocky plants rather than tall, spindly ones. Also, select varieties that have proved they will grow well in the area. And if planting both an early and a midseason variety, tomatoes can be expected throughout the season.

Varieties recommended for Illinois are: Early—Sioux, Moreton Hybrid, and Urbana; Midseason—Improved Garden State, Rutgers, Big Boy, Boone, Brookston, Manalucie, and Kokomo.

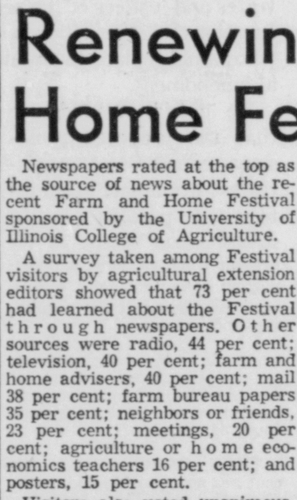
When transplanting tomato plants to the garden, use a plant starter solution. "Starter solutions" are concentrated, all soluble fertilizers having a high phosphorus content. They promote rapid early growth and larger, earlier yields. A starter solution can be made by mixing one cup of 5-10-5 or similar fertilizer in a 12 quart pail of water. Pour about ½ pint of this solution around the roots of each plant.

Try to keep the soil on the roots when transplanting. The soil aroung the roots holds moisture and nutrients that help the plants get off to a good start.

For good yields, space the plants about two or three feet apart in the rows. And space the rows about three or four feet apart. Control all weeds, because they compete with the tomatoes for plant nutrients and moisture. Insect and disease control is also necessary for successful tomato production.

KEEP THE GRASS CUT HIGH
Your Lawn Is NOT A Putting Green

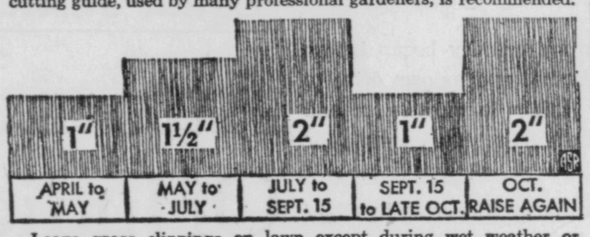
A closely shaved lawn may look well temporarily, but for most grasses and types of lawn, keep the cut high — never less than 1 inch — unless there are some good reasons for requiring a shorter grass. An amazing number of homeowners make this mistake and ruin their pretty lawns, according to the makers of Pennsylvania lawn mowers. This is confirmed by leading horticultural experts.



Safety Tips

Remember—before mowing, inspect your lawn for any debris. Foreign objects such as toys, stones, etc., can cause serious damage to the high speed cutting mechanism. This is true when cutting high grass or weeds. Remember also that whenever the engine is running, the cutter blade is in operation. Take care of your mower and yourself, and never start your engine when transmission is in the engaged position.

As an aid in obtaining uniform greenness, fewer weeds and taller growth of your lawn (both above ground and below) the following cutting guide, used by many professional gardeners, is recommended.



Leave grass clippings on lawn except during wet weather or whenever they are heavy enough to mat. Small clippings do form a protective mulch and work into the ground. It has been estimated that the combined length of clippings removed from a single blade of grass during the lengthy mowing season is close to 36 inches.

Check Hay Equipment First

Check haying equipment carefully before starting to cut this year's hay crop. Make sure it's in good condition so that you won't lose time from costly accidents.

Haying marks the start of a season when farm accidents run high, says O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Keep those accidents as few as possible.

Watch especially for defective hitches, ropes, pulleys, lifts, hayracks and ladders. Check your mowing equipment to be sure that all safety guards are in place.

The Illinois Rural Safety Council recommends taking special precautions to prevent falling from hayracks and haystacks. Make sure that loft floors are repaired and hay chutes are guarded. Take special care in making starts and stops while loading, especially on rough ground. Never get off a tractor mower while it is in operation.

Carry a pitchfork over your shoulder, and stick it securely in to the ground when not using. Don't lay it on the ground and never throw it. When your day's haying is finished, hang up the fork or put it in a rack in the barn.

Make sure the hay is well cured before it is stored in the mow. Damp hay will heat and may start a fire. This is the principal cause of barn fires. Check freshly stored hay regularly for several weeks to make sure there is no sign of heating. (Fm

Visitors Favor Renewing U of I Home Festival

Newspapers rated at the top as the source of news about the recent Farm and Home Festival sponsored by the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

A survey taken among Festival visitors by agricultural extension editors showed that 73 per cent had learned about the Festival through newspapers. Other sources were radio, 44 per cent; television, 40 per cent; farm and home advisers, 40 per cent; mail 38 per cent; farm bureau papers 35 per cent; neighbors or friends, 23 per cent; meetings, 20 per cent; agriculture or home economics teachers 16 per cent; and posters, 15 per cent.

Visitors also voted unanimously in favor of the College of Agriculture holding another festival in the future. Of those surveyed, 98 per cent said they would like to see another one.

Estimated attendance for the three-day event totaled more than 15,000. College of Agriculture staff members feel that the size of attendance alone is a good indicator of festival popularity compared with the old Farm and Home Week which was replaced by the festival. In recent years Farm and Home Week registration had ranged from 3,500 to 4,000 for a 4-day program.

The festival also brought many people to the University campus for the first time. The survey showed that 38 per cent had never attended Farm and Home Week.

Of those who had attended Farm and Home Week, 69 per cent thought the festival was more interesting. Only eight per cent thought it was less interesting. The remaining 23 per cent saw little difference between the festival and Farm and Home week or had no opinion. (Fm

Up and Coming on the Farm

Future Farmers of America — FFA — 4H CLUB

Bonnie Pohlman To Host TNT Meeting Monday

Bonnie Pohlman will be hostess in her home to members of TNT 4-H club Monday, May 26. Last meeting of the group was held May 12 in Shirley Mueller's home.

At this meeting, the recent mother-daughter banquet was discussed and requirements for the county achievement were reported to the group. Contributions to the safety program included talks by Carol Loeding and Lois Landmeier. "Fruit Desserts" by Breitag concluded the talks for the evening.

Alice Pollmann illustrated the proper method of setting a table and "orange nog" was the name given to the beverage prepared by Pat Mortenson. (4-H

New Sprays Give Top Weed Control

New pre-emergence sprays give excellent control of weeds in the rows of both corn and soybeans.

Farm Adviser Carl F. Mees says that research at the University of Illinois shows that controlling giant foxtail and other pesky grasses by band spraying with herbicides at planting time greatly increases yields over those on plots with no control.

For best results, pre-emergence herbicides need to be applied as accurately as possible, Mees says. Unless otherwise specified, rates given on the container are usually for broadcast application. This is the same rate of application you will want to use in the band. However, you will use less solution because you are covering only part of the field.

Weeds that grow between the rows along with the crop must be cultivated out later.

Restyling Lesson For Elk Grove Home Bureau Unit

Lesson for the next meeting of Elk Grove unit of the Home Bureau will be "Restyle Your Last Year's Dress," which will be given by Mrs. N. Foss and Mrs. H. Willie.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. August Deeke, 2907 Linnemann rd., at Algonquin and Dempster, May 28 at 8 p.m.

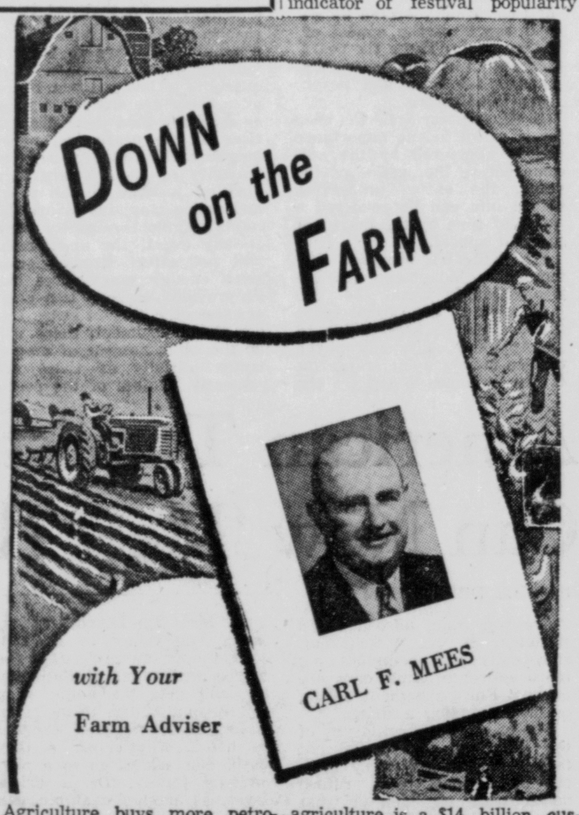
Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Donald Kastning, Mrs. H. Mahler and Mrs. John Oltrogge. Mrs. Edwin Deeke will welcome the members and guests. (4-H

Prospectors Discuss Show

Plans to attend the June 10 show in Mt. Prospect VFW hall were made by members of Prospectors 4-H club when they met May 15 in Craig Wagner's home. Several members will participate in the show.

A talk on cattle was given by Ronald Swanson of Skokie and Mrs. Elmer Oehlerking was introduced to the group as its third leader.

Next meeting of the Prospectors will be in the home of John Seidel, treasurer of the organization. (4-H



Agriculture buys more petroleum than any other industry. Farmers take 6½ million tons of finished steel and enough raw rubber to put tires on nearly 6 million cars a year. Sixteen per cent of the gross freight revenue is for agriculture products. Agriculture uses 50 million tons of chemicals annually and more electric power than Chicago, Detroit, Houston, Baltimore and Boston combined. About 20 per cent of the U. S. exports consist of farm products. In other words, agriculture is a $14 billion customer for industry.

This morning there are 8,000 more mouths to feed than yesterday morning.

WM. LINNEMAN: It is always a pleasure to eat these fresh vegetables direct from the garden. If you desire to do some gardening yet this season, now is the time to plant tomatoes, beans, etc. I will be happy to send you Circular 522, the Illinois Garden Guide, which tells you exactly how to do it.

In Appreciation

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Mrs. Clara M. Devermann.
How often do I tread the path
That leads me to the grave
Where rests the one I loved so well
But whom I could not save.
Long days, long nights, you bore your pain
Waiting for cure but all in vain.
God saw that you were suffering
And the hills were hard to climb
So he closed your weary eyes
And whispered "Peace be thine."
May 21, 1956.
Loving husband

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Silas Masten who passed away May 19, 1944.
Years have passed and yet we weep
For one gone on before,
Gone on to be with Jesus
On heaven's bright shining shore.
But the memory of that precious love
Still deep in our hearts we keep.
Keep in our hearts until that day
We all shall part nevermore.
Loving wife, daughter and family

Conscience Makes 'Cowards' of Us

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

"Conscience," says one of Shakespeare's characters, "Doth make cowards of us all;" yet were it not for the conscience, man would be far different from what he is.

It is believed by many psychiatrists that conscience and fear are one and the same, but I feel that while a feeling of uneasiness and fear or dread is an attribute of conscience, a good conscience is God's means of telling us when we are off the spiritual track.

A CONSCIENCE is not indestructible. It has to be trained to work properly. It must be obeyed when christian teaching and common sense tell us that it is not leading us astray.

If a conscience is not listened to, it will do one of two things: it will die; or it will manifest itself in some sort of neurotic or physical way and we will become either physically or emotionally upset, depending on which is stronger, the emotions or the body.

If conscience is not properly trained through religious teaching, and good home life, it can develop a lopsided condition where some things which are right, are believed to be wrong, and other things which are wrong, are believed to be right. If left completely untrained, the conscience would die, leaving us with the nature of a beast. Conscience, or spiritual knowledge and guidance, not brains or education, is the only thing which distinguishes a man from a beast. Good conscience and right thinking controls the spiritual, and thus our moral, lives.

IT IS TRUE in a sense that conscience does make cowards of us all. We become afraid to do things which we know are spiritually wrong out of respect and love of God, which springs from our knowledge of Him, and out of concern for our spiritual life in eternity, in which, as Christians, we believe.

A man once said that middle age can take the place of conscience. We are afraid to commit the excesses of eating, drinking and burning the candle at both ends, which we did when we were young, because we know that if we provoke nature, they will come sooner. But middle age can not replace good conscience, because good conscience is a spiritual gift of God.

Park Opens in Roselle

Familiar storybook personalities will spring to life this summer when the first fully animated adventure park in the midwest opens in northwest suburbs.

Storybook Park is a permanent, half-million dollar exposition featuring everything from a lovely, live Cinderella to a live volcano.

The park, scheduled to open early in June, will attract many thousands of tourists to the Chicago area every summer. It is situated on 30 acres of rolling woodland on route 20 and Medinah rd., Roselle.

STORYBOOK PARK is designed as a "family park" for visitors of all ages. It is a forest filled with live and animated exhibits and displays dramatizing familiar storybook tales, plus six unusual rides.

Among the live actors at Storybook Park will be cows, chickens, goats, geese, sheep, bears, Little Bo Peep, Koko the Clown, Little Red Riding Hood, and Old Mother Goose herself. Animated exhibits will include Jack and the Beanstalk, Little Miss Muffet, and a rumbling volcano built with 100 tons of genuine lava rock imported from South Dakota.

Admission to Storybook Park will be 90 cents for adults and 50 cents for children. All exhibits and displays — including performances in an outdoor theater —will be free to visitors.

THE SPECIAL rides will include a Lollipop Train puffing around 3,000 feet of standard gauge track; the largest merry-go-round in the Midwest; a Jolly Trolley with a five-cent fare; and an antique auto drive-yourself roadway with replicas of five 1906 Maxwells and five 1910 Fords powered by gasoline engines.

Dick Barrie, a popular orchestra leader prior to World War II and now creator of Storybook Park, pointed to the dramatization of the Cinderella story as one example of the unusual treats for children at the park.

"Every child who enters Cinderella's cottage will be greeted personally by Cinderella," Barrie explained. "Then the child will be invited by Cinderella to go for a ride in her Coronation Carriage.

"Just outside the door, a huge pumpkin will vanish into the ground, revealing a beautiful gold and white Coronation Coach drawn by four horses, with a coachman. The children will ride with Cinderella over the grounds, returning just as a clock begins to strike midnight," Barrie said.

BARRIE EMPHASIZED that Storybook Park will be unique in several important ways.

"First every exhibit or display is specifically designed to attract and hold the interest of visitors," Barrie continued. "Everything in Storybook Park is either live or animated, or else is a playground for children.

"There will be no business or industrial exhibits or concessions. There is no high-pressure selling. The merry-go-round and antique auto rides are located near the exit, as a final treat before going home," Barrie explained.

"There won't be just a statue of Mary and her Little Lamb at Storybook Park. Mary will be there in person to talk to the children, and they can pet her little lamb," he said. "And afterwards they can go into the little red schoolhouse, where Mary and her lamb were refused admittance, and pull the rope to ring the bell in the tower.

OTHER FEATURES of Storybook Park include:

The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe: Inside the 20-foot-tall shoe will be a slide, and the children will come shooting out at the toe.

Peter Rabbit, a live rabbit who will live with his family in a stump house next to Mr. McGregor's garden.

Little Boy Blue, snoozing on a haystack while the sheep graze in the meadow and the cows wander through the corn.

Goldilocks, in the home of the Three Bears, where three real bear cubs frolic in the front yard.

Also the Three Little Pigs, alive and snorting; the Little Red Hen and her brood in a miniature barn; Goosey Gander; the Cow Jumping over the Moon; a Gingerbread House; Little Miss Muffet; Peter the Pumpkin Eater; and many others.

A Storybook Theater, with a free show every 90 minutes, will feature jugglers, magicians, singers, dancers and other performers.

STORYBOOK PARK, an easy drive from anywhere in the entire Chicago metropolitan area, may be open eight months a year, Barrie stated. During the late fall months, a fenced-off "Santa Claus Village" will be opened, where youngsters can see Santa and his helpers working away in their toy factory.

The gayly-decorated park will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily, and until midnight on Saturdays and Sundays.

Six Scouts, Two Leaders Win Award

Six scouts and two leaders won the Blackhawk Trail award last weekend, completing the 20 mile hike from Camp Lowden to the Blackhawk Statue near Oregon, Illinois.

The Scouts were Frank Webster, Buddy Mills, Wallace Mitchell, John Ninneman, Dennis Bishop and Thomas Mueller. The two leaders were Frank Webster, Scoutmaster, and Kenneth Gerler, Assistant Scoutmaster.

The award is presented only after a book report on the life of Blackhawk, a report is written on the events along the trail, and the twenty mile hike is completed. This trail is considered one of the best Scout hikes in the country. It follows an old Indian Trail along the Rock river.

Income Tax Refunds Are Ahead of '57

Income tax refunds are running about one month ahead of last year, H. Alan Long, district director of internal revenue, said Monday. This means the government will save on the six per cent interest payable on refunds mailed after June 1.

So far, 1,464,638 checks have been mailed for a total refund of $151,951,219 to taxpayers in the 26 counties of northern Illinois. This compares with 1,103,220 checks for $99,431,433 a year ago.

LONG ANNOUNCED 47,900 checks are still to go to persons whose withholding and other payments exceeded their final 1957 tax. Of these, 14,100 are delayed because the returns were made out faulty and the other 33,800 are being audited.

The situation now compares roughly with the situation on June 20, 1957 as to 1956 taxes, Long said.

NEEDLE in the GROOVE

by PAUL LITTLE

Why Rossini, that ebullient genius who gave us such operatic Masterpieces as "The Barber of Seville" and "Count Ory" (just released by Angel in a first-time discing that is one of the most delightful listening experiences in many a moon), decided to stop writing opera for the remainder of some thirty years of life is still a mystery.

Whatever the reason, he composed only chamber music and religious music, which he limited to performances for private hearings. Happily, we have been bequeathed much of this music, and the new Angel recording of the "Petite Messe Solonelle" is the most rewarding. Rossini jested in calling this enormous choral and orchestral work a "little mass," but the spiritual fervor combined with the brilliant dramatic and theatrical presentation of his music make this score a memorable listening experience.

Caterina Mancini, whom we remember in Cetra's wonderful (and now discontinued) edition of Verdi's "Ernani," is a superb soloist along with contralto Oralia Dominguez, who was one of the "stars" of Angel's album of the Verdi Requiem. Renato Fasano's conducting is admirable, and the reproduction of this mighty score will delight the hi-fi addict.

ORGAN LPS ARE invariably used by hi-fi-salons and enthusiasts alike to test the capability of a home system. Urania's new 12-inch waxing of three choral preludes by Bach, magnificently played by Robert Hoehren, will be spun on many turntables for its sonic splendor as well as for the fine musicianship Noehren displays. So will the Mercury 12-inch waxing of the Saint-Saens Third Symphony for Organ and Orchestra with Marcel Dupre the organ soloist with the Detroit Symphony under Paul Paray (the best version of this masterpiece to be found in the Schwan catalog).

In the "pops" and jazz lists, we acclaim Victor's "Frankie and Tommy" (LPM-1569); here's a disc that restores many of the great performances by Frank Sinatra with Tommy Dorsey's orchestra from the decade of the Forties, headed by such hits as "Polka Dots and Moonbeams," "Oh! Look at Me Now," and "How About You?" and nostalgieally delighting us with solos by such crack jazz artists as trumpeter Ziggy Elman, whose solo in "Our Love Affair" is a standout. On Victor LPM-1696, Shorty Rogers and his Giants, a combo that sparkles with verve, imagination and fine basic jazz tempi, give out with "Gigi in Jazz," adapting the hit tunes from the Lerner-Loewe musical that followed their great "My Fair Lady." And "Swingin' with Bud" (Victor LPM-1507) features that fine jazz pianist Bud Powell with bassist George Duvivier and drummer Art Taylor in scintillating treatments of tunes like "Shawnuff," "Birdland Blues," "In the Blue of the Evening."

Shopping Prospect Heights

by CAROL BUNTING

The weekend traffic seems to be full of cars that are heading off to the country for the fun of a real old fashioned family picnic. However, you can have all the thrills and fun of picnicing with your family with all of the ease and comfort that modern living has brought us, if you select your picnic supplies at Jacob's Hardware and Supply in the Prospect Heights shopping center.

Hot spring and summer days call for cool drinks, but unless you have the proper supplies those drinks will be warm by the time you reach your picnic spot. At Jacobs you will find all sorts of thermos jugs and bottles to help you keep your refreshments cool. You may select from skotch-cooler jugs, standard thermos bottles and even thermos jugs in 1, 2, and 2½ gallon sizes. There is one to suit every family.

IF YOU WANT to make sure that the food you are taking with you remains cool be sure to see the selection of insulated bags and chests that are available at Jacob's. These come in various assorted sizes and will keep your food cool and fresh until you are ready to use it.

Modern living has given us the outdoor living area also. If you prefer to have your picnic right in your own back yard then be sure you see the selection of bar-b-ques that Jacob's have on display. All sizes and price ranges are on display and you need only make your choice. You can select from those equipped with the electric spit, to a small portable type that folds up and is ready to travel with you.

All of the equipment that goes along with the bar-b-que season is also available at Jacobs. You will find charcoal, as well as hickory and cherry chips for that extra added flavor that is so very important. Aprons and the long handled tools are also found here and might be just the appropriate gift for dad on Father's Day if he is a cook-out artist.

THE BOYS IN YOUR family will be interested to know that Jacob's Hardware and Supply is the official Little League supplier in this area for shoes, gloves, baseballs, and all the Spaulding equipment that you Little Leaguers may need.

The hardware store also has a supply of free Tee shirts for the youngsters on hand. In order to receive one all that is necessary is for the parents to come into the store and ask for one.

Customer service and convenience is the policy of Jacob's Hardware and Supply store in the Prospect Heights shopping center. They are open seven days a week in order to better serve their customers. You will find them ready to do business Monday, Thursday, and Friday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Tuesday and Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Sunday from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.

TO MAKE THAT spring house cleaning really complete, be sure you send your draperies and slip covers to L-Nor cleaners of Prospect Heights and Mt. Prospect.

No matter how much scrubbing and rubbing you have done this season in order to have everything in shape for the summer months, the real beauty of your room will be diminished if those draperies and slip covers are dull and dingy. A careful and top quality cleaning job, such as L-Nors will restore their beauty and make your rooms really look bright and cheery for months to come.

FREE TICKETS to "My Fair Lady" with each purchase of $100 or more during May.
